PLAN LIFE TERM FOR 'ENEMY'

U. S. SHOVELS TO ATTACK ILLINOIS WATERWAY SOON

Hurley Tells Plans at Valley Parley.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Unemployment relief was the keynote of the Mississippi Valley association today in urging that the government speed up work on the inland waterways program, spend $100,000,000 a year for the next five years on valley projects now authorized, and finish them in five years instead of seven.

More than 1,000 delegates from 25 states are attending the convention. The waterway experts set forth that work for more than 30,000 men can be provided in January if congress next month provides emergency appropriations to get the work started at once.

The main projects are completion of the Illinois waterway, a 9 foot channel on the upper Mississippi to the Twin Cities, improvement of the Missouri river to Omaha and Sioux City, and improvement of the Tennessee and Kanawha rivers.

At the dinner tonight addresses were made by Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; Gov. W. J. Bulow, senator elect from South Dakota, and Patrick Hurley, secretary of war.

Tells Experience as Shipper.

Col. McCormick, dwelling upon the practical experience of THE TRIBUNE in transporting its pulpwood from its St. Lawrence timberlands and paper from its own mill at Thorold, Ont., in its own fleet of vessels, spoke of the two great water routes—the St. Lawrence-great lakes and the Mississippi-Ohio-Gulf of Mexico systems, now separated by the missing Illinois link.

"These great systems, totaling more than 20,000 miles in extent," he said, "are separated by a small stretch of shallow water and such a great amount of political obstruction."

Secretary Hurley announced his belief that the government will start its shovels on completion of the Illinois waterway early in the new year. Illinois has spent $20,000,000 of its own money and the Chicago sanitary district has spent $70,000,000 on this project to link Lake Michigan with the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. Congress last July authorized the government to take over the unfinished waterway from Lockport to Utica and to finish it at a cost of $7,500,000. No appropriation, however, was made.

U. S. to Get Busy.

Tonight Secretary Hurley made public that the war department will include in the deficiency bill passed by congress next month an item that will permit work on the Illinois waterway to start this winter.

"President Hoover," said Secretary Hurley, "has given me permission to ask congress for a $22,500,000 deficiency appropriation to carry on the inland work on waterways this year. It will enable speeding up for the winter months.

"As to the Illinois waterway, I am anxious to get the shovels rolling and to get going. When we get that project completed, connecting the great lakes with the Mississippi, it will be a tremendous step in the 9,000 miles of inland waterways so long talked about.

"Estimates that if congress provides emergency funds enough to start work on the Illinois waterway ahead of March 4, when the regular appropriations will become available, the project can be finished in about two years were made by Lachlan MacLeay, executive secretary of the association. He figures it will give employment to more than 1,000 men this winter, while the general project will put more than 1,000 men to work.

Col. McCormick Speaks.

Col. McCormick, as a shipper on the lakes, spoke on the canal size boats operated by THE TRIBUNE in navigation of the St. Lawrence and great lakes system to Chicago.

"As I vision traffic on the St. Lawrence waterway when it has been realized," he said, "I see no big ships, but trainloads of ships—tows."

With a chart on the wall Col. McCormick pointed to the two water route systems which are separated by the 28 miles of missing channel which forms the Illinois waterway project.

"A glance at the map," he said, "will show that a railroad car can run continuously from Lake St. John or Sydney, in northeastern Canada, to San Salvador in Central America, to Lower California in Mexico. And another car can run from St. Rupert on the Pacific ocean, Fort Churchill

MIDWEST SWEPT BY SNOW; MORE DUE TOMORROW

A snowstorm, described in many sections as a "near blizzard," swept most of the north central states yesterday and last night and resulted in flurries in Chicago, accompanied by a 20 degree drop in temperature.

This storm was passing eastward last night and the forecast from the weather bureau here was for generally fair weather today, with a new storm expected to arrive tomorrow, bringing more cold weather and a resumption of the snow flurries.

Edward Murray, 44 years old, of 948 North Lockwood avenue, a switchman employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was killed last night when he lost his footing on the ice-coated top of a box car at Independence boulevard and Taylor street and fell to the tracks. Fifteen freight cars passed over his body before the train could be stopped.

Realty Dealer Seized; Charge $200,000 Loss

Frank H. Riddle, 41 years old, a realty operator in the Aurora region, surrendered yesterday to Kane county authorities at Geneva on an indictment charging confidence game. He was locked up in the county jail, unable to furnish $9,700 bond. Riddle declined to discuss his affairs.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Carleton Shults, the exact loss to Riddle's investors is not known, but will probably run above $200,000. Riddle, the prosecutor said, sold unsecured trust deeds to mortgage buyers on the assurance the deeds were not incumbered.

Stole Funds as Agent, Charge.

"Riddle, acting as agent, took money paid to him on mortgages, and converted the money to his own use, instead of retiring the mortgages," the prosecutor declared. "We have one case in which a person who bought homes from Riddle gave mortgages, which Riddle sold, although he continued to collect. This person will again have to pay off the mortgages. In other cases property owners who paid Riddle, thinking their property was clear, must pay off the mortgages to their actual owners, although they have paid Riddle to retire them.

Riddle developed Riddle Highlands, a residential district in Aurora, where he has a $40,000 home. With others Riddle negotiated the purchase of property on which was laid out what is now the Fox Valley Golf club.

Plan for New City Fails.

Riddle's financial debacle was brought about, officials said, by his attempt to build a new city across from Mooseheart on the Fox river. He is said to have secured options on 1,000 parcels of property in this area, hoping it would be tapped by a super highway from Chicago. This road did not materialize, and he could not dispose of his options.

Keeps Card File of Girl Friends; Wife Gets Divorce

George Physter, a tuba player, who kept a card index of his girl friends, was divorced yesterday by Mrs. Beatrice Physter, 22 years old, a night club hostess, living at the Casa hotel. The decree was granted by Superior Judge Lewis on grounds of drunkenness and cruelty. Mrs. Physter exhibited in court the index with 50 cards listing the names of Physter's friends, their age, weight, and other measurements, and bore such notations as "cute," "smokes," "drinks," and "pets." The Physters were married on May 2, 1928, and separated on July 29, 1930.

A baby girl, 8 months old, was cut about the face and hands by flying glass last night when a bomb was exploded at the home of Carl Wildey, 8123 Crandon avenue, assistant superintendent of personnel at the Hegewisch plant of the Ford Motor company. Labor troubles were blamed for the blast.

Lorraine Tavelin, the injured baby, was taken to the South Shore hospital, where her wounds were found to be not serious. She was in the Wildey home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tavelin, 8037 Crandon avenue, when the bomb burst.

The bomb was planted under the front porch shortly after 8 o'clock. The blast shook the bungalow, wrecked the porch, and shattered the front windows. Mr. and Mrs. Wildey and the Tavelins were in the living room at the time and narrowly escaped flying pieces of glass. The four Wildey children were in another part of the house at the time. The damage was estimated at $600.

Fire swept through two floors of the four story Union Park Temple, Electrical Workers' union headquarters at Ogden avenue and Washington boulevard, early this morning, imperiling a row of tenements fringing the east boundary of Union park.

A 5-11 alarm was sounded by First Deputy Marshal Daniel J. Carmody following a succession of extra alarms. The blaze was brought under control after damage estimated at $30,000 had been done.

Vee Hill and his wife, Marie, colored caretakers of the temple, were saved from death by firemen, who carried them down extension ladders.

SUES DIVORCEE FOR $50,000 FOR LOST AFFECTIONS

Mrs. Ethel G. Smith of the Southmoor hotel, former wife of Howard H. Smith, secretary and treasurer of the Dashiell Motor company, 2542 South Michigan avenue, has been named defendant in a $50,000 suit for alienation of affections, it was learned yesterday. Only the praecipe in the suit was filed by Mrs. Edith Finch. Mrs. Finch some time ago filed suit for separate maintenance against her husband. Mrs. Smith divorced her husband in February, charging cruelty. In the final settlement Mrs. Smith received $155,000, $55,000 of which was to be placed in trust for their 19 year old daughter, Shirley Marion.

GERMAN VESSEL SINKS; 3 RIVERS THREATEN PARIS

Fight Invading Sea in Belgium, Holland.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Central and western Europe, including the British isles, were again devastated today by gales and floods. From many towns came reports of forced evacuation of homes by thousands of flood victims and in addition to the 12 deaths recorded in yesterday's dispatches there was news of 36 new casualties.

Paris was faced tonight with its worst flood in living memory as the waters of the Seine crept up to the danger point of the 1910 cataclysm at an inch an hour, with the weather bureau forecasting a week of rain. Pumps are already at work to keep dry the cellars of the police headquarters on the island of La Cité and fear has been expressed that part of the subway may be flooded.

3,500 Now Homeless.

One-third of the suburb of Viry-Chatillon had to be evacuated today and 3,500 persons had to seek temporary shelter. Other suburbs, such as Alfortville, Joinville, Charenton, Saint Maur, Nogent, and Le Perret, are facing the same plight as the swollen water of three rivers, the Seine, Marne, and Yonne, threaten the capital.

The major disaster, from the point of view of loss of life, occurred in the estuary of the Elbe when the German steamer, Louise Leonhardt, bound for America with a cargo of potash, was pounded to pieces on a sand bank. A day's search failed to reveal trace of the crew of 31. The 3,500 ton ship left Hamburg only yesterday and for an hour and a half during the night sent out SOS messages. A rescue trawler failed to reach the doomed vessel owing to the hurricane and this morning the battered remnants were found piled up on Neuwerk island.

Gale Blows Man Overboard.

Three persons died in the hurricane at Vienna, being hit by flying debris, while in France the rising waters swirled one man to his death. A seaman, blown off his ship, was drowned at Penmaenmawr, Wales.

The raging sea in the Elbe estuary, besides sinking one steamer, invaded the low bottoms at Nettelnburg by bursting the protecting dike and over a hundred homes were submerged and had to be evacuated. The same fate overtook the boating resort of Alte Liebe, near Cuxhaven.

The River Scheldt burst its banks both in Holland and in Belgium and 80 Belgian villages were hastily evacuated during the night. Half a million acres of fertile farm lands are under water for the second time within three years.

While the Rhine and the Moselle are causing serious damage in Germany the piling up of their waters is being felt most heavily in southern Holland where many small craft have been sunk and more deaths beside the heavy material loss are feared.

Gotham Court Fixer Admits Huge Bribery

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—A system of bribery, graft, and corruption that existed for eight years in Women's court under the very noses of the magistrates presiding there was described today when Isidor Kresel, special counsel in the appellate division's inquiry into the lower judiciary, held his first public hearing before Referee Samuel Seabury.

Bit by bit Mr. Kresel drew from John C. Weston, a former process server in the district attorney's office, who from 1921 to 1929 played the part of an assistant district attorney, a dramatic story definitely linking court officers with underworld protectors.

Paid for "Fixing" Cases.

Weston admitted on the witness stand before a startled audience that he had received a total of $20,000 in bribes from lawyers, bondsmen, and policemen for aiding in the discharge of 600 vice and immorality cases involving 900 defendants.

He said he had had "business relations" with 21 lawyers, mentioning 7, one of whom is dead, as the chief members of the coterie of "fixers" that hung about the corridors and sometimes paid him his fee of $25 a case in the courtroom before the bar of justice. In addition, he named three bondsmen and two detectives of the police department vice squad as occasional payers of bribes.

Most of the lawyers whom he named had offices in what was known as "Lawyers' row," immediately adjacent to Jefferson Market court, where cases of women accused of vagrancy and shoplifting are heard.

Names No Magistrates.

Weston's testimony, a transcript of which will be sent to District Attorney Crain for criminal prosecutions, did not definitely connect any magistrate with the system of vice protection.

Throughout Weston's testimony the names of such underworld figures as "Sadie the Chink," "Jenny the Factory," and Polly Adler, alleged keeper of houses of ill repute, mingled with those of the magistrates, who most frequently presided over Women's courts. Despite the flagrant manner in which the fixers' ring operated within the court building itself, none but Magistrate Macrery ever complained about conditions there so far as the witness knew.

After this complaint, Weston said, he decided to "give it up" and wrote his resignation to former District Attorney Jacob H. Banton on June 29, 1929.

Graft Amounted to $20,000.

The witness testified that he had $72,500 in ten savings banks, $5,200 in a private vault, and $6,800 in a business checking account.

"As I compute it," Mr. Kresel said, "you are worth about $90,700, with the mortgages you hold and have paid off. That means there is a difference of about $20,000 between your total earnings and the amount you now have. Where did you get that $20,000?"

"I promised Judge Seabury I'd tell the truth," said Weston, his voice dropping and faltering. "I got it from lawyers around the court."

"To put it succinctly and somewhat bluntly then you mean it represents money you accepted as bribes from lawyers defending people whom you were supposed to prosecute?" Mr. Kresel demanded.

"I'm sorry to say that is so," the witness admitted.

Work on Other Rackets.

The courtroom crowd, including a dozen or more women, who allege that they were victims of the extortionate demands of the ring of "fixers," leaned forward to catch every word of the testimony. Weston admitted that he had been assigned to the courthouse only "five or six weeks" before he fell in with the system of graft.

Hearing on the magistrate's court was only one development in the exposure of various operations of "racketeers." The committee of public safety prepared to go into action tomorrow.

DOUBLE WALLOP TO SAMMONS FOR OLD CRIMES

Return to Prison for 1903 Killing Asked.

James (Fur) Sammons, public enemy with a criminal record spanning thirty-one years, received an impetus toward long terms in the penitentiary from two sources yesterday.

First, the grand jury was reported to have voted a true bill against Sammons, known as a gunman for the O'Donnell beer gang, under the habitual criminal act, which carries a penalty of life in prison. Second, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom held that Sammons is subject to arrest and return to the penitentiary to serve out an unexpired thirty years of a fifty year term for murder.

Sammons is now in jail, having been convicted by a jury of vagrancy last week in the case which was regarded as a test of the use of the vagrancy law as a weapon against public enemies. The maximum penalty is six months in jail. Sammons has a motion for a new trial pending.

Accused of Booze Robbery.

The habitual criminal true bill against Sammons was said to have been based on charges of burglary and larceny for his part in the theft of government alcohol from the Morand Brothers warehouse four years ago, and the gangsters' previous criminal record. John (West Side Jack) Barry, also an O'Donnell gangster, who served a sentence for the Dearborn station mail robbery, was also reported to have been named in true bills for the warehouse robbery after Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and James Brown went before the grand jury. The habitual criminal clause was not invoked against Barry, it was said.

The warrants in the liquor robbery case were issued recently by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle as a measure in the campaign against public enemies. Barry was served with the warrants yesterday as he walked out of Municipal Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen's court in the company of Anthony [Red] Kissane. Barry and Kissane obtained continuances to Dec. 4 of the vagrancy actions against them.

Carlstrom Gives Opinion.

Attorney General Carlstrom gave his ruling in an opinion presented to W. C. Jones, chairman of the state parole board. The opinion stated that Sammons was granted parole under a void order and held also to be void the final discharge from parole given Sammons.

Sammons was at one time within a day of being hanged for the murder of Patrick Barrett, a saloonkeepers, on May 17, 1903. The sentence was commuted to life and he began serving June 18, 1904. The sentence was later reduced to 50 years and Sammons was paroled by former Gov. Len Small in 1923. Carlstrom in his opinion said the provisions of the parole act do not apply to commuted sentences.

If Sammons is returned to prison to pay for his old crimes, it will be the second victory of its kind for the authorities in their war on public enemies. Red Barker is now in the penitentiary for violating his parole after using the time he was free to build himself up as a chief among Chicago labor racketeers.

Maddox Bonds Reduced.

Along the crime front other public enemies and gangsters jockeyed in the courts with varying success.

Claude Maddox, public enemy, leader of the Circus gang division of the Capone forces, again won a reduction of the $100,000 bond fixed by Justice of the Peace George Lee of Maywood. Maddox appeared before Judge Joseph B. David in the Criminal court on a charge of attempting to kill Sergt. James McBride of Bellwood, state witness in the murder trial of William (Three Fingered Jack) White. Judge David made the bond $15,000 or $10,000 cash.

In reducing the bond it appeared that Judge David won his argument with Justice Lee, and ended the game of raising and lowering Maddox's bond, which was first set at $50,000 by Lee, cut by David, raised to $100,000 by Lee, and cut the second time by the judge yesterday.

Scoffs at Records.

Judge David refused to consider the Chicago crime commission records of Maddox and scoffed at those produced by the state's attorney.

"So this is the record of a man considered a public enemy," Judge David said. "He is merely a petty thief and should have been sent up long ago. After ten years some one has discovered he is a vagrant. Under my oath of office I must give him reasonable bail."

Producers Are Buying, Consumers Should Take Hint

Producers are realizing that it's a good time to buy, and commodity prices show it. Copper is sharply higher than it was. Rubber is up. So is cotton. And even the wheat market is stronger. One by one the commodities are suggesting an early upturn in business. This depression will soon be over. History shows that. Periods of declining business seldom last more than a year and a half. Within a month, if history repeats, we shall have served our term. Revival lies ahead. But meanwhile there are men unemployed waiting for the upturn in their particular lines. If every one with an income nearly as large as usual will spend his money normally, business will revive at once and unemployment will cease to be a problem.

and chastened before Judge Lyle with Attorney Abel Kretske to ask for a change of venue on charges of vagrancy and disorderly conduct. Bonds of $5,400 in cash had been posted for his release.

"Where did you get all this money?" Judge Lyle asked as he granted the petition.

"The fish dealers voluntarily contributed it," Kretske said.

"Putting the shake on again," the judge retorted. "I don't see how they stand for it. Some one ought to tip him over. Well, the days of muscle men are passing."

A writ of habeas corpus alleging that Dominick Brancato, sentenced to serve six months on a vagrancy charge by Judge Lyle last Friday, was illegally imprisoned, was filed before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty. The writ is returnable today before Judge Harry Fisher.

Foster Trial Tomorrow.

Frank Foster, dapper gunman, under indictment for the murder of Alfred Lingle, appeared before Judge George Fred Rush. By agreement the case was set for trial tomorrow. Special Prosecutor James E. McShane asked the continuance because of the absence of Special Prosecutor Charles E. Rathbun, expected to return to the city today.

The inquiry into the habeas corpus writ issued Saturday without the signature of a judge for John and William Carr, brothers, wanted for alleged participation in the murder of John Guida last month, ended in the citing of two attorneys and a deputy clerk of the Criminal court for contempt. A score of witnesses were questioned by Judge Fisher and Chief Justice McGoorty, sitting en banc.

Those cited are Attorneys John R. Horan and Julius Resnik and Deputy Court Clerk Fred Quitman. Judge Fisher held that the entire proceeding was illegal and absolved David Wolff, a second court clerk, who aided Quitman in making out the writ. The judge said that Wolff committed a serious error of judgment without intent to do wrong.

Writ Against Lyle Quashed.

An echo of Judge Lyle's campaign against public enemies was heard in the Superior court before Judge Walter P. Steffen. The judge denied Attorney Henry Blech permission to file a writ of prohibition against Judge Lyle, who had ordered Miss Johanna Eisenman, 2919 Sheffield avenue, to pay $102 to a complainant after he found her not guilty on a charge of operating a confidence game.

The petition described Judge Lyle as "a person ignorant of the law." Judge Steffen held the petition to be scandalous and denied it.

JURY QUESTIONS CHAMBERLIN ON POLICE AGAIN

Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, was again called before the grand jury yesterday as part of the investigation of the police department. He was the first witness called when the grand jurors decided early in the month to inquire into police conditions.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, in charge of the inquiry, said he did not know the jury intended to call Col. Chamberlin again. He was not present at the hearing yesterday and Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro, who is regularly the adviser of the grand jury, was also absent during the questioning.

COUNCIL PUTS RESTRICTION ON BOND SPENDING

Order Is in Conflict with Experts Case Decision.

The city council unanimously passed an order yesterday prohibiting department heads from spending any of the $20,000,000 of bonds approved by the voters on Nov. 4 until the money has been appropriated by the council.

This is in direct opposition to the orders issued by Mayor Thompson two or three days after the election. The council order is also said to be in conflict with the recent decision of the State Supreme court in the expert fee case in which it was decided that approval of the voters of a bond issue ordinance constituted an appropriation of the proceeds for the purpose named.

Clark Introduces Order.

The city council, in adopting a resolution of Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, ordered "that no department head enter into any contract or obligate the city in any way on said bond issues until duly authorized to do so by the city council."

"Each of these bond issues approved at the last election," said Ald. Clark, "contained a provision saying that no part of a bond issue shall be disbursed until there had been an appropriation by the city council. The people approved the bond issues subject to that reservation. The people want the money spent only by appropriation. In THE TRIBUNE expert fee case the Supreme court said that popular approval of a bond issue was an appropriation, but that is bad business. I know of no department heads who plan to spend the money before appropriated, but the adoption of this resolution will eliminate the danger of any proceedings to spend."

Gets Backing of Albert.

"I agree with Ald. Clark," said Ald. Arthur Albert. "This view I believe is the law, and there can be no doubt that it is logically sound and good business.' If too much money from the $20,000,000 is spent on plans and specifications there won't be much left to pay the unemployed."

Even Ald. Nelson, Thompson council floor leader, announced that he favored the resolution.

Two or three days after the election Thompson issued a statement saying that he wanted as much work started before the snow flies as was humanly possible. The snow flew yesterday. A little later in reply to inquiries Deputy Controller Victor Petterson said that the money from the bonds could not be made available until the bonds were sold, and that they are dated Jan. 1.

Referring to these incidents, Ald. Albert said in a second speech:

"You recall that a civil service employé of the controller's office said that the bonds could not be sold before their date of Jan. 1, and then Thompson sent him a telegram telling him to keep his mouth shut and jump on the band wagon. In view of this attitude of Thompson, who appoints the department heads, it is advisable to pass the Clark resolution. It is based on sound reasoning and good judgment. If any department head proceeds, after the adoption of this resolution, to spend unauthorized bond money, he can be yanked up for malfeasance."

Nelson in a second whirl said that the council finance committee will meet this morning, and intimated that the committee can then recommend the appropriation of the $20,000,000 bond money. But it has been believed heretofore that the city council cannot legally appropriate until the new fiscal year begins Jan. 1.

SENATOR ELECT COOLIDGE OUT FOR SWEDISH RUM PLAN

Boston, Mass., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Senator Elect Marcus A. Coolidge of Fitchburgh came out for cooperation in constructive legislation with the Republican administration for modification of the anti-trust laws and for the Swedish liquor control system in a speech at a Jefferson society dinner tonight. It was his first political speech since his election.

Coolidge predicted that "the administration will receive more cooperation from the new Democratic congressmen and senators than it has from the members of its own party for the last two years."

Aldermen Confirm Keller and Nims on Library Board

The appointments of Foster S. Nims and Charles L. Keller as trustees of the public library were confirmed by the city council yesterday. Mr. Nims succeeds Colin C. H. Fyffe, whose term has expired, and Mr. Keller takes the place of Dr. Max Henius, who resigned.

COUNCIL ORDERS WABASH BRIDGE CONTRACT QUIZ

Aldermen Unanimous on Caisson Deal.

The city council yesterday, by a unanimous vote, authorized an investigation into the contracts for the construction of the north approach to the Wabash avenue bridge which were let by Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works. The inquiry is to determine whether there were any irregularities in the letting of the contracts or the execution of them.

The committee on efficiency, economy and rehabilitation, which will make the investigation, has had the contracts under scrutiny at several meetings. Evidence was submitted to show that the Ketler-Elliott company is charging the city $10 a cubic foot for caisson excavation below a depth of 75 feet on which the E. J. Albrecht company, the low but unsuccessful bidder, set a price of $2 a cubic foot.

Albert Urges Inquiry.

"This is most important," said Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d], referring to the committee's request for the investigation. "When the city gives its work to the low bidder we should be able to carry out more projects to give the unemployed jobs and the city won't be broke."

A slight disturbance was created outside the council chambers before the session opened by a crowd of men and women who described themselves as representing the unemployed council of Chicago. Police squads escorted the disturbers outside the building.

The opening of the session was delayed 45 minutes while the aldermen awaited the appearance of Mayor Thompson. He took the gavel for 30 minutes and then turned the meeting over to Ald. John S. Clark [30th].

While Thompson was still presiding Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the gas and oil committee, which drafted the telephone franchise, had the ordinance referred again to his committee. He announced that he would attempt to have a meeting of his committee this week to amend the ordinance so as to eliminate the objections raised in Thompson's veto.

The opponents of the phone franchise raised the objection that it did not contain a provision definitely obligating the Illinois Bell Telephone company to pay the cost of relocating its equipment when the subway is built. This argument was used by Thompson in vetoing the measure, which the council adopted last July by a vote of 37 to 9.

Adopt Ogden Ordinance.

During the early part of the session, while the chambers were still noisy with visiting delegations, the council passed an ordinance submitted by the board of local improvements calling for the construction of a viaduct across Goose Island to complete the Ogden avenue improvement. A bond issue of $5,460,000 for this improvement was approved at the Nov. 4 election.

Two track elevation ordinances, calling for the expenditure of approximately $5,000,000, were submitted to the council by Ald. A. J. Horan [29th], chairman of the track elevation ordinance. The ordinance in which the Santa Fe railroad agrees to construct a subway at 47th street and Archer avenue was adopted.

The other ordinance provides that the Pennsylvania railroad elevate the tracks of its Englewood connecting branch for one and three-quarters miles between Stewart avenue and Leavitt street. Under this ordinance 26 subways will be built for street openings.

BRIDE, 13, REUNITED WITH HER HUSBAND IN POLICE STATION

Romance flourished in a police station last night when a girl bride, 13 years old, became reconciled with her husband of three weeks after a separation of three days. The girl is Mrs. Ruth Grust Davis, the bridegroom, Leon Davis, 24 years old, 3216 Altgeld street.

Ruth ran away from her home and school in Bensonville, Ill., on Oct. 30, and met Davis outside the Northwestern station that night. They eloped to Calumet City on Nov. 5, and were married, the girl giving her age as 18. They went to live with the husband's family. Three days ago, the newlyweds quarreled, and Ruth disappeared. Police search for her ended last night when she called at Davis' place of employment.

At the Des Plaines street station the pair kissed and made up. Davis said that if the girl's parents sanctioned the marriage he would take her to Florida on a belated honeymoon. Police conferred with the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grust, and announced they would submit the case to the Court of Domestic Relations today.

C. H. MARKHAM, ILLINOIS CENTRAL CHAIRMAN, DEAD

Began Railroad Career as Section Laborer.

Charles Henry Markham, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central system, died at his winter home at Altadena, Cal., early yesterday morning as the result of a succession of paralytic strokes, the last of which came three days ago. He was 69 years old and had been in active charge of the great railroad organization until four years ago.

His body will reach Chicago via the Illinois Central Hawkeye from Omaha on Thursday morning. Funeral services will be held at Holy Name Cathedral at 10 a. m. on Friday. Solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated, and interment will be private.

Starts as Section Laborer.

In commenting yesterday on the career of Mr. Markham, who rose from the ranks as a humble section laborer to become one of the most able and farsighted railroad executives in America, L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central, said:

"The death of Mr. Markham is a great loss in many ways. He was an exceptionally able leader. He was a forceful and effective advocate of justice for all railroads before the bar of public opinion, where he won the confidence of millions by his frankness and sincerity. He was a devoted champion of the middle west and the south, and his influence upon their economic development was far reaching.

"I never knew a kindlier man. He placed implicit confidence in his business associates, and it is a tribute to his choice of men and his capacity for stirring their hearts that his confidence was so often rewarded by outstanding results. His thorough democracy is evidenced by the sorrow with which the news of his death will be received by railway workers of all classes everywhere."

Born of Immigrant Parentage.

Mr. Markham was one of the first to recognize the necessity and benefit of electrification of the Chicago end of his system. The work was done under his leadership and he lived to see it on a paying basis. He had a great vision of the development of terminal facilities and of the air rights north of Randolph street. He foresaw this as much as ten years ago and at one time plans were made for covering the 72 acres in the tract with streets and great buildings, a new city within the city.

Mr. Markham was born on May 22, 1861, at Clarksville, Tenn., of immigrant parentage.

He left school when he was 14 to work in the village grocery store at Addison, N. Y., where the family had moved, and at 17, with two other young men from his home town, he started west to make his fortune.

He began his first railroad work at the age of 20 as a section laborer on the Santa Fe railroad at Dodge City, Kas. From there he became, successively, on different roads, coal shoveler for locomotives, baggagemaster, ticket agent and traffic agent.

While he was a freight solicitor at Fresno, Cal., he worked out a car loading plan which attracted the attention of Julius Kruttschnitt, a railroad leader, and his rise from there was rapid. In 1901 he was elected vice president of the Houston and Texas Central, and in 1904 he went to San Francisco to become general manager of the Southern Pacific.

He was out of railroad work for six years as president of the Gulf Refining company and other Mellon oil interests, and it was from here that he was called, on Jan. 12, 1911, to become president of the Illinois Central. During the United States railroad administration he was southern regional director and later directed the roads of the Alleghany region.

He developed improved relations between the railroads and the public, and backed a vigorous expansion and improvement on the Illinois Central system. He is credited with having doubled the assets of the system in 15 years. Grade reductions, new service and equipment marked the period, also the shortening of the distance between the north and the south, and the building of one of the world's finest railway shop plants at Paducah, Ky. Feeder lines were purchased and great advances were made under his leadership in dairying and other diversified farming in the south. Many men who worked with him passed on to high positions in the railroad world.

Mr. Markham is survived by one son, Fred S. Markham of Altadena, and by four grandchildren.

Face Second Tragedy in Year

Bill Dillon, 9 years old; Jack, 5, and Anna Mary Dillon, 7 years old, who lost their father seven months ago and whose uncle and sole support, Hubert J. Dillon, policeman, was killed Sunday while trying to arrest a drunken Negro. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Benefactor Slain

Funeral services for Patrolman Hubert Dillon, squad leader assigned to the Maxwell street station, who was shot to death Sunday afternoon when he interrupted a fight between two Negroes at 630 O'Brien street, will be held in Resurrection Catholic church at 10 a. m. tomorrow with interment in Calvary cemetery.

Dillon, who was 34 years old, was a bachelor and lived at 5071 Jackson boulevard with his mother, two sisters and three young children of his brother, Andrew who died last April.

Since the death of the brother, who was separated from his wife, Dillon had been caring for the children, William, 9 years old, Mary, 7, and Jack, 5, and had planned to give all three musical educations.

Confesses Theft of $2,000 Ring from Woman's Body

Meredith Jones, 23 years old, attendant of the Arntzen ambulance service, 810 North Clark street, admitted yesterday, police said, that he stole the $2,000 diamond ring from the body of Mrs. Richard Delmar, 3750 Sheridan road. The ring was reported missing after she had dropped dead of heart disease in the lobby of the Palace theater Sunday night. He told police of the East Chicago avenue station he removed it as the body was being taken to the Henrotin hospital.

HOLD BIG 10 FILM DEALERS GUILTY UNDER TRUST ACT

U.S. Supreme Court Rules Against Distributors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court, in two decisions handed down today, ruled that motion picture corporations controlling 98 per cent of the country's film output have conducted their business in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The decisions, which were delivered by Mr. Justice McReynolds, constitute a defeat for ten of the biggest distributors in the movie business, for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, of which they were members, and for 32 film boards of trade, all of whom were joined in the suits. And it marks a victory for the department of justice, which for nine years has been investigating and prosecuting what it contended was a combination in restraint of trade.

These Corporations Involved.

The corporations involved are the Paramount Famous Lasky corporation, First National Pictures, Inc., Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing corporation, Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., United Artists corporation, Fox Film corporation, Pathe Exchange, Inc., F. B. O. Pictures corporation Vitagraph, Inc., and Educational Film Exchanges, Inc.

Charges of conspiracy in restraint of trade were made against the distributors on two grounds. One referred to a standard exhibit contract under which exhibitors were required to take films, the other referred to the operation of credit committees which act, it was alleged, to restrict sales and purchases.

Standard Exhibit Contract.

In the decision covering the standard exhibit contract the court said:

"The distributors produce and distribute films through exchanges in 32 centrally located cities. These distributors, together with other distributors, control 98 per cent of the entire business. Each spring, while pictures are still only in contemplation, each distributor announces its intended program of distribution for 12 months and the exhibitors are solicited to enter into written contracts."

Under these contracts, it was shown, exhibitors were bound to submit any controversies to arbitration and to forego any right to jury trial. In case of refusal to submit to arbitration they were liable to a fine of $500, and in case of refusal to pay this sum had their service suspended.

The court found that these rules were not "either normal or reasonable regulations" and asserted that they tended to destroy "the kind of competition to which the public long has looked for protection."

Free, Untrammeled Market.

In the case involving the credit committees, the court declared: "The obvious purpose of the arrangement is to restrict the liberty of those who have representatives on the film boards and secure their concerted action for the purpose of coercing certain purchasers of theaters by excluding them from the opportunity to deal in a free and untrammeled market."

The two cases originally were heard by Federal Judge Thacher of the southern New York district, who had held for the government in the case concerning the exhibit contract, and for the defendants in the credit committee case. The Supreme court, therefore, in deciding for the government in both cases, upheld the decision in the first case and reversed the decision in the second.

Sued for $5,130,000.

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Actions for sums aggregating $5,130,000 were filed today in federal District court against the Paramount-Publix corporation, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.; the Netco Theater corporation, Adolph Zukor, Sidney R. Kent, and Sam Katz.

Edward Quittner, a producer and manager of Middletown, N. Y., and the Middletown Combined Buildings company, Inc., brought the actions, claiming a chain of theaters owned and operated by them have been damaged to the extent of one-third of the amount asked, by acts of the defendants in restraint of trade and violation of the anti-trust laws.

LAD OF 13 ARMS FOR BURGLARS; KILLS PLAYMATE

A 13 year old boy, who said he "always sleeps with a pistol under his pillow," yesterday shot and killed an 8 year old companion who had spent the night with him, shortly after both had awakened at 8 a. m.

"I always keep it there in case a robber should come, but my dad doesn't know it," boasted James Stachowicz, 804 West 155th street, Phoenix, as he took the gun from under his pillow to show his friend.

An instant later there was a shot and the younger boy, John Bokowski, 15345 6th avenue, Phoenix, lay dead with a bullet through his forehead. James was arrested, but was released when a coroner's jury in the afternoon decided the shooting was an accident.

MUSCLE SHOALS BILL MAY BE PASSED AND NIP SPECIAL SESSION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Prospects for avoiding a special session of congress in the spring appeared somewhat brighter today when Representative B. H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], chairman of the house rules committee, said he favored disposing of controversial subjects such as Muscle Shoals and the Norris lame duck constitutional amendment resolution at the short session.

Representative Snell, who is one of the administration leaders and has been hostile to government operation of Muscle Shoals, indicated that if the sentiment in the house favors it he would prefer to have legislation of that character accepted rather than prolong the controversy to another session. His statement was regarded as paving the way for an agreement by the conferees of the senate and house who were deadlocked at the end of the last session because of unwillingness of the house to accept the senate government operation bill.

The Snell statement showed an effort on the part of Republican regulars to comply with the ultimatum of the radicals as voiced by Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.].

$100,000 Damage Done When Texas Dam Bursts

Mathis, Tex., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Damage from a break of the Mathis dam on the Nueces river, near here, was estimated today at approximately $100,000, virtually all to the dam.

Three small farm houses and a large area of bottom land accustomed to overflow before the dam was constructed were inundated. Losses of crops and cattle were said to be negligible. No lives were lost.

REALTY BUYERS ACTIVE PRIOR TO SUBWAY DECISION

Tracts Change Hands Near Grand Av. Project.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

On Aug. 29 the board of advisory engineers decided to place one of the State street subway stations at Grand avenue.

On Aug. 9, twenty days before the station decision, it was announced that Herbert L. Sharlock of South Bend, had purchased the leasehold of the southwest corner of State street and Grand avenue. It is learned that Mr. Sharlock was merely an accommodation buyer, what real estate men call a "dummy." The real buyer was a syndicate of Chicago men. Their names have not been made public.

Denies Advance Knowledge.

The property leased is a two story terra cotta building covering a ground area of 110x119 feet. The transfer was affected by the real estate firm of Dibblee & Manierre. Francis E. Manierre asserted with emphasis yesterday that the buyers had no advance information of the location of the station.

There has been a rumor around the city hall that "insiders" have received information on where the subway stations would be located.

The board of advisory engineers made their decision on Aug. 29, but that information was not made available in any public record until Oct. 24. It was not until that date that subway drawings were made available from which the public could ascertain the location of the proposed stations.

These drawings show a subway station about 650 feet long in State street with the south end at Austin avenue, the north end at Grand avenue, and centering on Illinois street.

Another Station Urged.

There is a movement on foot to have another station in the vicinity of Huron or Superior streets. Frederick Bowes, north side real estate operator, is taking the lead in this move and it is reported that he has the backing of substantial interests.

It might appear that there is still some uncertainty about the station at Grand avenue, because the council has yet to express its opinion, but in the city hall it is reported there is no question about the location of a station at Grand avenue.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvement, has told the property owners abutting State street that he would be willing to pay an assessment for a subway equal to the value of his property if he had property near a subway station. If that view of the value of a subway station on nearby real estate is correct, then there are some fortunate persons in the neighborhood of the Grand avenue station.

Transactions Are Shown.

The records show that several months ago Dr. Otho F. Ball acquired a tract 165 by 109 feet at the northwest corner of Ontario and Cass streets, just across the street from the Medinah Temple. The Eighteen Ontario building corporation has since taken over this property.

About the same time Philip Golnon bought the northeast corner of State and Ontario streets. This tract is 75 by 118 feet and is reported to have sold for $180,000.

Also several months ago Julius Farwell obtained a 99 year lease to the southeast corner of Illinois and Dearborn streets. The ground area is 74 by 80 and the lease calls for a staggered rental of from $6,000 to $10,000 a year.

The 102 by 100 feet at 225-233 West Grand avenue has been leased for 99 years to Charles F. Geiger, Joseph L. Duffy, and D. C. O'Connell with an option to purchase within 10 years for $140,000.

Lease on Ohio Street.

Not long ago a lease for 90 years was recorded to Walter L. Ross and others to the northwest corner of State and Ohio streets. This plot is 79x109 feet and the lessees are obligated to build a structure costing at least $100,000 by Dec. 31, 1939.

On April 26, Walter and Bertha Painter bought a lot on Grand avenue 50 feet west of Rush street. This lot is only 16 2-3 feet wide but has a depth of 100 feet.

On June 19, Fred R. Smith and others, acquired 50x125 feet on Illinois street, 100 feet east of Cass street.

On Aug. 23, William Bloom bought a property 25 feet wide and 100 feet deep on Illinois street, 100 feet west of Cass street.

A tract 26x88 feet on Dearborn street, 74 feet south of Illinois street, was acquired by Ralph C. and Nellie D. Clark on July 11, last.

Other transfers in this neighborhood have been placed on record in the county recorder's office, which indicate an interest in improved transportation, such as a subway station might give.

OPERA SINGER SUED BY SLEUTH SHE HAD SHADOWING HUSBAND

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A bill of $1,987 for "shadowing" was placed before City Court Justice Wendel today by John J. McIntyre against Leonie Kruse, Chicago Civic Opera company singer, and Dudley Field Malone, her counsel.

McIntyre said the money was due him for shadowing Miss Kruse's husband, Lawrence Wolf, tenor in the Chicago company, in the spring of 1929. The couple later were reconciled, he said.

The detective said the shadowing took place in Hartford and New Haven, Conn., and in Boston.

Miss Krause, the court papers said, is the daughter of the Rev. C. J. Kruse of Petoskey, Mich.

GUYON MAY ASK U. S. INQUIRY IN BALLROOM BOMB

J. Louis Guyon, proprietor of the Paradise ballroom which was bombed Sunday, announced last night that if various local agencies which are investigating the affair fail to get results he will seek a federal inquiry and conduct an investigation of his own.

The bomb was exploded a short time before the opening hour, endangering the lives of the orchestra members and entertainers who were rehearsing.

James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, who had declared a strike against the hall, denied any knowledge of the bombing when questioned by prosecutors yesterday. He said the strike had been called when musicians were compelled to refund part of their salaries. The management denied the refund charges. Other officials of the union will be questioned, the prosecutors said.

Musicians now employed are members of the American Musicians' union which Petrillo said is not a recognized union.

Police Capture Youths on Roof; Two Guns Nearby

Twelve policemen, holding revolvers and rifles in readiness, climbed to the roof of the Waggoner oil station at 1154 Washington boulevard last night in response to an alarm that two men were hiding there. They found Tom Russo, 18 years old, 726 South Hermitage avenue, and Anthony Digironamo, also 18, of 823 South Hermitage, hiding in a corner. In another corner they found two loaded revolvers.

Inhalator, Used 10 Days, Apparently Saves Infant

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A ten day effort of a city fire department inhalator crew to save the life of 2 months old Bobbie Walter Anderson tonight neared complete success. As the men neared the 240 hour mark, physicians said the inhalator would be dispensed with tomorrow, as Bobbie has showed great improvement.

Neuritis Responds to Treatment

Relief from Neuritis depends on getting rid of the cause—the acid which is irritating the nerves must be neutralized and eliminated. Thousands of people have gained relief by drinking Mountain Valley Mineral Water from Hot Springs, Ark., because it contains alkaline minerals which seem to neutralize the acid—and also because it stimulates and assists the eliminative organs and aids them to expel the acid. Physicians recommend it as an aid in treating all diseases which result from kidney disorders. Phone us for a case today.

SPANISH REVOLT FEARED AS AIR IDOL BREAKS JAIL

Troops Hunt Maj. Franco —Watch Frontiers.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Nov. 24.—Rumors of a Republican revolution are rife again tonight following the escape of Maj. Ramon Franco, idol of Spain, from his prison cell here this morning.

Maj. Franco is the flyer who flew to Brazil in 1926 and fell in the Atlantic off the Azores last year in trying to repeat the flight. He was picked up by the British aircraft carrier Eagle after being lost a week. Though once the favorite of King Alfonso, Maj. Franco has become a valiant republican and was recently thrown in jail for seditious writings and utterances. It is charged he even wrote "treasonable" articles from his cell. Last Friday he was sentenced to eight months in prison.

The authorities today were stopping and peering into autos all over Spain, and watching the frontiers to prevent the aviator from slipping out of the country. This morning the police raided Maj. Franco's aviation school at Cuatro Vientos, where he keeps three planes for training pilots, but found all the planes in the hangar, thus eliminating the fear that Franco might have flown to Portugal or France. All airports are being watched.

Last Saturday the flyer was told that he would be transferred from the old convent where he was being held to the prison of San Cristobal at Pamplona. Franco protested violently and threatened a hunger strike.

At 1 a. m. today the turnkey in making his rounds noticed that Maj. Franco was apparently asleep in his cell. At 4 o'clock a telegram arrived for him, and when the warden came to deliver it he found the cell empty. Maj. Eduardo Regin, another aviator facing a charge of bigamy with a possible sentence of ten years, was also found missing.

Investigation revealed that the iron bars over the cell windows had been sawed through.

PERUVIAN TROOPS TRAIN GUNS ON LIMA; REDS RIOT

Fear New Revolution in Row Over Cabinet.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 24.—Things tonight seemed to be on the verge of popping in this eighteenth century capital of Peru, following a day of popular demonstration against the new cabinet of Provisional President Sanchez Cerro. Throughout the afternoon crowds of every political complexion milled about the center of the city and as the day drew to a close fifteen persons were listed as casualties in riots between communist and other groups.

Troops Rest Under Arms.

Somewhere in the back streets, or in their barracks, platoons of police and troops are resting under arms tonight, waiting for the signal to drive through if the milling crowds get beyond control. On the roof and about the environs of the old palace of Pizarro, behind barred windows and in little nests in the towers of the cathedral and smaller churches are khaki clad men with rifles and machine guns. An unconfirmed report tonight said the cabinet had quit.

The events leading up to this situation, which follows by only three months the revolution which deposed President Augusto B. Leguia and installed Lieut. Col. Cerro as provisional president, are listed as follows:

When Lieut. Col. Cerro's first ministry resigned last Friday under criticism for its handling of the rioting in the Cerro de Pasco mining region, in which two Americans were killed, observers looked to the names of the new appointees as an indication of the provisional government's political drift. The answer was found in the nomination of Col. Antonio Beingolea to the important post of minister of government, and Manuel Augusto Olachechea as minister of finance.

The latter has been chief counsel of leading American banking interests here for many years. Both are men of recognized competency, but both are closely identified with the old Civilista party.

Trusted Friend Accuses Cerro.

The first reaction to the new ministry came like a bombshell this morning when Maj. M. O. Vasquez, trusted lieutenant of the provisional president and editor and manager of La Prensa, government controlled organ, came out in an open letter to Lieut. Col. Cerro charging him in thinly veiled phrases with having abandoned the "original ideals" of the revolution, and of having delivered himself to the dictation of the Civilista party.

What lay back of Maj. Vasquez' challenge is not known, but shortly before noon the windows and doors in the three story facade of the La Prensa building were closed and barred, and a declaration was posted on the entrance declaring that the doors would not open until the general meeting on Dec. 1 of the shareholders. The governme..t holds a majority of the shares.

It was shortly after this that the crowds began assembling in the Plaza San Martin to protest against the new cabinet.

Late tonight, following a report that the younger officers of the army and navy were planning a protest against the ministry, the government arrested Col. Aurelio Garcia Godos, chief of the infantry department.

There is an old Peruvian saying to the effect that "he who holds the palace of Pizarro and the Plaza de Armas holds Peru." At present writing Col. Cerro sits strongly intrenched in that position.

Within earshot of the manifestations former President Augusto B. Legula, deposed only a few weeks ago from the same position, and his son are held as prisoners in the Lima penitentiary.

Rail Shopmen Ask 5 Day Week on Regular Pay

The executive council of the railway employes' department of the A. F. of L., representing six shop unions and 400,000 men, last night adopted a program seeking a five day week with no reduction in pay.

This action follows that of the five operating brotherhoods, who held a two weeks' conference on unemployment and adopted a program for a six hours day with no reduction in pay. The executive action was authorized by a conveption held last May.

TORSO OF A MAN FOUND IN TRUNK AFLOAT IN RIVER

Legs Discovered in Suitcase Miles Away.

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—The torso and legs of a man who probably was killed and dismembered some time yesterday morning were found in widely separated parts of Manhattan today, the torso in a trunk floating in the North river and the legs in a cheap and battered suitcase in the doorway of a vacant store on Houston street, a block from the East river.

A Mills hotel baggage check found with the torso led detectives to the establishment on Bleecker street, where it reclaimed a black suitcase containing various articles of clothing and a copy of the Bridgeport [Conn.] Post for Sept. 2. The suitcase had been checked at the hotel on Nov. 1, and the baggage clerk could give no description of the man who left it.

Laundry Mark Is Clew.

The only other clews were a laundry mark, "216," inked in the collar band of a white shirt stuffed in the suitcase with the legs, a mark such as dry cleaners use, inside a coat among the other objects at the Mills hotel, and a label in the coat indicating it had been sold at "George's," a retail clothing store at 34 Monroe street, Detroit. Detroit police have been asked to trace the coat.

An autopsy showed that the man had been drinking heavily before he died, and established conclusively that dismemberment was done after death. The only marks on the body were a faint scar on the left leg, behind the kneecap, and two small contusions on the right arm.

Recalls Famous Killing.

The case, reminiscent of the famous Guldensuppe dismemberment killing of some thirty years ago, engaged the attention of the best detectives from police headquarters today. Waterfront police were set to searching for the head, and every laundry in the city was being visited in an attempt to identify the man through the laundry mark.

away by the boiling seas. All the available man power including the Dutch army is at work repairing crumbling dikes.

From all parts of Germany come reports of suffering from flood and storm. In Bavaria communications by rail and telegraph have been practically totally interrupted owing to fallen trees and the snapping of wires. The winter crops are said to be a total loss and thousands of cattle and horses have perished. The rivers in the Harz mountains are raging torrents, suburban towns near Berlin are in peril and the army has been hastily called out to buttress streams with sandbags.

Damage was done to the Friedrichshaven airport on Lake Constance by a 90 mile an hour gale, and the Dornier hangars where the DO-X was built were damaged. The plane itself, now at anchor at Vigo, Spain, was unable to proceed to Lisbon owing to the gales.

In Britain the rivers of both the eastern and western watershed, swollen by torrential rains, flooded the countryside. The coasts were lashed by fresh gales and incoming shipping and returning fishing smacks made port under great difficulties. The Cunard liner Samaria was unable to call at Cobh and went on to Liverpool with 101 passengers and 751 sacks of mail destined for Ireland.

Sea Hides Storm Mystery.

Two Greek steamers had a narrow escape off the rocks of Portland Bill and only got away just as rescue vessels were preparing to transfer their crews. Loss of life at sea is feared as the wreck of an unidentified yacht has been washed up on the south coast and lifeboats have been reported in the channel drifting bottom side up.

Ireland has felt its share of the storms. Houses have been demolished by its fury in Belfast and some of the streets are flooded.

Hundreds of persons inhabitating the Paris suburbs were evacuating their homes tonight as the Seine began to pour into the city, seeping into basements and subway stations. Mobilization of the extensive plans made at a special cabinet meeting today for evacuation of threatened areas were begun and thousands of sand bags are being rushed to the quays where walls are being built to keep out the Seine when it reaches the critical level of 18 feet. The municipal authorities have been getting out the movable wooden bridges which were used during the flood of 1910 and 1924 and they are being thrown across streets already inundated.

Serious flood conditions are also reported from the Loire valley. At Le Mans and at Nantes the waters were said to be higher than they had been for 50 years.

Bandits Beat Maid in Lawyer's Home; Get $8,000

A maid in the apartment of Sidney Gordon, attorney for the Checker company, at 1454 Hollywood avenue, who opened the door in response to a knock, was beaten over the head by two bandits who obtained jewelry valued at $8,000 and escaped late yesterday afternoon. The maid, Nellie Morse, was locked in a bathroom after she had refused to tell where the jewelery was kept.

KILLINGS UNDER DRY LAW SIFTED BY CRIME BOARD

Hanson Slayer Defender Gives His Views.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Methods of prohibition enforcement along the Canadian border, including the question of killings by the coast guard, occupied the attention of the Wickersham commission today as it reassembled after a ten day recess to continue its dry law investigation.

Today's witness before the commission was Richard H. Templeton of Buffalo, United States attorney for the western district of New York, who gained prominence in 1928 when he defended Glenn Jennings, coast guardsman tried for the killing of Jacob Hanson, a citizen of Niagara Falls, N. Y. Templeton spent an hour and a half with the commission behind closed doors, after which the group adjourned until tomorrow.

Put Views in Writing.

It was understood that members of the commission brought to the meeting copies of their written views on what report should be made to President Hoover. These are to be used as a basis for the final recommendations scheduled to go to the White House some time during January.

Mr. Templeton was invited by Chairman George W. Wickersham to appear before the commission to explain his views on enforcement, presumably in the Buffalo district, where liquor pouring across the border is the chief problem. Because of his connection with the Hanson case, in which he vigorously defended the right of dry agents to "use all necessary force" in stopping suspected vessels or vehicles, reports were that this was the topic of his testimony.

Officials' Lawlessness.

In connection with Templeton's appearance it was pointed out that one of the committees of the Wickersham commission is working on the question of the lawlessness of government officials and has assembled a great deal of material on the subject.

Another prohibition development today was a decision by the senate campaign funds investigating committee to investigate the expenditures of the large wet and dry organizations. The committee will hear officers of the Anti-Saloon league next Tuesday and will go to New York to receive the testimony of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment on Dec. 4. Chairman Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.] announced that the committee while in New York also will investigate expenditures made in behalf of Dwight W. Morrow, senator elect in New Jersey.

GROCER, FEARING DEPORTATION, ENDS HIS LIFE

Fear of deportation because of his failure to become a naturalized citizen was believed to have caused the suicide early yesterday of Solomon Pearl, 42 year old grocer, whose body was found hanging from a rafter in the rear of his store at 1859 North Kimball avenue.

Pearl's wife, Sarah, told police that her husband worried when notified by his attorney, Israel Himmelstein, that his application for citizenship had been rejected. Friends warned him of the possibility of deportation, she said. Naturalization and immigration authorities had no record of Pearl.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane, due to financial troubles and fear of deportation, was returned at the coroner's inquest.

NOW! Impart Color to Gray Hair

GRAY hair is a business and social handicap that you can now overcome without taking chances with uncertain methods or fussing with messy, sticky preparations. Now science has discovered a liquid colorless as water itself—yet it actually imparts color to Gray Hair—no matter how gray you are—no matter what the cause of your Gray Hair. It is called Kolor-Bak. It is as easy to use as combing your hair. You simply comb Kolor-Bak into your hair and the Gray goes so naturally that even your friends cannot tell that you are using anything. The beautiful sheen of your hair is left unchanged. Strange as it sounds, the very same bottle of this colorless liquid does for Blonde, Black, Brown, or Auburn. Already hundreds of thousands of bottles have been used. So sure are its amazing results that it is sold on a guarantee that if it doesn't make you look 10 years younger your money will be refunded any time you ask.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

Hurley Tells Plans at Valley Meeting.

or Ruperts House on Hudson bay to Santiago, Cuba.

"Railroads climb the slopes, tunnel mountains, cross rivers on bridges, and cross the great lakes and the Gulf of Mexico on car ferries.

Boats Less Elastic.

"Boats cannot be moved with the same elasticity as wheeled vehicles and yet we find in North America practical water routes entering the continent by the St. Lawrence and Hudson rivers, converging at Buffalo, separating again at the Soo, and terminating at Duluth on the northeast and Joliet, Ill., on the south. Another water route climbs the Warrior river, while a great highway enters the Mississippi and forks at Cairo to Pittsburgh on the Ohio, to Omaha on the Missouri, and to Starved Rock on the Illinois."

After pointing to the missing link in these two water systems, Col. McCormick took up navigation on the St. Lawrence by THE TRIBUNE boats.

"The center of our trade," he said, "is Thorold on the Welland canal. From there our ships run down to Montreal in coal, and for pulpwood deep into the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

"Our ships run from Thorold to Chicago with paper and from Lake Erie ports both to our mill to Montreal in coal. Sometimes they run down river in grain. We receive Louisiana sulphur from New York via the Hudson river and the barge canal, and by the same route we ship paper to New York. We receive all of our coal at Thorold and all of our sulphur and the greater part of our pulpwood by boat, and ship our paper by boat during the unfrozen season.

Boats All Canal Size.

"All the ships operated by my company are what are called 'canal size.' They just fill the locks of the Welland canal, and very serviceable boats they are, too, for our trade.

"Experience will show that the great steamers of the United States Steel corporation, for which the improvements on the great lakes have been made, will never be suitable for navigation to Montreal.

"In the face of the approaching enlargements of the canals of St. Lawrence river, operators are continuing to build their snug 250 ton boats. The great ships will be used by the steel companies which can furnish full cargoes throughout the open season, but will be of no value to common carriers or to other businesses like our own, which ship in smaller units.

"Let us recognize this as a principle in transportation. Commodities will seek a container which they can occupy exclusively and in which they can travel without break in bulk.

Trucks Are Competitors.

"You all know how much the automobile truck has supplanted the railroad in shipments of less than carload lots. You may not be aware that the truck has also supplanted the steamboat in just such freights. The vegetables and fruits which used to collect on the eastern shores of Lake Michigan for transportation to the Chicago market now move by truck and the steamboat companies are in distress.

"My own company can move paper from Thorold to Chicago in solid boatloads of three thousand tons more cheaply than the railroads charge, or the interstate commerce will permit them to charge, for the shipment in trainloads. But the St. Louis newspapers find it preferable to receive their paper by the carload direct from the mills than to have it transshipped from boat to railroad at Chicago or elsewhere.

Boat Problem Solved.

"If I may paraphrase an old saw, I will say that bad engineering makes good shipbuilding. The New York barge canal having been built so that it could not carry boats which could navigate the great lakes, shipbuilders have designed a boat which can not only navigate the great lakes but the open ocean as well. For the last two summers cargoes have been coming to Chicago, not only from New York, but from Philadelphia, which is reached by travel on the open ocean.

"The future that I envisage, then, my friends, is not big ships from Chicago to the sea, but small ships from New Orleans to Montreal, from Omaha to New York, from Pittsburgh to Milwaukee and Superior. I foresee trains of barges like trains of cars leaving the various terminal points on the Mississippi system, separating and regrouping at Cairo, at St. Louis, in the vicinity of Chicago, at the Soo, at Buffalo and going to other destinations at Pittsburgh, Omaha, Milwaukee, Duluth, Philadelphia, and Quebec.

Not Fully Understood.

"It is too bad that so many people around the great lakes have been misled into the belief that any improvement of navigation conditions on the Mississippi system, if not an injury to them, is at most of no benefit, and that navigation on the great lakes can only be navigation of the great steamers which in actuality will not stop at any but the great points: Toronto, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, and Duluth."

Secretary Hurley ripped into some critics of waterway development. "Recently," he said, "one of the most outstanding railway men of our time was quoted in opposition to the government plan for waterways. He is a man who has rendered meritorious service and whose service and character are unexcelled. I refer to Daniel E. Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Mr. Willard said: 'We may well question the propriety of government investments of money that has been raised by taxation from all the people in facilities for carrying freight upon the inland waterways in competition with the railroads at rates that are in no sense remunerative.'

"It is seldom remembered that army engineers helped to project, build, and operate many of the older railroads. They located, contructed, and managed for a time the Baltimore and Ohio, the Northern Central, the Erie, the Boston and Providence, and New York, New Haven, and Hartford, and the Boston and Albany.

"While engaged in this work they were paid, not by the railroads, but by the people of the United States.

"No one contends that all these government aids or subsidiaries were bad policy. They were entitled to assistance, just as our early canals and post roads warranted government support.

"For the same reasons the government has generously supported the development of our present vast network of highways.

"Transportation is the life of commerce and commerce is essential to progress and civilization. The commerce created by waterway transportation will add to the general prosperity of the railways."

Hold Companions of Youth Slain in Dance Hall Row

David McThomas, 2017 South Hoyne avenue, and Robert Slomski, 2314 Blue Island avenue, both 17 years old, who participated in a wedding row in which their companion, Frank Gawelszyk, 18 years old, 2058 Coulter street, was shot and killed by Vincent Rossa early yesterday, were held last night by Marquette police. The shooting occurred in the dance hall at 1921 West 22d street, when Rossa, the owner, tried to eject Gawelszyk. According to police the youths intruded uninvited and annoyed departing wedding guests.

Konjola

MR. GEORGE J. WILLIAMS

Thousands say: "The only medicine that touched the spot."

You buy and try Konjola, not on promises, but on its amazing record of success, even in cases wherein all else tried has failed. No wonder seven million bottles were used in two years. Read and ponder what Mr. Williams says:

"My stomach, for six months, was so bad that I could not retain even toast and coffee. I was in misery three or four hours after every meal. I had to force myself to go to work. But three bottles of Konjola, and I feel like a new man. I can eat anything; never felt better in my life. Konjola worked wonders for me and I am sure it will do the same for others."

INCREASED LAKE FLOW PERMITTED FOR TWO WEEKS

Hurley Consents to Save Fish Life in River.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Responding to an appeal addressed by Gov. Louis L. Emerson to President Hoover, Secretary of War Hurley today granted qualified permission to the Chicago Sanitary district to increase the flow of water from Lake Michigan for a period of two weeks to preserve fish life in the Illinois river.

Secretary Hurley stipulated that any increase in withdrawal would have to be offset later by a sufficient reduction to bring the daily average withdrawal for the year within the legal limit of 6,500 cubic feet per second.

Gov. Emmerson, in his letter to President Hoover, called the chief executive's attention to the fact that the drought of last summer so lowered the level of the Illinois river that it now has not sufficient depth to protect the fish life when ice forms.

"During the drouht of the last year," the governor's letter said, "many of our lakes and streams have been so low that great numbers of fish have died, seriously affecting the situation in this state.

"If you could again increase the flow from Lake Michigan for several days sufficient to give the Illinois river enough depth to preserve fish life, the people of Illinois would be very appreciative."

Last summer, when the Illinois river was so low that the health of communities along its shores was threatened, Gov. Emerson obtained permission to increase the withdrawal from Lake Michigan.

BRITISH BOAT'S CREW RELEASED, BUT BOOZE HELD

Providence, R. I., Nov. 24.—(AP)—United States Attorney Henry M. Boss Jr. today ordered the release of the crew of the British motor boat Good Luck, captured 10 miles off Block island yesterday morning, but decided the vessel and its cargo of about 400 cases of liquor should be seized.

In ordering the release of the crew Boss followed recent orders from the department of justice in Washington, which directed him to dismiss charges brought against the crew of the British motor boat Mazel-Tov.

The Good Luck was seized after the coast guard destroyer Porter had fired several warning shots across her bow.

LEWIS SPENDS $24,309 TO GAIN SEAT IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Expenditures of James Hamilton Lewis in his successful campaign for United States senator in Illinois amounted to $24,309.49, according to a final statement filed by him today with the secretary of the senate. Of this amount $14,617.73 was expended in the primaries and $9,688.76 in the election. Contributions to his campaign fund totaled $24,775, of which $14,040 was received before the primaries and $10,775 during the election campaign. Balance on hand is $468.51.

Contributors to his campaign fund included R. D. Lewis, who gave $5,500; Benjamin Lindheimer, $1,000; M. A. Traylor, $750, and James W. Gerard, $500.

Hang up all the family stockings

—before the new Britannica comes down the chimney

For it will fill every one of them!

HERE IS an interesting letter which has just come to us, together with an order for the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The subscriber wrote:—

"YOU HAVE DONE a very wonderful thing in providing a hundred gifts in one, for this year's Christmas.

"Usually, each member of my family gets a whole pile of gifts—many of them small, but, all together, costing much more than was expected.

"We start to buy all these presents carefully, with due regard to their total cost; but, in trying to suit each one's personal tastes, we always stretch the pocketbook until it squeaks loudly, and for months afterwards.

"This year, the great new Britannica solves our problem. A woolly lamb and a rattle for the baby, one or two other merry little gifts for each other person (supplemented by those they'll get from others), and the twenty-four great volumes of the new Britannica:—which each of the eight members of the family needs, and which each will accept as a stunning personal gift.

"Also, the mahogany table will add that new Christmas note of furnishing, as our gift to the home itself.

"The Britannica will make this a full and joyous Christmas for all of us. No one, either in or out of the family, will stop to realize that this Christmas has cost far less than last year's."

This letter explains the thousands and thousands of orders we are receiving from families who wish us to ship them the new Britannica "in time for Christmas."

This man, like thousands of others, realizes that the marvelous new Britannica so exactly meets the varying needs of every member of the family that it will be accepted by each as a distinctively personal gift—a gift more important and beautiful than any one person has hoped to get.

And he sees that the low cost of the new Britannica provides the sure and practical way to reduce the high cost of Christmas giving—this year.

By your single act of ordering the Britannica, a great and fascinating gift is provided for everyone in your home, old and young alike.

Also, the puzzling and tiring work of holiday shopping is instantly simplified, and much of the cost of Christmas is turned into a wise and permanent investment.

For the Britannica, unlike most gifts, will not lose its interest, wear out or be discarded.

Instead, its daily value will continue through years and years to come—constantly entertaining and assisting every member of your family. For no one can use up or outgrow the Britannica.

For The Children

Not only does the new Britannica greatly help children in their school studies—it tells them how to do hundreds of enjoyable things. It explains, clearly, and with beautiful illustrations, the wonders of the microscope, and the marvels of nature and science.

Eagerly using the new Britannica, children develop their minds, without tiresome effort. Their nervous strain is lessened, and they have a great, continuous advantage over less fortunate children.

The Advanced Student

Just suppose that someone in your home wishes to become skilled and successful in—Architecture—Law—Mechanical or Electrical or Civil Engineering—Medicine—Physics and Chemistry—Art—Music—Psychology—Economics—Agriculture—Aviation—Astronomy—Religion—Social and Political Science—Commerce—Hydraulics—History—Literature—Manufacture—Advertising and Selling—Radio and Television—Interior Decoration—etc., etc.

In the Britannica these subjects are clearly explained by hundreds of the world's greatest present-day authorities who offer most constructive suggestions to both youthful and advanced students. Such a brilliant staff of thinkers and teachers could not be found in any university in the world.

The Father and Mother

To earners and homemakers the Britannica describes modern business methods. How to build and decorate and run a home, and how to bring up children. It puts them in touch with interesting people throughout the world,—and explains all that is happening in it. It teaches contract, budgeting, and better golf—first aid in case of injuries, and how to economize.

It gives the needed answers to the thousands of questions that the news of the day prompts in every active mind. And it helps parents to keep in touch with their children, and guide their minds. And it is the efficient short cut to necessary knowledge, for busy men and women.

The Elderly

For elderly people and "shut-ins" the Britannica pushes back the horizon, instantly. They read of all distant lands and strange peoples. They revel in the art and wisdom and philosophy of the greatest thinkers. It rounds out their lives, keeping them busy and contented, as nothing else could do.

GIVE CASH, NOT BASKETS, IDEA OF GOOD FELLOWS

Seek Most Happiness on Thanksgiving.

Day after tomorrow is Thanksgiving. Good Fellows can enjoy their holiday feast with the knowledge that they are helping to feed, clothe and shelter 238 destitute families who otherwise would be cold and hungry.

Many of the Good Fellows who have visited the homes of the families they have adopted are sending a holiday basket as an addition to the budget that provides necessities for the unfortunates. However, the majority are following a suggestion to contribute to the fund for the necessities for those in desperate need rather than to buy table luxuries for the poor. This suggestion was repeated yesterday in a letter received at the Good Fellows headquarters, in THE TRIBUNE offices at Dearborn and Madison streets.

Sends Check for Needy.

"Enclosed is the $5 that I usually spend for a Thanksgiving basket," read the letter. "Please see that it reaches some widow and her children who need milk, bread, shoes and so forth.

"It was my original intention to double my usual gifts of baskets this year because of the unusual amount of destitution growing out of the business slack. However, after giving the proposition some thought, I decided that there are too many families in desperate need of necessities for any of my money to be spent for luxuries for the poor. So I'm sending $5 today and will send another $5 after payday next Wednesday.

Happiness Only for Day.

"A turkey, cranberries, candy and nuts would mean a day's happiness to some family with a lot of children. But the happiness would last for only a day. If the parents are provident, they would probably prefer that the same amount of money should be spent for beans, potatoes, coal or blankets.

"Let's don't throw cake to the poor when it's bread they are asking for. You'll hear from me again on Wednesday. G. F."

Every penny donated to the Good Fellow fund reaches some destitute family under a minimum budget of necessities that is standard with Chicago charities. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administration.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Rosetta and Vivian Duncan of the sister stage team today secured a Superior court continuance of C. F. Reid's $250,000 suit against them. Reid is a theatrical agent and claims the sisters broke a five-year contract under which he was to take 10 per cent of their joint gross earnings. The case come up Feb. 5, 1931.

Judge Appoints Receiver for Bob's Chicago Property

Federal Judge Woodward yesterday appointed the Irving Trust company of New York ancillary receivers for the Chicago property of Charles V. Bob & Co., New York financiers. The trust company is also receiver for the New York assets. The airplane in which Bob disappeared from New York is believed to be the only Chicago property of the concern. It is at a local hangar. The activities of two of his concerns, Metal and Mining Shares, Inc., and the Rainbow Luminous Products company, are estimated to have resulted in a loss of $12,000,000 to the public.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The plea by June Howard Tripp, an actress known as "June" for annulment of her marriage to Lord Inverclyde and her plea for temporary alimony were denied today on the grounds that the English courts had no jurisdiction. The court held that both had been domiciled in Scotland, and the actress, who is now in the United States, will be forced to sue in Scotland.

Wellington's Scalp Treatment Proposition

FOR YOUR HAIR!
WATCH IT GROW

Under Scientific Treatment You Can actually watch the progress of new hair growing on your scalp week by week.

We Will Begin Saving Your Hair at Our Expense
If you have
Falling Hair, Dandruff
Dry, Itchy Scalp
Oily Hair

BRING THIS AD WITH YOU and receive a Thorough Examination and Scientific One-Half Hour Treatment at Our Hands —FREE.

Pay us nothing, promise us nothing, come back if you wish.

OUR ETHICS
OUR PRICES ARE THE SAME TO ALL

Every case taken is handled under the personal supervision of the Founder of the WELLINGTON INSTITUTE, who watches the progress of each case himself.

This is his eighth year of continuous service to the Chicago public here in the Loop.

We are not commercialized in the sense that we have other offices here, or in any other city, operating under our name.

WE HAVE NO OTHER OFFICE, AND WELLINGTON'S OWN PERSONAL SERVICE IS RENDERED TO ALL PATRONS just as any practicing medical specialist would render his own medical service.

Our treatment must recommend itself.

Your scalp is carefully examined and its exact condition explained. We have no sales talk that leads up to asking you to decide about taking treatment. We do not even ask if you expect to return.

We administer one full half hour treatment without any charge whatever and you decide at your leisure about further service.

We do not offer for sale any manufactured products such as tonics or shampoos. We recommend nature's own liveless shampoo to millionaire and mechanic alike—an egg, well rubbed into the hair and scalp and thoroughly rinsed with cool water. We know of no "tonic" but rich, red blood, which this treatment makes more available.

Our facilities are extensive here in our five room suite in the Capitol Building, our whole institute surgically clean and hygienic to the last degree. Our operators have been with us for years. Our treatment is worthy your attention.

Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment
Under the Mercury Quartz Lamp, $1.50

This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only part of our Complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself.

For dry, tight scalps; brittle, falling hair; itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet Ray treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of the high frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is required of ointments or stimulating and nourishing medicaments. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra-Red Lamp.

THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorders of the scalp from every angle, and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and tightness, and with a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. This complete half hour treatment, Including the Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, is..... $3.50

$800,000 RAISED FOR RELIEF OF IDLE WORKERS

Clarke Reports Progress of Campaign.

More than $800,000 has been subscribed to the $5,000,000 unemployment relief fund, Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the campaign committee, announced yesterday.

The $660,000 subscription of the utilities group, of which $60,000 was a personal gift from Samuel Insull, made up the most of the sum. Last evening Chairman Clarke received word that a $50,000 gift would be forthcoming today from employés of one of the State street department stores.

Other loop stores and their employés are being canvassed and Mr. Clarke expects to be able to announce a sizeable sum from this source by Wednesday afternoon.

The Thanksgiving Spirit.

"Of all the year, Thanksgiving week is the most appropriate for charitable donations," said Mr. Clarke. "Pledges from many large corporations require considerable time to materialize, in that various boards and committees must pass on them."

Commenting on reports that the campaign would be successfully closed by Thanksgiving day, the chairman pointed out that this estimate was at least a week too early. The campaign committee is prepared to stay with the drive all winter if necessary, he declared.

Work for Chicagoans.

The city council adopted two resolutions regarding unemployment at a meeting yesterday. The first, introduced by Ald. John A. Toman, directs the commissioner of public works and other municipal department heads to award contracts only to companies agreeing to employ only residents of Chicago.

The other, sponsored by Ald. John A. Massen, calls upon Gov. Emmerson's unemployment commission to issue a proclamation asking all employers in the state to assure all their workers the permanency of their jobs.

More than $1,000 was raised for needy children of Chicago and suburbs during a card party at the Palmer house sponsored by the Amity club of Oak Park and attended by about 600 players. The Goodwill Industries of Chicago, an organization working principally among the blind, announced yesterday that it had opened a wood yard at 90th street and University avenue, employing deaf men to saw donated railroad ties into firewood.

JURY TRIALS FOR RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING ORDERED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Driving an automobile so recklessly as to endanger property and individuals is a crime within the meaning of the third article of the constitution and the offender is entitled to trial by jury, the United States Supreme court declared today.

The Supreme court's decision was handed down in the case of William H. Colts, a resident of the District of Columbia, who was convicted in a Police court without jury trial.

The court's action provoked discussion as to the effect the decision would have in other cases and particularly as it might touch upon bills already passed by the house and now pending before the senate judiciary committee, which would permit minor liquor cases to be tried without a jury. The bills are the products of recommendations by the Wickersham law enforcement commission. It was generally held, however, that the decision was too limited to establish a doctrine under which the liquor bills might be construed.

REPORTS ON PROGRESS OF BUSINESS WOMEN IN HELPING JOBLESS

Members of the Chicago Alliance of Business and Professional Women last night heard Miss Jessie Hoagland, chairman of their emergency relief committee, report on the first week of activity of a bureau opened under their auspices at 140 South Dearborn street. Unemployed women and girls needing temporary assistance are being aided by the volunteer workers in charge of the bureau. Eight permanent positions were reported to the office during its first few days by members of the Alliance, and these were filled from the applicants listed there. Lodging for the night and breakfast are being provided in some cases, and clothing is being given in others.

STATE SEEKS NEW TRIAL JUDGE FOR SANITARY CASES

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup was given permission yesterday to file a certificate of objection to Judge Charles A. Williams of the Criminal court acting as the trial judge in the so-called sanitary district cases involving Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the district, and other officials. The hearing on this certificate will be held next Monday.

The objection of the prosecutor to the judge was based on the fact that Judge Williams usually takes his vacation in the winter time and is planning on going to California in January to spend three months. The prosecutor said this might result in the sanitary district cases, already several years old, being delayed nearly another year. The defense attorneys objected to a reassignment of the case.

"I am going to run this case the way I see fit," said Judge Williams. He then gave permission to the prosecutor to file his formal petition, but did not indicate what action he would take on it.

Concede Woodring Election as Governor of Kansas

CERMAK ORDERS SPEED ON COUNTY ROAD BUILDING

$12,000,000 Fund Won't Be Lost, He Says.

President Anton J. Cermak of the county board yesterday called for a report on the county's road building activities. Then he ordered "full speed ahead." The force seeking rights of way was ordered doubled and a campaign of education for owners of the land needed for highways was prescribed by President Cermak.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, had called attention to the possibility of Cook county's losing $12,000,000 of the state road building and widening appropriation unless the program is speeded up. Mr. Cermak said that Cook county wouldn't lose the money as it would eventually be spent in Cook county, but the unemployment condition moved him to hasten the preliminaries so the $12,000,000 could be put into pay envelopes.

Denies County Is Tardy.

Mr. Hayes implied that the county board was tardy in its road performances. This President Cermak denied, saying the county commissioners had done their part. He sent for Maj. George A. Quinlan, superintendent of highways, but in his absence he conferred with Henry Riedel, employment superintendent of the highway department.

"Why aren't we getting the roadway sites any faster?" he demanded.

"Ray Smith has a force of eight men at work calling on every owner whose property we want," Riedel reported. "Many have agreed to cede us the needed right of way, but after talking with other persons some have come to the conclusion that they could get money from the county for their land.

"That's ridiculous," Cermak declared. "They ought to be glad to have a wide road run through their property or in front of it. Their property will enhance in value.

"Put twice as many men on the job and get the conveyances. Let the property owners understand they can help themselves, the city, county, state and country by not delaying us on road building which will create work for thousands of men. Let me know the names of those who are trying to hold up the county and thereby injuring their fellow man and keeping up hard times.

Will Educate Citizens.

"I'll see to it they get an education in citizenship and perhaps the Getz committee can help influence them. We have all the draftsmen and engineers we need at work right now and what we want is the land for the roads."

President Cermak was asked if it wouldn't be possible to commence condemnation proceedings for the land, build the roads without awaiting the court's decision, and to let the courts decide later what compensation, if any, the owner should get. He said he didn't believe such a program would be necessary as the sites should be obtained without trouble if the owners understand what is contemplated.

Investigate Los Angeles' 16 Poison Liquor Deaths

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—An investigation into the sale of poisoned liquor which has caused sixteen deaths in twenty-three days in Los Angeles county was ordered today. William McKay, district attorney deputy, saw other county officers and promised to assign detectives to trace the source of poisoned liquor and wood alcohol.

Deaf Hear Again Through New Aid

Earpiece No Bigger Than Dime Wins Enthusiastic Following Ten-Day Free Trial Offer

After twenty-five years devoted exclusively to the manufacture of scientific hearing-aids, the Dictograph Products Co., Inc., Dept. 509M, 180 North Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill., has just perfected a new model Acousticon that represents the greatest advance yet made in the re-creation of hearing for the deaf. This latest Acousticon is featured by a tiny earpiece no bigger than a dime. Through this device, sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to subnormal ears with wonderful benefit to hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial for 10 days to any person who may be interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and convincing test. They will send you as well details of their special Christmas offer, which represents a saving of $10 in the cost of your renewed hearing. This offer expires December 10th. So clip this advertisement and send it to them with your name and address today! Advt.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Some fine writing from the pen of T. J. Grady, who spent years in seeking "evidence" against his wife, Elleen, with the aid of false mustaches, flashlights, and binoculars—was revealed yesterday in the trial of Grady's contested divorce suit before Judge Marcus Kavanagh.

"No ship could weather all storms, and as the sun has set, what matter if the moon lose its light?" wrote Grady to his wife on July 3, 1925, almost a year after she departed from their home. "I have to forget if I am going to be able to stand it." The letter was introduced by Mrs. Grady's attorney, John E. Grahen, when she was on the witness stand.

Mrs. Grady left their flat at 6224 Mozart street on Sept. 4, 1924, she testified. On the previous night, she said, Grady had waved a gun at her and, as she lay in bed, stabbed holes in the pillow close to her cheek with a butcher knife, then beat her with his fists. She had been to a movie with her 5 year old niece, and Grady, coming in shortly after her return at 9:30 o'clock, was of the opinion she should have been home at 9 o'clock, she asserted.

Letter Read in Court.

Another letter, written by Mrs. Grady to Robert J. Robinson, who was arrested with Mrs. Grady in a cottage at Bluff lake after Grady led a raiding party there, was read in court.

Attorney Edwin Hamilton, Grady's counsel, in the cross-examination of Mrs. Grady asked:

"Did you ever kiss Mr. Robinson?"

"Not that I know of," replied Mrs. Grady, a gray haired woman, who was dressed in dark blue.

"Well, you would know it if you did, wouldn't you?"

"I guess so."

"Well, did you?"

"No," she replied.

Attorney Hamilton then produced a letter which, he said, he would offer as evidence today, and asked her to identify her handwriting. She did. It was addressed to Robinson in Chicago from Kuntz lake, where she was vacationing.

"Be sure and save those d. f. k. for me until we meet again," he read. "What did you mean by d. f. k.?"

"I don't remember," she said softly.

"Wasn't it 'damn fine kisses' you meant?" the attorney asked sternly as Grady peered over his shoulder, alternately frowning and grinning at his wife.

"I guess it was," she said.

"And that was written to the man you had never kissed?" he asked.

"Well, I hadn't kissed him up until then."

"And," said the attorney with a sort of roar, "you signed yourself 'Cookie,' too, didn't you?"

"No, I didn't," Mrs. Grady replied firmly.

"Will you read that and explain to the court what this is if it isn't 'Cookie'?" the attorney shouted, laying the letter before Mrs. Grady.

"It's 'Corkie,'" she said, smiling.

She Explains the Name.

"O, just a little name I often called myself—because I was born in the county of Cork," she replied.

"No," she answered calmly.

As to the little episode of the bath ing party at Highland Park, concerning which Grady and a fellow sleuth testified, Mrs. Grady had another version. Grady and his companion had testified that with the aid of field glasses they had seen Robinson rubbing Mrs. Grady's back with a towel and Mrs. Grady rubbing Robinson's, after they had been swimming. But Mrs. Grady said that they wore bathing suits under old clothes and put the clothes on over the wet suits, she dressing on the beach, Robinson in the car.

Mrs. Grady's version of the raid also differed from her husband's. She and Robinson went to Grass Lake on July 31 to look at the lotus flowers, she said, and then returned to the cottage. They had been there only five minutes, she said, when, at about 8:30 o'clock, before it was dark, a loud hammering at the door was heard and a cry, "Police! Let us in!"

Robinson went to the door and she saw him surrounded by Grady and five others, most of whom had guns, she said. "Stick 'em up," Grady ordered, according to her testimony.

"At any time were you in bed in that cottage with Mr. Robinson?" her attorney asked.

"No," she replied.

Says

JULIAN W. CURTISS

President, A. G. Spalding & Bros.

"People of thirty years ago were well satisfied with their athletic equipment. Had the leaders in the industry been equally satisfied, baseball players still would be using small, board-like gloves; golfers still would be trying, vainly, to hit a gutta percha ball more than 150 yards; tennis players still would be patting the ball with mushy, slow, rackets. But these leaders sought Constant Improvement... developed marvelous new equipment for every game... and, as a result, lured new millions into healthy, enjoyable sport... People of thirty years ago were satisfied with their smoking, too. But, by adhering to an ideal of Constant Improvement, you have developed the Ultra Violet Ray Process in the 'Toasting' of tobaccos for LUCKY STRIKE. And with this great improvement in tobaccos, you have given smokers pleasure undreamed of thirty years ago."

ASKS JURY TRIAL FOR POSSESSING LOTTERY TICKETS

Just Bait for Suckers, Says Prosecutor.

Joseph White, alleged operator of a lottery in the offices of the Empire Finance company, 100 North La Salle street, was arraigned in State street court yesterday on charges of possessing lottery tickets and other paraphernalia.

Pleading not guilty, White demanded a jury trial. Before acceding Judge Edgar A. Jonas increased his bond from $500 to $1,500. At request of the police for additional time to investigate White's activities, Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen, presiding in judy court, Set Dec. 23 as the trial date.

The investigation to date, according to Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, disclosed that in this, as with many lotteries, the operators followed the old maxim: "Never give a sucker a break."

Report Slim Chance for Investors.

Detectives Louis Caparellie and Michael Casey, who raided the finance company's office on complaint of a Toledo citizen who came here to claim a $1,000 prize and was bowed out the door, found evidence, they said, that investors in the lottery had one chance in about 1,000 to win.

In the face of lottery tickets and memoranda which the detectives seized and which indicated the gamble was conducted in various parts of the country, White did not deny existence of the lottery. He merely contended that another employé of the finance company, since discharged, had conducted it while he (White) had no concern with it.

White described himself as general manager and part owner of the finance company. From lesser employés Prosecutor Ditchburne said he learned that White shared the profits of the lottery, directing them to the finance company's treasury in payment for stock.

"Purely a Sucker Game."

"From what we have learned so far it was purely a sucker game," Mr. Ditchburne declared. "The promoters called their game the 'Gold Bond' lottery, but might better have caled it a 'gold brick.'

"They had salesmen working on commission in various middle sized cities, peddling the tickets in cigar stores, pool rooms, restaurants, and to elevator operators and others in familiar contact with the public. The salesman, at the outset, kept 40 per cent of his proceeds for his own commission and was at liberty to make the best dicker he might with the subagents on their commissions."

The winning number combinations, Mr. Ditchburne said, were supposed to be based on figures of the Chicago bank clearings, with cash prizes ranging from $5 to $1,000.

Big Prizes Not Paid, Claim.

"They may have occasionally paid the small prizes, but the big ones apparently never," said Mr. Ditchburne. "We found one bundle of tickets, for example, which were marked 'N. G. Comparing the number on these with the combinations listed to win $1,000 we found them identical.

"We concluded that the bundle represented $1,000 prize winners and that 'N. G.' meant 'No Good.'"

The Toledo complainant, H. B. Biggs, coming here to collect on what he supposed was a $1,000 ticket, was informed that an error had been committed in printing the ticket. The promoters considered the same excuse adequate for any victim who came to complain, Mr. Ditchburne believes.

RAID 1,000 GALLON STILL.

Prohibition agents yesterday raided a 1,000 gallon recooking alcohol still at 1439 South 50th avenue, Cicero, and seized 400 gallons of moonshine alcohol. No arrests were made.

FRENCH PROTEST DEVELOPMENT OF GERMAN AVIATION

GENEVA, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A discussion of the wartime potentialities of peacetime commercial aircraft, with pointed reference by France to German prowess in the air, disturbed the calm of the preparatory disarmament commission today.

The discussion arose over a proposal to insert in the draft convention a provision for an annual report by the contracting governments on the number of commercial planes and dirigibles in their territory. The proposal was adopted without a negative vote, the United States and Germany abstaining.

Rene Massigli, French delegate, announced that his country considered civil aviation has been developing decidedly in an offensive direction and military aviation in a defensive direction.

Refers to German Plane.

He referred to a huge German airplane, which recently had been visiting European cities, and quoted a statement given a newspaper man that the plane was capable of carrying heavy armament and of dropping bombs on London, Paris, Brussels, and other European capitals.

It was generally understood at first that M. Massigli had reference to the giant German flying boat DO-X, but it later was explained he probably meant the large German plane G-33, which recently completed a tour of principal European cities.

Count von Bernstorff, chief German delegate, replying, said: "It is strange there would be so much interest in civil aeronautics when the commission has stated it has no desire to provide publicity for war materials in stock."

He quoted Commander Brocard, French aviation expert, as saying in the chamber of deputies: "We have no interest in using civil planes for war or bombardment. It would be folly to do so."

He declared Commander Brocard told the deputies such transformation would be a bad proposition from every viewpoint.

Germany, said Count von Bernstorff, cannot agree to any disarmament treaty which deals with civil aircraft.

Great Britain and Poland sought to extend the exchange of information on commercial aircraft to include the total annual expense and aggregate horsepower, but these amendments were postponed for later consideration.

Hugh S. Gibson, the American representative, said that while he was much impressed by the French and British arguments and recognized the importance of the fears expressed, the United States would prefer that the question of commercial aircraft be dealt with on another occasion.

"Now I eat.. drink..and stay Slender"—

—says Mrs. Bruno G. Andrews, 7042 Euclid Ave. Chicago

Slenderness with health, is her gift from Welch's

"At last I know what it means to 'eat, drink, and be merry'. For since I've been trusting my figure to Welch's, I can eat what I like—I'm so full of pep that it's a joy to be alive—and my mirror tells me I never looked better in my life."

Mrs. Bruno G. Andrews

Welch's, the family fruit juice—loaded to overflowing with health properties—now is the basis of the famous twice-a-day plan by which thousands of Chicago women are controlling their weight. It came from Europe originally—this idea of the "grape cure" as a means of controlling weight. At Baden-Baden, Montreux and other famous spas, the grape, with its mineral salts and neutralizing acids has been famous for years as a weight-control factor.

A glass of Welch's at breakfast and dinner, that's the simple formula! See how easily you keep your slenderness while the whole family gains new energy and abounding vigor. No other fruit juice contains these same health elements* in a form so easily assimilated.

Keep a bottle in the ice box always. Serve it in a variety of fascinating ways to guests and as a "pick-up" drink for the children. Many prefer it diluted with one-half water. Make certain that you get all the essential health elements.* Insist on pasteurized grape juice as processed by Welch's.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.

Reports of the proceedings of the preparatory conference on disarmament will not tend to encourage Americans who have been disquieted by the weakness of American diplomacy in recent years. Last week the British delegate, Lord Cecil, proposed the limitation of naval budgets as a method of limiting naval building. As Commander Frost points out, this plan would put the United States at a hopeless disadvantage as long as our high wages and building costs are maintained. If the sacred rule of parity were applied to budgets we could not build or maintain as many ships as Great Britain and what hope we have of eventual parity in naval power would go glimmering. The proposal was opposed by the American, Japanese, and French delegates, a minority of three against eleven headed by Great Britain.

The vote is not only predictive of our situation in the plenary conference, but significant of a continuing opposition of British and American interests in naval limitation. In spite of all the talk of Anglo-American coöperation, which the late conference at London was officially assumed to have advanced, British and American views of limitation repeatedly collide. The budget limitation proposal is only one instance at the present preliminary conference. Another quite as important was Lord Cecil's effort to reduce the limit on the size of capital ships fixed at the Washington conference. This proposal was not accepted owing to the opposition of the American and Japanese delegates, who were compelled, however, to agree that the standing figures be considered only as "indications" not binding upon the conference.

The significance of this pressure for reduction in the size of capital ships lies in the fact that, in proportion as the professional fighting ship of the first rank is reduced in power, the naval value of armed merchantmen increases. Britain's naval superiority has receded by reason of the building up of other navies, but an unquestionable supremacy would be restored to her by the abolition of all professional navies, since she has a preponderance of fast merchant ships which will not be overcome in many years, if ever. Furthermore, the superdreadnaught is a most expensive weapon and its retention gives naval advantage to nations which can afford to build it.

In short, in spite of much talk about parity and Anglo-American friendship, British policy persistently conserves British naval supremacy and its concessions to us are chiefly rhetorical or Pickwickian.

Meanwhile, Washington proceeds with its experiments in international altruism, bartering realities for formulas which it fails repeatedly to enforce, under the influence of a diplomacy that ignores practical and obvious national interests in the pursuit of some vague general beneficence. There has been no mandate for this course from the American people and it is resented by such of them as are conscious of its progressive weakening of our means of defending American interests throughout the world.

THE UNDER DOG.

Ground has been broken for the new city animal shelter which, at a cost of $55,000, will take the place of the old dog pound. There have been some animadversions against such use of money, although it comes from animal license fees, and the criticism is supposed to gain point from the sharp human needs of the times. Compassion, however, does not have its blind sides. A people indifferent to animal distress are not notably dependable in their response to human.

Compassion generally is derived from the imaginative quality of projecting the vision beyond the personal horizon into other needs than that of the ego, and that is the quality of civilization. It furnishes the incentive which gives a hand to the individuals needing it and thus it forms the basis of a responsible social organization. There may be a tendency to call it humanity when it deals with human beings and sentimentalism when it deals with animals, but it is noteworthy that the peoples in whom so-called sentimentalism is most noticeable have never revealed any particular weaknesses in their national fiber. The educated classes of England are the most solicitous in Europe for animal welfare. There is a constant row in England over methods of slaughter of food animals. The question hardly ever gets a public word in the United States, but sometimes one would get the idea that humane killing for the market is a greater question in England than the tariff. There is the same sensitiveness regarding the disposal of worn out English horses to continental abattoirs.

England is an animal loving country with great sentiment for wild and domesticated life. It includes the fox and badger hunt and the wholesale barring of game birds driven by beaters, but it is nevertheless protective, kindly, and, if it needs be called so, sentimental. It is not to be seen that this streak in English character ever stopped the push of the English people. It did not weaken their advance on the occupied or unoccupied regions of the world. It might be described as an aristocratic preference for the animal to the under dog man, but it seems to be true that it is a characteristic of civilization.

It is not a mark of primitive or sluggish peoples, in whom the ego is highly developed, possibly of necessity, in whom imagination is not active, and with whom achievement is little or nothing. There also the indifference to animal distress has its counter in indifference to human distress. Compassion, regarded as a quality of civilization in modern times, is not eclectic. The anti-dog citizens must consider that if there were not a general feeling against abuse of animals and for their kindly treatment there would probably be a corresponding lack of feeling as to human beings in distress and that the society in which these sentiments were found would not be energetic and imaginative, but sluggish and stupid.

LAW UNDER FREE GOVERNMENT.

While awaiting a report from the national commission on law observance and enforcement it is perhaps permissible to express the hope that the report will include a frank and forcible statement upon the relation of unwise legislation to the evils the commission has been studying.

This phase of the general problem, as we have repeatedly urged, has been getting too little consideration and discussion. Indeed there is a disposition to ignore it. Professional prohibition wishes it to be ignored for obvious reasons, since it derives great advantage in controversy from the uncritical acceptance of prohibition dogma. But apart from this minority of zealots and partisans, there is among more moderate and disinterested men the theory that all the sanction a law needs, or among good citizens ought to have, is from the political process of enactment. To dissent from this is to invite the rebuke of these theorists for encouraging not only disobedience to laws but the anarchistic disrespect for all law.

But to face realities is the first essential of progress, and the most unquestionable of these realities is that the "be it enacted" of a legislative body does not in fact either insure or always deserve observance or even enforcement. The history of free government, the progress to civil liberty, has been marked at great crises by disobedience to law, and there is nothing more certain even in our present relatively advanced stage of political evolution than that many laws are not and cannot be uniformly enforced by the agencies of government. In our country, notably, there are too many of such laws and of this multitude many are the result of the concentrated pressure of very small minorities, lacking any general support from the communities upon which they are intended to be imposed. Those latter are therefore not true expressions of self-government or representative law making. It is idle to expect for them that pious observance which an unrealistic and exaggerated theory of the sanctity of those political regulations we call law demands.

At the very foundation of the problem of law enforcement lies the problem of law making. If the latter is unrepresentative, if it does not express a consensus of our citizenship, there will not be that respect and that general observance which are essential to the successful administration of the law. So long as we shirk this truth efforts to improve the application of the statutes and exhortations to respect the abstract idea of government by law will be ineffectual. In a system of free, representative government no law will win obedience which is not in fact representative of the common conscience or the general sense of expediency. The notion that either the act of a legislature in any circumstances or even the vote of a mere majority of the people confers sanctity or compels observance upon any enactment is a fallacy which disregards the conditions of representative government and the inherent nature of law. The experience of free government, in fact the history of law under any system, exposes its unreality in the actual affairs of mankind in civilized society. Prohibition rests upon this fallacy and therefore cannot but fail.

COSTLY AND UNNECESSARY DELAY.

The protest of President Hayes of the Chicago Motor club against the failure of the county board to obtain rights of way necessary to the state program of road improvement will have the concurrence not only of motorists but of all citizens who wish to see every means used to put men at work. Mr. Hayes says that only $7,000,000 is under contract of a total of $19,000,000 set aside by the state for road widening and highway grade separations. Probably not much work could be done in bad weather on road widening, but grade separation involves concrete or stone construction which could go on. Yet it is the grade separation on which least has been done until two weeks before election.

Public improvements are almost bogged in official inertia and this is an illustration at a moment when the lesson is especially sharp. It is to be hoped Mr. Hayes' rebuke will bring action promptly. Better late than later.

Editorial of the Day

SPRINGFIELD'S GARDENS.

[State Register, Springfield, Ill.]

One of the best things this community does is to plant the cultural seed of love for flowers in the minds and hearts of children.

This is done to make their lives to bloom and blossom with happiness, refinement and constructive citizenship.

For this good work first honor must go to the Springfield Civic Garden association, of which the Hon. James M. Graham is president and Mrs. J. T. Knudson is vice president.

The city feels especially honored that Mrs. Knudson has accepted an invitation to address the convention of the Federated Garden Clubs of Illinois in Chicago this week. She is particularly competent to discuss the subject of junior gardening because she has directed the marvelous development of child interest in flowers in Springfield. Largely due to her activities, over three thousand persons attended the two day fall festival of flowers held in Springfield recently. Over three thousand children have given floral exhibitions and it is the proud boast of this city that Springfield has more children's clubs doing definite junior garden work than any city in the United States.

Through interest aroused by the Springfield Civic Garden association the school board, the newspapers and many other agencies are coöperating to promote this constructive devotion to a fine idealism and to practical community development.

The State Register cannot place too much stress upon the importance of this phase of community development. It means not only a more beautiful but a better city. It means a happier and healthier people and a finer citizenship.

HOW TO EARN WRINKLES.

MEN earn their wrinkles. So do women. There is more than one way to go about it. One type of wrinkles is earned by becoming obese and then reducing. The space just underneath the skin is a favorite location for the accumulation of fat. After reduction there is a surplus of skin, more than is needed for purposes of coverage. It arranges itself in folds.

There is no other way. These folds are called wrinkles. This is the type of wrinkling that shows on the neck particularly. Another type is a result of habitual contraction of certain muscles. It is very likely to follow habitual contraction of the skin muscles and those which are located near the skin and attached to it. If the muscles of a given area are habitually contracted in a certain way, wrinkles with an arrangement caused by this muscle action develop. These are the wrinkles across the brow and those around the mouth and the eyes.

Habitual frowning begets horizontal wrinkles across the brow. Squinting the eyes causes the radiating wrinkles on the temples and cheeks. Perpetual smiling causes upward curving cribs at the corners of the mouth. Perpetual gloom causes downward curving circles located near the same area. Firm closing of the jaws and compression of the lips beget wrinkles distinctive as to location and arrangement.

As to both of these types of wrinkles there is considerable possibility of repair or cure. Massaging, rubbing, the local use of ice and cold water, and exposure to snow, rain, and cold winds are of service. The use of creams and so-called flesh foods are of service in massage in lessening friction. There is no foundation for any claim that they act as flesh foods, whatever that may mean, or that they have any other specific action.

But treatment must be prolonged, as the stretching effect of fat and of muscle action has been continued for years. It can be overcome only by prolonged treatment. Wrinkles of these two types can be prevented. The checkered wrinkles of senility are another matter. They are caused by decadence of the elastic fibers of the skin as the result of age. The skin is low in elasticity, but unevenly so, and in consequence it greases and folds irregularly. It is this group of cases that the men who treat ductless glands claim to be able to help somewhat.

DIET APPEARS CORRECT.

Mrs. D. H. C. writes:

1. My baby is 4 months old, seems healthy and contented, and is gaining as he should. However, he rebels at cod liver oil, and when he does take it he usually throws it up. He often throws up his orange juice, too. Should I continue to give them in these circumstances?

2. Should he have water? I offer it, both by bottle and by spoon, but he doesn't seem to want it.

3. I am trying to train him in bowel habits at a regular time each morning. I have success by inserting a suppository of soap or soap stick for a very short time. Otherwise, the method is not effective. How long should one continue to depend on them?

4. I hold him up over my shoulder after each feeding and he belches a great deal almost every time. Is that as it should be?

REPLY.

1. If your baby is healthy, contented, and gaining as he should, your present method of feeding is agreeing with him even though he sometimes vomits. Change as little as possible.

2. Yes. He needs a little extra water, but not much.

3. Using suppositories does a baby little or no harm. It would be safe to pursue your present plan until the baby is old enough to vary his diet, say until seven months. At that, I think a daily suppository is too much to pay for the "house broke" habit.

4. Yes.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Chicago, Nov. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My attention has been called to an answer you gave recently about an "eight hour working law" for women in Illinois. Your answer was that there was such a law. Wasn't this an error? I am sure I have seen your answer about the ten hour law?

H. C. S.

An error. There is a ten hour law for women as to specified employments, which is enforceable.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My divorced wife has remarried. 1. How should my 12 year old son, who is living with his mother, address his foster father? 2. In case I should marry again how would the boy, who visits me once a week, address my wife? 3. Would it be proper for a boy of that age to address the persons mentioned by their first name? J. J. H.

1. As he and the people with whom he is living choose.
2. Same.
3. There is no legal objection.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MAY GET GAS LIGHTS.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—[Friend of the People.]—Will you please tell me when we will have street lights in this section, south of Higgins and east of Harlem? This is quite a new neighborhood, but fairly built up. The streets are in a deplorable condition and we must use a flash light when going out at night.

W. G.

Survey reveals the fact that there is an average of from three to four homes per block in this area, together with the fact that the streets are unpaved. Therefore, the installation of electric lights in this district is not justifiable. However, the department will be glad to consider this district for gas lighting just as soon as funds for this purpose are provided in the 1931 appropriation ordinance. MICHAEL J. KENNEDY, Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

BAN ON STREET PLAYGROUNDS.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What is the law concerning baseball and football playing in the street? J. R. R.

It is prohibited by city ordinance.

When Culture Got a Kick in the Pants.

When Frank Levington, one of our most eminent barristers, was plucked from the Notre Dame-Northwestern game last Saturday on the charge that the ticket he had paid perfectly good money for had been stolen the motor cop is quoted as saying to him and the friend who had accompanied him, "Come with me, youse guys." It was bad enough to be yanked from a thrilling football game and put in a prison cell for four hours, but what rankles in our mind is the uncultured remark of the Evanston policeman, "Come with me, youse guys." Evanston is the seat of a great university and the home of the W. C. T. U., which has struggled so manfully, that is womanishly, for the lifting up of the human race. Evanston has been called the Modern Athens in proper recognition of its intellectual and cultural attainments and yet one of its officials is permitted to go about and say, "Come with me, youse guys." What of the future of our language, what of our civilization if Evanston permits such a mutilation of our common speech? Much better was the remark of one of Chicago's society leaders the other evening, and Chicago makes no such pretension to elegance as Evanston, who said gayly to three or four of us at the other end of the room, "Hey! have you birds got all the cocktails you want?" It would seem to any person, whether they spent four long years in a college or graduated from the University of Chicago in five weeks, two days, thirteen hours, seven minutes and four seconds, that "Hey, you birds," is much more erudite than "Come with me, youse guys."

WACKER HYMN.

Oh for a job!
I sigh and I sob,
But nothing I do, plan or construe
Will get me a job!

I'd stand on my head if I could,
I'd wed Amie McPhree if she would,
I'd make apple sauce, I'd flirt with the boss
For a job.

I'd jump in the lake, but I swim,
I'd shoot Al Capone as a whim,
I'd grow thin or fat; I'd shampoo the cat
For the sight or the sound of a job.

I'd run a steeple chase or join the black race,
I'd fly to the moon in a day,
I'd encore sopranos, tune midget pianos,
I'd ride wooden horses, and witness divorces,
If some one would give me a job.

I'd sweep or I'd scrub, sell Mississippi mud,
Play stocks or wheel babies with glee;
Who's already blessed with a job.

EMILY C. SMITH.

TWO BIG SHOWS confront us, the Live Stock show here in Chicago next Saturday and Congress next Monday in Washington. Well, we'd rather go to the Live Stock show, we'd rather see horses and cows and sheep and things instead of lame ducks.

THE WARDEN of our large and commodious new county jail in telling of his plans Thanksgiving says that there not only will be plenty of turkey, stuffing, cranberry sauce, ice cream and cake for all the boarders in the institution but that by Thanksgiving noon radios will have been installed on every floor and going full time. O judge, if we are dragged before you in the next day or two hang us if you will, put us in solitary confinement in the dankest dungeons of our famous state donjon, but do not, we beseech you, send us to the county jail. A radio on every floor! Judge, we just couldn't stand it.

OH MERCY, MERCY! Look how hifalutin' the publishers have got to be—"We have the honor to announce," says G. P. Putnam's Sons in advertising the publication of Dickie Byrd's grand new book, "Little America." Gosh! we'll bet they make the book stores that send in orders for the book give five references, their birth and vaccination certificates and letters from their pastors.

A COUPLE of traffic policemen assisted a Presbyterian pastor in his morning services last Sunday. One read the Scriptures and the other offered prayer. If we had been the preacher we would have worried a little as we walked to the pulpit for fear one of the traffic cops would forget himself and say, "Hey, what's the hurry, whereineli do you think you're going?"

THIS IS GOING to be most alarming until we get used to it. The docs of the American Medical association now in convention in New York say they're going to adopt the idea of numbering every inch of the body and each one of the twenty thousand diseases we're subject to just as football players number the plays they use on the gridiron. Think of a doctor coming to see you when you're sick, feeling your pulse, looking at your tongue and then jumping back and shouting "17-8-4-23-4-11-65-2!" And then his assistant or some other doc rushes in and bellows "45-33-6-66-49-77!" And all the first doc is saying is that you look tired out and the second doc says he thinks you have dandruff and winter itch.

PENALTY.

Flames of remembered hell bank in her eyes,
The smell of fire about her garment clings;
She lives walled in by mobbing memories,
Deep in her heart outlived derision stings.

Immune henceforth to all indignities,
No longer Love and Hate together strive;
From the red depths of purgatorial seas
The drowning soul comes up but once . . . alive.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 25, 1914.

LONDON.—Unofficial messages from the war zone indicate the Germans have at last opened their crucial attack in an effort to break the allied lines and advance through northern France. "The allies have been attacked in force from Ypres to La Bassee," says a dispatch from northern France.

LONDON.—Frederick Palmer, war correspondent, just returned from Germany, said the food required to keep the Belgians from starving this winter would feed five army corps for a year, and any German governor who would divert that much food from Germany's supplies would have to reckon with German public opinion.

MEXICO CITY.—Serious disorder occurred in the capital tonight when a mob gathered in front of the national palace. Later the crowd marched to stores where arms and ammunition were kept, battered down the doors, and sacked the places of their contents. There was much shooting, but thus far, according to reports, the casualties are few.

CHICAGO.—The modern dances were given a clean bill of health by 50 club women who assembled in the offices of the city department of public welfare. It was the consensus that the programs of the municipal dances might include the fox trot, the waltz canter, and others "under proper supervision." It was suggested that the West Point rule of five inches between dancers would eliminate impropriety.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 25, 1900.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—"Be not disturbed; there is no danger from empire; there is no fear for the republic." In these words President McKinley, in his first public address since the election, replied to the charges made by his political opponents during the campaign. He spoke before the Union League club, the occasion being the celebration of "Founders' day."

CHICAGO.—Hostilities waged by members of the Woodworkers' union, on strike for three months, against nonunion men who have taken their places culminated in the murder of Harry Farress, foreman in John A. Gauger & Co.'s sash, door, and blind factory, 481 West 22d street. Farress was waylaid and shot to death on his way to work.

PARIS.—The reception to Paul Kruger by the people of Paris is bound to remain one of the most gloriously intoxicating events of history. The Parisians were in a frenzy of joy, despite the official warnings of possible disastrous results from such manifestations of welcome. The shrewd cabinet has feared the displeasure of England if the greeting of the Boer leader should be too enthusiastic.

MANILA.—The fortress of the insurgent chief, Geronimo, at Pinauran, which the rebels boasted was impregnable, was taken and destroyed by a picked force of the 42d and 27th infantry and troop G of the 4th cavalry, under Col. Thompson. Geronimo and most of the rebels escaped.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 25, 1880.

CHICAGO.—At a meeting of the Second Presbyterian church society, presided over by the Rev. R. W. Patterson as moderator, it was resolved to invite the Rev. John S. McIntosh of Belfast, Ireland, to the pastorate of the church. It is believed he will accept the call.

LEGHORN.—The steamer Ortigia collided with the French steamer Onkle Joseph near Spezia. The Onkle Joseph was so badly damaged that it soon sank with its 300 persons on board. Only about 50 of these were saved.

CINCINNATI.—Further details of the terrible poisoning case near Knoxville, Tenn., have been received. The marriage of Joel Hembric and Miss Jane Dale drew a large company of prominent families and was the social event of the year. After the ceremony a bountiful feast was spread. In a few hours lethargy overcame the company, and soon 27 were unconscious. Since that night six, including three young women, have died, and several others are near death. The cause was the use of arsenic by a blundering servant for salt in seasoning chickens.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE OPENING WEDGE.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—In these days when pessimism has become entrenched in the business arteries of the nation it is edifying to see THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE adhering to a program that is bound to erase from the mind of the American people that hesitancy to "buy now."

Contact with Chicago builders convinces me that the nation's industrial depression is greatly aggravated by the unsettled mental state of the people. They have become inculcated with a feeling that the morrow may bring some catastrophe. I may say this same mental turmoil existed during the war, when its promotion was due to the complicated home and business conditions developed by the conflict.

Today there are approximately 80,000 Chicago building tradesmen and laborers walking the streets in vain search of employment. Many of them have trod the pavements for the last sixteen months. These men are heads of households. They are an important unit in Chicago's purchasing power. They are employed in an industry classed by the leading industrial chiefs of the nation as the barometer of national prosperity.

Stimulation of construction activities is bound to be reflected in increased sales on State street. Today an opening wedge presents itself; it is in doing building repair and remodeling work now and during the winter months. Spring and its volume of construction will usher in a condition of much optimistic content.

I am advancing this communication in hope the idea will blend with the constructive program launched by THE TRIBUNE to retrieve business generally and place it back on a sound and normal basis. There is ample money available for this class of construction work. Success in this enterprise can be attained with the coöperation of THE TRIBUNE.

In behalf of the builders of Chicago may I take this opportunity to extend sincere appreciation and gratitude for the great constructive work you are accomplishing to restore business to normalcy? E. M. CRAIG,
Secretary Building Construction Employers' Association of Chicago.

PIONEER SQUARE.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Instead of that statue of a doughboy, why not erect in that triangle on Wacker drive near Wabash some monument commemorating the heroic deeds of the men and women pioneers who won the great Northwest territory to civilization? As near as can be determined from old records and maps, this small plot is the exact site of the west gate of the original Fort Dearborn. This gate marked, at that time, our western outpost, the farthest point to which we extended our authority and culture. As we have no memorial to the hardy pioneers, this spot, then, is the most fitting we could select.

We are going to build a handsome memorial to the world war in Grant park opposite the Buckingham fountain. We have no memorials or monuments to the revolutionary, Black Hawk, Spanish-American or other wars, so why not remember these also?

In every part of the city we have stock mail order doughboy statues flanked with rows of lights that make them look like filling stations or barbecue joints. If we put one of these on a busy thoroughfare like Wacker drive, we are apt to confuse strangers who need oil, gas, or sandwiches. Think of the accidents and traffic congestion that would ensue. I am for a monument to the pioneer and for calling this spot Pioneer square. JOHN J. RILEY,
President Chicago Veterans Council.

EXTRA HOURS.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Sears, Roebuck & Co. is one of the philanthropic organizations which asked that their employés contribute toward relief of the unemployed. In the notice which was circulated it was stated that for each dollar an employé gave the company would give a dollar also.

The week following this notice, the working hours were increased from 46½ hours to 48½. Each employé works two hours a week without pay, which would equal more than one day's pay at the end of the month. S. R. D.

AN OUTRAGED HOME OWNER.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—The article this morning stating that the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers has served notice on bankers and public officials that they cannot and will not pay the 1931 tax bills is, we hope, the start of a tax revolt. Such action deserves the unanimous support of every real estate holder in Cook county. The time has come for taxpayers to rise up in wrath against the confiscatory tax burden which is crippling the sale and value of Cook county real estate.

I am sorry to say that I am unfortunate enough to hold title in a small home in this county upon which the taxes have increased 75% since 1927. My case is probably typical of thousands; in fact increases in many instances have probably been much more than mine, but the point is that the burden has reached the limit. Is it any wonder we have such an enormous amount of run down buildings, vacancies reaching a staggering sum and apartment buildings in receivership? What an encouraging sight this is with the World's Fair in the offing! Who will want to buy real estate in this county? Certainly I am fed up on home ownership under present conditions and am going to dispose of my piece of earth the first opportunity I get. ONE OF THE HEAD.

COUNCIL DEBATES STATUS OF 7; TO DECIDE TODAY

New Committee Lineups Are Announced.

The status of seven of the eight Democratic aldermen elected to other offices on Nov. 4 remained unsettled yesterday, no action being taken at the meeting of the city council. However, the council voted to meet again this afternoon to take up the question of whether the aldermen may remain in the council until their terms expire or must resign when they assume their new posts.

It was agreed, however, that all the eight aldermen, whether or not they remain in the council, will today resign from the various committee assignments they hold. The council committee on committees last night drafted its new assignments to be presented to the council today.

Democrats Seek to Keep Jobs.

Six of the eight hold important chairmanships which the Democrats dislike to relinquish, and the party leaders in the council arranged to hold the meeting today so that the eight outgoing members can take part in the reorganization.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], who was elected county treasurer, is chairman of both the committee on committees and the local transportation committee, two of the most important committees of the council. Ald. A. J. Horan [29th], the new bailiff of the Municipal courts, is chairman of the track elevation committee. T. J. Bowler [41st], is chairman of the committee for traffic regulation and public safety. He was elected trustee of the Sanitary district. Dennis Horan [21st], also elected a Sanitary district trustee, is chairman of the streets and alleys and local industries committee. Ald. George Maypole [28th], who was elected to the state senate, is chairman of the conventions committee. Ald. Thomas F. Byrne [15th], newly elected Sanitary district trustee, heads the committee on police and municipal institutions. Ald. W. D. Meyering was elected sheriff.

Five on Financial Committee.

Dennis Horan, Maypole, George Seif, who was elected clerk of the Criminal court, Bryne and McDonough all are on the finance committee, the most important group in the council.

A. J. Horan has written his resignation and intended to present it to the council yesterday, but withheld it for today's meeting, when it will be submitted along with the resignations of the others from their committees.

Most of the other seven councilmen do not intend to resign until the last minute before they take their new offices, if it is held necessary that they must resign. The consensus was that they could wait until Nov. 30, the day before they assume their new jobs, and then send their resignations to the city clerk, instead of submitting them to the council.

Ald. Bowler said he did not intend to resign at all and would stay in the council until he was voted out. He said he had 185 measures for public improvements pending in his ward and did not want to leave his constituents without any representation.

The committee on committees' new assignments to be submitted to the council this afternoon are:

Finance committee—John P. Wilson [11th] to replace McDonough; Eugene L. Nusser [31st] for Seif.

Local transportation—James B. Bowler [25th], chairman in place of McDonough; James G. Coyle [17th] for Byrne; Frank R. Ringa [30th] for Seif; Arthur Albert [43d] for T. J. Bowler.

Gas, oil, and electricity—Charles S. Eaton [5th] for Meyering; Jeremiah P. Leahy [27th] for A. J. Horan; G. M. Roszcynialski [33d] for Seif.

Efficiency and economy—Joseph Cepak [22d] for D. A. Horan.

Railway terminals—Walter W. Morris [18th] for Meyering; Frank E. Konkowski [31st] for Seif.

Track elevation—John Toman [23d], chairman, to succeed A. J. Horan; McDonough was dropped and no successor named.

Buildings and zoning—Frank A. Sloan [26th] for A. J. Horan; George A. Williston [49th] for T. J. Bowler; Nusser was removed, having been placed on the finance committee.

Harbors and wharves—Meyering was removed and no successor named.

Schools, fire, and civil service—D. A. Horan and T. J. Bowler dropped and no successors named.

Traffic regulation—John Masem [48th], chairman, to succeed T. J. Bowler; McDonough and A. J. Horan removed and no successors chosen.

Public health—Meyering removed, no successor named.

Police—James G. Coyle [17th], chairman, in place of Byrne; Byrne and Bowler removed and no successors chosen.

Parks and playgrounds—John Wilson [11th], chairman, in place of Dorsey Crowe; Sheldon Govier [10th] for Meyering; W. W. Morris [18th] for Byrne; Bowler removed and no successor chosen.

Conventions—Nance for Meyering.

While five members of the finance committee will resign, only two places were filled, the committee on committees making known that it was seeking to cut the various committees down to a smaller and more workable membership. For this reason several other vacancies were not filled.

School Trustees Confirmed.

The council yesterday confirmed the appointment of Joseph P. Savage, William D. McJunkin, and Bolesław R. Kozlowski to the board of education. Mayor Thompson previously had announced his selection of Savage and McJunkin, but his selection of Kozlowski, a Polish druggist, had not been made known until the appointment was sent to the council. The council was almost unanimous in confirming the appointments. Ald. Sheldon Govier [9th] voted no, explaining that he believed Theodophilus Schmid, board member whose term expired, should have been reappointed. Ald. Frank E. Konkowski [31st] asked that his vote be shown as no in the appointment of Kozlowski.

Kozlowski was born in Poland 43 years ago. He was brought to the United States when he was a year old. He attended the public schools in Chicago and was graduated from Northwestern university. He is a member of the Polish National alliance, and was chosen for the school board as a representative of the various Polish groups of the city.

ROBBERS TERRORIZE STORE.

A half dozen customers in the dry goods store of Jacob Friedman, 356 East 51st street, were terrorized yesterday by three armed Negroes, who marched everybody into a rear room, then robbed the till in the office of $550 and fled.

RUMFORD
ALL-PHOSPHATE
BAKING POWDER

takes the place of sugar in the preparation of certain foods? This is one of the most interesting and important new uses of Rumford. Not that it substitutes for sugar in all cases—far from it. But in sweetening very acid fruits, one level teaspoonful of Rumford with one cup of sugar will produce the same results as when two cups of sugar are used. 11-30

In other words, this pure, all-phosphate baking powder neutralizes the acid to a marked degree,—a discovery with a very helpful effect on the housewife's purse, for sugar is a significant item.

Rumford may also be helpful when the question of too much sugar is important, such as in the diet of children or invalids. Send for the interesting free booklet, "Several New Things Under the Sun" and buy a can of Rumford today.

RHEUMATIC PAIN GOES WHILE YOU SLEEP OR NO PAY

A New York man has discovered a simple salve which, when applied to painful parts, started by rheumatism almost instantly modifies the pain. It is called Rhuma-Jell.

You spread Rhuma-Jell on lean and lay it against the sore, aching, swollen or inflamed parts just before going to bed. When you wake up the pain is gone. And the inventor is so sure you'll get this delightful relief that he has authorized druggists to refund the small price for Rhuma-Jell ($1.25) if it fails.

It's no good racking your system, upsetting your stomach and causing heart palpitation by swallowing harsh drugs in an effort to relieve rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago, sciatica or muscular aches.

Get Rhuma-Jell this very day at Walgreen's and other drug stores.

BRIDGE OPENINGS SHOW DECREASE OF 30 PER CENT

But Spans Still Claim 75 Days of Delay.

Loop bridges over the Chicago river were opened 31,712 times in the ten and one-half months ending Nov. 15, a decrease of about 30 per cent beneath the number registered during the same period last year. On Nov. 15, 1929, the downtown spans had made 45,486 openings. These comparative figures were made public yesterday at the office of City Harbormaster Charles J. Agnew.

Two factors operated to reduce the openings, officials said. One was the strict enforcement of a war department ruling extending the periods when the bridges must remain closed to accommodate rush hour pedestrian and auto traffic. Put into effect early in the summer, the new rules have tended to curb promiscuous bridge openings by inconsequential craft.

Lower River Level Factor.

The other element in the reduction was the fact that the water level in the river did not rise as high last summer as it did a year ago, when bridge clearance was sometimes reduced to less than fourteen feet, thus necessitating a number of openings for low boats that could ordinarily clear the bridge beams.

Although fewer in number, the 1930 openings consumed 108,855 minutes, or 1,812 hours, or nearly 75 days, lost to those waiting to cross the spans. In the same period last year 103 and a fraction days had been similarly lost.

The following table shows the 1930 openings to Nov. 15 as compared with other years, the last column showing the average number of minutes required for each opening in 1930.

Bridge.	1928.	1929.	1930.	Minutes.
Michigan	3,280	2,623	1,810	4.18
State	3,770	4,202	2,244	4.08
Dearborn	2,558	3,284	1,867	3.57
Wells	2,471	2,648	1,881	4.19
Clark	2,416	2,494	1,739	3.71
Franklin	2,504	2,658	2,039	2.82
Lake	3,029	2,964	2,350	3.59
Randolph	3,539	3,630	2,150	3.26
Washington	2,962	2,951	2,232	2.98
Madison	2,966	3,029	2,337	3.06
Monroe	2,975	2,950	2,218	3.08
Adams	3,133	2,890	2,228	3.60
Jackson	2,958	2,882	2,248	3.15
Van Buren	3,144	3,770	2,555	3.17
La Salle		2,611	1,814	3.82

With one exception the average number of minutes for each opening is higher for 1930 than it was in 1929. The exception is the La Salle street bridge, which was opened about 40 seconds faster, on the average, this year. One reason for the increase in time was that larger boats are coming into and leaving the river in ever increasing numbers.

Cost Mounts Each Year.

No estimate can be given of the probable cost of opening the city's fifty bridges for the entire year. In the last five years the expense has swelled each year and one prediction was given that the 1930 cost will continue the upward trend, inasmuch as some of the bridge tenders' salaries were increased. The following table shows the mounting cost in the last five years:

1925 ..... $701,731 1928 ..... $837,432
1927 784,219

The semi-monthly reports of bridge tenders note most often the names of four sand boats as calling for openings. They are: the Brazil, owned by the Marine Dredge and Gravel company; the Sandmaster, owned by the Construction Materials company; the Gilbert, owned by the Lake Sand corporation, and the American, owned by the American Sand and Gravel company but now operated by the Construction Materials company.

BARRETT NAMES 2 AIDS IN STATE TREASURER'S JOB

Edward J. Barrett, Illinois state treasurer elect, in Chicago last night announced the appointment of John Stelle of McLeansboro as assistant state treasurer and Mrs. Eva Batterton of Springfield as chief clerk.

Mr. Stelle is a business man in McLeansboro and it is understood that this will be his first political office. He is president of the McLeansboro Brick company and also of the Egyptian Dairy Products company, and is widely known in state American Legion circles.

Mrs. Batterton was an unsuccessful candidate for the office of state superintendent of public instruction.

COLDS and throat infections are rife now!

Adopt Science's Newest Protection, a "10-Second" Penetrating Antiseptic that Reaches the Hiding Germs!

Germs are active and vicious during the Winter months. Every exposure to crowds exposes you to infection! Attack usually comes through the mouth and throat. Take no chances. Be safe when you mingle with the crowds in street cars, theater and church. Rinse your mouth and gargle every morning and night with one part McKesson's Extol and three parts water. That will keep your mouth and throat clean and protected.

The "Ounce of Prevention"

Extol kills germs faster than any ordinary preparation yet known. And it reaches parts that other antiseptics miss. It penetrates the mucous membrane and reaches the germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of mucosa. Hence its action is complete and thorough. Extol is the best "ounce of prevention" you can use; but if you have already caught a cold or sore throat, it will relieve it in fast time. Extol is utterly harmless and most delightful to use. Also, it's economical. Costs less than other preparations and, as you dilute it more liberally, goes further. All McKesson Service Druggists and all independent drug stores sell Extol. Get a bottle today and be forearmed against Winter ills. Note the name, EXTOL.—a McKesson & Robbins product.

SENATORS VOW NOT TO ROCK THE FARM BOAT

Assure Legge a Free Hand This Session.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Congressional backing of the federal farm board in its grain price stabilization program seemed assured today following an all day conference of members of the board with the senate committee on agriculture.

Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the committee, announced following the meeting that sentiment of the ten members of the committee in attendance seemed unanimous in favor of supporting the board's policies. This was taken to mean that the committee members, many of whom opposed the administration farm relief legislation, will offer no obstructive tactics during the coming session of congress and will approve all requests of the board for appropriations. It is expected that the board, which already has received 250 million of the authorized 500 millions for its revolving loan fund, will ask for a large part of the remaining 250 millions in the coming session.

Parley Continues Today.

Senator McNary said that the conference, which will be continued tomorrow, did not reach the question of legislation such as the export debenture plan and other radical proposals to meet the agricultural situation. It seemed probable that the final outcome of the conference would be an understanding that the farm board should have a longer time in which to work out a solution of its difficulties and that it should not be embarrassed during the coming short session of congress by attempts to adopt the export debenture or other new schemes.

Heads of the three leading farm organizations were present and will inform the committee tomorrow that they are in agreement that no radical legislation should be attempted at the coming session.

Secretary Hyde suggested legislation amending the grain futures act to give more flexibility i methods of forcing compliance by the Chicago Board of Trade and other grain exchanges with suggestions of the department of agriculture with reference to rules and regulations.

Legge Tells Wheat Plans.

Mr. Legge expressed the belief that the board through its stabilization program can keep the price of wheat up to about 76 cents per bushel or the equivalent of about 22 cents above the Liverpool price, takir ; into consideration transportation costs. Mr. Legge said that the only permanent solution of the wheat problem seems to lie in a reduction of acreage.

OLD SPANISH LAW UPHELD AND U. S. LOSES 100 MILLION

Supreme Court Upholds Tax Statute.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A controversy rooted in ancient Spanish law was settled by the Supreme court today with a consequent loss to the government of more than $100,000,000 in taxes.

The highest tribunal ruled that income from community property in Arizona, Louisiana, Texas, and Washington may be reported for federal taxation by the husband and wife separately.

It was a sweeping defeat for the government, which had contended such income must be reported in a single return by the husband alone.

It had pointed out that with the tax rate increasing in proportion to the extent of income its revenue would be much greater under the single return.

The court ruled in an opinion by Justice Roberts, his first since his appointment to the beach, that in community property states whose laws give the wife a vested interest in the income from this source, she is entitled to make out her own income tax return.

It made no difference, Roberts said, that the husband had management of the property. The government had no sound basis, he said, for its contention that where the property was under the husband's control he must file one return for the total income.

The community property laws, prevalent over much of the southwest, were derived from old Spanish statutes once in force there.

ARCHDUKE FREED OF ONE NECKLACE CHARGE, BUT HELD

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—A jury in Judge Bertini's part of general sessions this evening returned a verdict of acquittal in the trial of Archduke Leopold of Austria in the theft of the so-called Napoleon $450,000 diamond necklace, the property of the Archduchess Marie Therese, a grandaunt through marriage. The jury was out five hours and fifteen minutes.

The archduke smiled when the verdict was announced and kissed the hand of Mrs. Alice Coburn of Sutton place, who had stood by him since his indictment in the necklace case.

A puzzled expression spread over his features, however, when Judge Bertini announced that Leopold would not be discharged and that the $7,500 bail on which he had been at liberty would be continued.

Assistant District Attorney Aurelio, who had presented the state's case, explained the court's action by referring to the second indictment, still pending, charging that Leopold participated in the theft of the $60,000 received from David L. Michel, a 5th avenue jeweler, at the time the necklace was sold.

Mr. Michel had paid the $60,000 to Charles L. Townsend, who posed as a former colonel in the British colonial secret service in Egypt, and Baronti Townsend, a writer, who had told persons in this country she was an Italian princess, born in Egypt. The Townsends, now fugitives, also had been indicted with the archduke for the alleged theft of the necklace itself.

At the close of the nobleman's trial on this indictment, after three days of prosecution testimony, Judge Bertini, on motion of Leopold's lawyer, eliminated the grand larceny and conspiracy counts, and sent the case to the jury on the charge that the archduke had "aided and abetted" in the theft of the necklace.

Leopold had offered no defense, when the prosecution closed the state's cast last Friday. At that time the court denied a motion to dismiss.

A MESSAGE EVERY MAN SHOULD READ

The Bald Facts on Baldness

Every man who is troubled with falling hair, dandruff, itching scalp or baldness is entitled to know the real facts concerning hair and scalp treatments. It is his privilege to know who are the most outstanding scalp specialists—the leaders in the field—and who can offer and assure him the most effective treatment.

Who are the hair and scalp specialists who have been established the longest? Who has the most offices? The greatest resources? And who has consistently produced the desired results for the longest period of time? Two words answer all of your questions—THE THOMAS'.

The Thomas' have been successfully treating all types of hair loss (falling hair, baldness, etc.) for more than 16 years. They are the recognized leaders in the field of hair and scalp culture. The Thomas' win new clients by satisfying present clients—by producing results—not by "free treatment" offers, "coupons," or other business hypodermics. They maintain forty-seven offices in the principal cities in the United States and Canada—all devoted exclusively to the treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

In charge of each of these offices is a skilled Thomas' scalp specialist—a man who positively knows the symptoms of the various causes of hair loss and knows how each should be effectively treated. Thomas' scalp specialists are not beauticians—nor are they physicians. They treat only specific disorders of the hair and scalp. These specialists are thoroughly trained in the Thomas' method of procedure and have the benefit of sixteen years of experience behind them. They are intrusted with the administration of the most scientifically sound scalp treatment known. Assisting these Thomas' specialists are 176 trained operators to administer more than a half-million Thomas' treatments each year.

The Thomas'—
A Reliable National Institution

The Thomas' are permanently established for the sole purpose of giving the finest and most effective scalp treatment known to science today. As your assurance that there can be no better, they maintain a corps of experts at the General Offices, 844 Rush St., Chicago, who are constantly experimenting and testing new methods. The Thomas' are always the first to give you the benefit of any new discovery. Resources of more than two million dollars further assure you that you are putting your hair and scalp problems in the hands of permanently and soundly established scalp specialists.

Your hair is too precious to waste experimenting with "general-curealls." It deserves only the most effective scalp treatment available—The Thomas'. Call at the nearest Thomas' office today for a free scalp examination and learn the truth about your hair and scalp. Fees for Thomas' service are within the reach of all—in fact, are actually lower than fees charged by others for ineffective imitations of Thomas' treatment. Come in today and learn the facts for yourself—without charge or obligation.

WETMORE ESTATE INVENTORY LISTS $600,000 STOCKS

Stocks valued at approximately $600,000 are listed in the inventory of the estate of the late Frank O. Wetmore, banker, which was filed yesterday in the Du Page county court at Wheaton. Mr. Whetmore was chairman of the First National bank of Chicago and the First Union Trust and Savings bank. He died Aug. 26.

The inventory does not list any real estate and only one item is listed under the heading of bonds. The bonds are estimated to be worth $25,000 Mr. Wetmore's personal goods are valued at $3,500. Deposits in the First Union Trust and Savings bank total $25,000.

Bulk of Estate in Stocks.

The balance of the estate consists of stocks. Under this heading only one item is considered desperate by E. R. Lewis, personal trust officer of the First Union Trust and Savings bank. One other item is regarded as doubtful.

The principal holding of the estate is $204,000 in capital stock of the First National bank of Chicago. Among other holdings with market value are:

750 Standard Oil of Indiana	$27,562
700 Chicago corporation	$28,175
300 William Wrigley Jr.	20,400
300 Allis-Chalmers Co.	11,850
300 Chicago, R. Isl. & Pac. R. R.	20,000
265 Middle Western Utilities	5,488
300 Crane company	34,800
200 Chicago & North Western	8,700
200 Montgomery Ward & Co.	5,050
400 Wilson company	2,800
200 American Steel foundries	6,100

Under the terms of Mr. Wetmore's will, $50,000 is left to his son, Horace O. Wetmore. A trust fund of $50,000 is provided for a grandson, Orville Chase Wetmore, whose father, bearing the same name, died while in service as an ensign in the United States navy.

The remainder of the estate is left in trust to Mrs. Wetmore. At Mr. Wetmore's death his estate was variously estimated to be worth from $1,00 ,000 to $2,000,000. Officials of the banks of which Mr. Wetmore was the head for more than ten years, said that they believed Mr. Wetmore had disposed of much of his property to relatives prior to his death.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Little General

ALBERT CROSS, GRAIN DEALER, TAKEN BY DEATH

Albert Eugene Cross, grain and provisions commission merchant, first vice president of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., a trustee of Northwestern university, died last night at Chicago Memorial hospital of heart disease.

Mr. Cross was born in Aurora in March, 1870, and began his career as a stenographer and teacher of his father's system of shorthand and entered the commission business in 1893. He was president of the firm of Cross, Roy & Harris, Inc., at 141 West Jackson boulevard. He also was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade and a former director and vice president.

He is survived by his widow and one brother and three sisters. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the home at 2837 Sheridan place, Evanston.

DELAY INQUEST INTO KILLING OF 3 IN HOLDUP

The inquest into the killing of three women and wounding of three men in a holdup gun battle at Henry Goetz's roadhouse, 7200 Archer avenue, early Sunday morning, was continued yesterday to Dec. 2 to give police more time to apprehend the slayers and the wounded victims to recover and testify.

Miss Alice Ward, 1432 North La Salle street, and Miss Mary Brining, 1809 East 71st street, were killed. Miss Mary Ganey, 7800 Emerald avenue, a patron, was wounded and died yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital.

MANUFACTURER SHARES BUSINESS WITH EMPLOYES

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Charles E. Miller, automobile tire manufacturer, has announced he will share his business enterprises with his faithful employés. The Charles E. Miller corporation has been organized and deeds to the corporation have been executed by Miller conveying the various properties to the employés.

Miller rode from Marion to Anderson thirty-five years ago on a bicycle and opened a small repair shop here. He invented a tire vulcanizer that was patented and later began the manufacture of automobile tires. He amassed a fortune.

Wife of Sam H. Harris, Theatrical Producer, Dies

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sam H. Harris, wife of the theatrical producer, died today after a brief illness. Mrs. Harris, who was Alice Nolan, was born in Brookline, Mass. With two of her sisters, Agnes and Lola, who are now Mrs. George M. Cohan and Mrs. Frank Otto, respectively, she made her stage debut at the Liberty theater in November, 1904, in "Little Johnny Jones."

PARACHUTES SAVE 2 IN AIR COLLISION; ONE IS UNCONSCIOUS

San Pedro, Cal., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Parachutes saved the lives of two navy pilots whose land planes collided 1,500 feet above and seaward of Point Loma today.

Lieut. Carl P. Pfingstad was towing a target sleeve for an individual firing exercise for Ensign John P. Burkhart, naval reserve, flying in a section of three planes.

The two planes came together on a turn and both dropped straight into the sea. Both officers jumped out with their chutes. Pfingstad landed safely and was rescued off the water in 20 minutes. Burkhart's parachute failed to respond readily and he was knocked unconscious by impact on the water. He may recover.

HUNT EVIDENCE OF STILL BLAST IN FATAL FIRE

Possibility that the fire which destroyed a two story dwelling and three garages and burned a man to death in Burnham early yesterday was started by a still explosion was being investigated by Burnham police last night. The fire victim was John Olesck, 50 years old, 13918 Chippewa avenue, caretaker and gardener for Johnny Patton, known as the "boy mayor" of Burnham.

Detectives searching the ruins in the rear of the home discovered copper coils and tanks and remnants of metal equipment which indicated they had been parts of a still. Half an hour later the apparent evidence had been taken away. Police suspicions were further roused by the disappearance of a family known only as Daniels from a flat in the rear of the structure.

The fire started early yesterday, a blast preceding it, and periled James Florek, delicatessen store owner, his wife and three children, and John Karenwich, his wife and three children. They were rescued by firemen. Olesck was burned to death in his room in the two story building. The property loss was $20,000.

2 PILOTS KILLED WHEN BIG PLANE CRASHES, BURNS

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—When their tri-motored Ford passenger plane caught fire 1,000 feet in the air today and crashed to the ground, the pilot, Myron E. Zeller, 24 years old, and his mechanic, Carl Wenzel, 30, both of Dearborn, were killed. Both men were married.

Ford officials were unable to assign a reason for the fire.

Owen Moore, 'Hoot' Gibson Facing Income Tax Charges

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Owen Moore and Edmund "Hoot" Gibson, film actors, were charged with owing Uncle Sam back taxes today. Liens were filed in federal court demanding $2,411 from Moore on his 1927 income and $3,407 from the film cowboy for last year's income tax.

SALESMAN FOUND DEAD.

Mrs. McPherson Said to Suffer Serious Collapse

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—The Rev. Aimee McPherson, who was brought from a railroad train to her home on a stretcher, today was said to be suffering from a serious physical collapse. Guards surround her home, adjoining Angelus temple, and devoted members of the evangelist's flock are stationed along nearby streets to request silence in traffic. F. C. Winter, her business manager, said Mrs. McPherson had been unconscious much of the time since her train reached Pasadena yesterday. Thanksgiving services at the temple have been canceled.

OFFICIALS HONOR RETIRING CHIEF AT LAKE FOREST

Twenty-five guests, including officials of Lake county and prominent residents of Lake Forest, attended a testimonial dinner and farewell party last night in the Deerpath inn for Lester Tiffany, who is retiring as police chief of Lake Forest to become sheriff of Lake county.

Speakers congratulated Tiffany on receiving more than 90 per cent of all votes cast in Lake Forest and said that Lake county was fortunate in having a sheriff of known courage and integrity.

Those present included States Attorney A. V. Smith, Circuit Judge Elect Ralph J. Dady, Circuit Judge E. D. Shurtleff, Probate Judge Martin C. Decker, County Clerk Lew A. Hendee, Probate Clerk John Bullock, Circuit Court Clerk L. J. Wilmot, Recorder of Deeds L. O. Brockway; chairman of the Lake county Republican central committee, Max Przyborski; State Senator Ray Paddock, and Frank Tiffany, who will be the new Lake Forest chief.

M. H. McGovern's Will Gives $135,000 to Charity

Charitable bequests of $135,000 are made in the will of Michael H. McGovern, retired contractor, which was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. Mr. McGovern died Oct. 28 in a sanitarium at Milwaukee. The estate, valued at $450,000, is left in trust to the widow. Upon her death part of the estate will go to the following institutions: The Sacred Heart Home of Little Sisters of the Poor, $50,000; the Epiphata School for the Deaf, $25,000 St. Vincent's orphanage, $20,000; the House of the Good Shepherd, $25,000 the Sisters of Mercy, $5,000, and the Catholic seminary at Mundelein, Ill., $10,000. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to Joseph McGovern, a nephew, and other relatives.

DOGS CAPTURE STORE BANDIT, ROUT 3 PALS

Rover and Buster, the two St. Bernard dogs of Joseph Sielski, last night captured a bandit and held him until the police arrived.

With his wife, Pauline, Mr. Sielski was waiting on three customers in his grocery and meat market at 5317 Belmont avenue, when four youths entered. Each was armed with two revolvers.

"This is a stickup," said the leader. "Get into that back room."

The Sielskis and their customers elevated their hands and started walking toward the door leading to the rear of the store. As one of the bandits opened the door, the dogs leaped out and lunged for his throat. His three companions fled. The dogs cornered the robber and he dropped his guns, crying, "Help!"

Mr. Sielski recovered the guns, commanded the dogs to "Hold him," and telephoned the Cragin police station.

The robber said he was Harry Schroeder, 15 years old, 1935 Wabansia avenue. He said it was his first attempt at robbery and that his companions were strangers to him, but the police doubted this.

THANKFUL

are they who know VITALIS
. . . and its marvelous benefits!

EXPRESSIONS of gratitude from those who have brought their hair back to health and beauty . . . after they had "given it up" . . . are a great thrill to us. It's a satisfaction to be helpful to so many!

And VITALIS does more than help. It does all the work! Just think how simple it is to take complete care of your hair . . . by applying VITALIS twice a week. It retards falling hair . . . counteracts dry scalp . . . relieves dandruff and dresses the head in a smart youthful way.

Be thankful for a pleasing personal appearance . . . and for VITALIS that does much to create it!

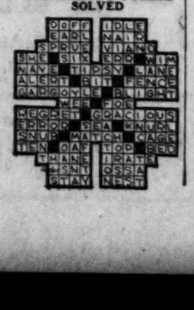
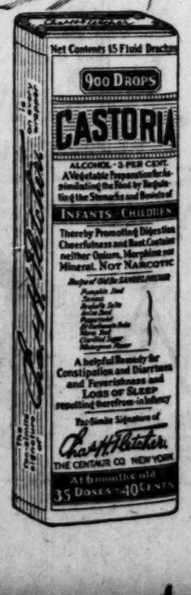
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



If BABY HAS COLIC



COLIC comes suddenly. Your first intimation that something is wrong may be a warning cry in the night. If you have a bottle of Castoria handy you needn't worry, for a little of this pure vegetable remedy will soon have baby his happy self again; let him go back to sleep.

Castoria is always the sensible thing to give an ailing child. When a child is restless, fretful, with coated tongue, bad breath and no appetite, it is a careful mother's standby. Most mothers give Castoria an important place in their homes. Ready for sour stomach, constipation, or upset. When buying Fletcher's Castoria always look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. This identifies the genuine product.

Rheumatic Happy; Conquers Torture

German Specialist's Prescription Amazes Hospitals and Physicians

So many thousands have found quick relief from neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago and rheumatism thru Nurito that it has now become the standard relief throughout the world. It was discovered by a German Specialist famous for the real speed at which his own prescription banishes pains and aches. He has finally been persuaded to place it at the disposal of the general public through Walgreen and Economical drug stores everywhere. Nurito contains no opiates or narcotics and is absolutely harmless. If the very first three doses of Nurito do not stop the most intense pain even of many years' standing—your money will be instantly refunded.

If you want to feel again the joy of living, banish needless agony, and sleep soundly at night, go at once and ask to try Nurito under this positive money-back guarantee.

BERLIN CHARGES POLE TERRORISTS KILL 6 GERMANS

Upper Silesian Election Marked by Battles.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRESLAU, Germany, Nov. 24.—Six Germans have been killed during the last 48 hours in Upper Silesia by Polish "old time insurgents" to scare the Germans from casting votes in the election of the Polish senate and the Silesian diet, according to reports in official German quarters tonight.

At Golasowic, in the district of Pless, a battle was fought between terrorists and German farmers, who organized self-defense groups. One Polish policeman was killed. The Poles arrested twenty farmers.

Schoolhouse Is Besieged.

The battle was caused, the Germans say, by Poles who laid siege to a German school, preventing the children and teachers from going home at noon on Saturday. Finally at 5 o'clock they withdrew. The farmers organized defense groups and when the terrorists returned the battle ensued.

The German government recently asked Warsaw to investigate the alleged terroristic activities of the old time insurgents. The Germans charge that the complaint was ignored. Scores of members of the former German "self-defense corps," which battled in upper Silesia in the days of the Polish insurrection, are near the border, anxious for an opportunity to cross it and help the upper Silesian Germans, who are said to favor an uprising against the Poles. German officials along the border are doing everything in their power to send the defense corps men back to their homes.

League Investigating.

Dr. Felix Calonder, Swiss, appointed by the league of nations as arbiter to protect the rights of the Poles and Germans in upper Silesia, has spent the last three days investigating conditions in the district.

The German cabinet met today to discuss protective measures for the Upper Silesians. The cabinet will await the detailed report of the German consul-general at Kattowitz before deciding in what form to lodge a protest with the league of nations and the powers represented in the league council.

Pilsudski Party Wins.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Nov. 24.—The senate elections yesterday resulted in the Pilsudski party securing 75 seats, the Socialists 16, the Nationalists 12, the Minorities 6, and the Christian Democrats 2. Marshal Pilsudski's party is now in complete control of both houses, with sufficient majority to change the constitution. This party also has the power to nominate the future presidents. The Silesian diet elections gave the government party 19 seats, the Korfantyists 19, the Germans 7, and the Socialists 3.

GUEST UNAWARE AS MANAGER OF HOTEL IS ROBBED

Miss Elaine Sezanko, a resident of the Sheldrake hotel, 4518 Clarendon avenue, was writing a letter at a desk within ten feet of Arthur Higgins, hotel manager, when he was robbed of $90 last night. She was unaware of the holdup until the robber had left. Higgins was talking with John Knox, colored bell boy, behind the hotel desk when the man entered.

"Pull out that telephone cord," the robber told Higgins in a quiet voice, pointing to the switchboard, "and hand over all your paper money."

Russian Chief "Drops in" on Italy for Friendship Talk

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 24.—Soviet Russia and Fascist Italy communed tonight in Milan, with Maxim Litvinov speaking for the former and Dino Grandi for the latter.

The two foreign ministers arrived mysteriously and unannounced at the industrial capital of Italy late this afternoon. Litvinov dropped in from Geneva, presumably en route to Moscow, but without any previous announcement of his intention to see Sig. Grandi. Sig. Grandi went from Rome with no trumpeting, and was on the station platform when Litvinov stepped off the train. The pair immediately went into a two hour huddle, which lasted until midnight.

Discuss Political Questions.

To explain the meeting, only the following cryptic communique was issued in Rome tonight:

"The two statesmen exchanged ideas on political and economical questions of interest to the two countries, and development of relations between their countries."

The exact nature of the "development of relations" is their secret, and since Italy abandoned her previous course at the preparatory disarmament conference and has gone over boldly to the Russian-German camp, there will undoubtedly be anxious guessing in a number of capitals tomorrow.

Revolt Rumors Continue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—THE TRIBUNE correspondent on the Polish border reports that news from Minsk states heavy fighting has taken place in Moscow, in which 2,000 infantrymen and 10,000 cavalrymen took part. On the railroad lines between Moscow, Orel, Smolensk and Ryazan only military trains are running. Heavy detachments of infantry are reported to have left Moscow yesterday and today. Warsaw reports late tonight that all trains from Russia arrived today without a single passenger aboard.

Trial of Eight Opens Today.

MOSCOW, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Eight men accused of plotting with "capitalist" powers to overthrow the soviet government are to face trial in the house of columns tomorrow, but they have been virtually convicted already and hundreds of resolutions demanding the death sentence have been forwarded to the court from all sections of the republic.

The proceedings are to be broadcast, accommodations have been provided in the courtroom for staffs of foreign correspondents and thousands of one day tickets have been issued so that workers might alternate in hearing the trial.

In detailed charges against the eight men the soviet Supreme court and the commissar of police have named former President Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand of France, England's "Lawrence of Arabia," and outstanding statesmen and financiers of half a dozen nations as parties to the anti-soviet "plot," but there has been no indication as to how far the trial itself may go in attempting to connect these figures with the intrigue.

Judge Revokes His Stay Granted Condemned Slayer

Leon Brown, last of the trio of colored slayers of Martin French, Negro guard at the Franklin Trust and Savings bank, is scheduled for electrocution on Nov. 28 as a result of an order issued yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams of the Criminal court. The judge last week allowed a stay until Dec. 8. It developed yesterday that Judge Williams at the time did not know that the Supreme court only a few hours earlier had refused to review the insanity hearing. Lafon Fisher and Leonard Shadlow, the other members of the robber gang, have already been executed.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(Adv.)

BEWARE OF 'GANG FASCISM,' DEAN WARNS PASTORS

Urges Churches to Enter Politics for Clean-Up.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Criminal Fascism, stupid respectability among large groups of Chicago voters, and dangerous and widespread political indifference are factors that debauch the city's politics. This belief was voiced yesterday by President Shailer Mathews of the Chicago Church federation and dean of the University of Chicago divinity school, at the regular monthly ministers' meeting sponsored by the federation. Four hundred pastors heard the address of Dean Mathews, who demanded that the churches enter municipal politics.

Dean Mathews emphasized that Chicago soon will be electing a mayor. If decent people cannot be aroused to moral issues involved in the mayoralty contest "they deserve the sort of government they now have and will get," he asserted.

"Unless we have a mayor above suspicion and a city government that is unafraid of honesty, and a respectability that refuses to profit by tax fixing and the trade of lawbreakers, democracy will have passed from Chicago," the speaker said.

Says People Must Choose.

It is a choice between democracy or criminal Fascism for Chicago, Dean Mathews contended. He asserted that there are political parties at work in the municipal election, but that there is no issue between them.

"The real issue is as to whether government in Chicago shall become a Fascism supported by bootleggers, brothel keepers, gamblers, and racketeers, or whether it shall be a government of the people, by the people, and for the people," said Dean Mathews.

"The greatest danger Chicago faces is the civic indifference of respectable citizens. It is more dangerous than gunmen. The gunman knows he is a criminal and he knows that if the good citizens could show good sense he would be behind the bars.

"Respectability is more dangerous than grafting politicians. The grafting politician knows that if good citizens have good sense he will be behind the bars.

Assails Apathy of Voters.

"The very people who profit most from democracy see no moral responsibility in citizenship. They would rather be shaken down by a racketeer than shake up the police department and the city hall. They see the need of employment exploited to get new millions for their masters to spend. They see the relief of needy prostituted to political advantage.

"They will not go to the primaries, but stand by the roadside to see their overlords troop by. They dare not be anxious for reform because they are buying booze from the underworld and are getting tax reductions from underworld Fascists.

"The underworld knows that if the hundreds of thousands of persons associated with religious bodies were to carry their ideals into politics we would have democracy. The underworld Fascist would be on the run; the grafting official would no longer prostitute charity; the police department would not protect millionaire brothel keepers; judges elected by the underworld would be impeached. It is no longer merely a question of prohibition; it is a question of whether we shall have democracy or underworld fascism."

At a meeting of the trustees of the church federation at the Hotel La Salle after the minsters' meeting, the political program of the churches was discussed.

Wrecked Plane of Three Missing Flyers Is Found

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Reports here tonight from White Horse, Yukon, said Pilot E. L. Wasson had discovered the wrecked plane of Capt. E. J. A. Burke and two companions, missing since Oct. 11, in the headwaters of the Llard river in the Yukon territory.

NAB MAKERS OF BAD GOLD COINS AFTER 18 YEARS

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 24.—(AP)—It took eighteen years but United States secret service operatives say at last they have uncovered the source of counterfeit $10 gold pieces circulated in this region at frequent intervals and with baffling cunningness.

William H. Davenport, head of the United States secret service office here, announced two men were under arrest in St. Joseph, Mo., and that equipment for making the coins had been confiscated.

Davenport took over the unsolved mystery in 1921 after his two predecessors had filed away all clews and information without clearing up the problem.

The first arrest in the old case was in January, 1913, when Ben Howard was found with spurious $5 and $10 gold pieces and sentenced to two years in the Leavenworth prison. Efforts to find the source of the money failed, however.

NIBS PRICE RESIGNS AS CALIFORNIA FOOTBALL COACH

AVOIDS ALUMNI CRITICISM OVER LOSING SEASON

Asked to Continue as Cage Leader.

NIBS PRICE.

"My resignation was due to my belief that it was the only way to prevent the dissension that was bound to follow the present unsuccessful football season," Price said. "No coach can hope for success without the support of public opinion as represented by alumni.

Alumni Support Lacking.

"Since it has been made apparent that their support is lacking in my case, no other course consistent with the good of the university was open to me but to resign.

"I desire to express my sincere appreciation for the loyalty of my staff and of the boys whom I have had the privilege of coaching. To my successor I wish the utmost success."

The executive committee, whose action is final, voted to pay Price his salary for next year.

The athletic committee was directed to obtain a new coach and instructed to try to retain Price as basketball coach. Price's resignation also included his withdrawal from basketball and other sports. He had turned out championship basketball teams.

Succeeded Andy Smith.

The California coach took over the reins in 1926 upon the death of Andy Smith, whose "wonder team" was the sensation of the Pacific Coast conference some years ago.

Price came to California from San Diego, where he taught the fundamentals of football to Brick Muller and other California stars.

This season California has lost four conference games including a 41 to 0 defeat by Stanford last Saturday.

Purdue Victory Bell Is Found at Roadside

Wingate, Ind., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—When the University of Indiana football team upset Purdue Saturday the happy Hoosier rooters took more than the traditional old oaken bucket back with them. A bell found by the roadside near here today on a specially constructed auto trailer was identified tonight as the time honored Purdue victory bell, which had been taken to the Ross-Ade bowl Saturday preparatory to the expected victory over Indiana.

It is believed that Hoosier sympathizers attached the bell in the general excitement following the game and towed it here, where the trailer was accidentally uncoupled. A delegation of Purdue students came here tonight to recover the bell.

Well, Anyway, This Hunter Says He Shot This Deer

SAULT STE. MARIE, ONT., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Mr. M. Houseman of Grand Rapids, Mich., shot a deer. That's his story and he's going to stick to it.

He tramped many miles during the hunt. The bucks were elusive. His feet were getting sore, and he was becoming disgusted. He had about decided it was a useless hunt when a big buck poked a foolish head through the trees. Mr. Houseman let the buck have it between the eyes, and the buck immediately became deceased.

Mr. Houseman, in fine fettle, dragged the deer to his automobile and tied it on the running board. "A good day's work," said Mr. Houseman to himself. "I am, indeed, a huntsman of no mean ability."

With the deer lashed to the running board, he drove proudly up in front of a Soo restaurant, for he was hungry. He went inside and ate at considerable length.

When he returned to the car he discovered that some scoundrel had stolen the dead deer.

That is Mr. Houseman's story, and he intends to stick to it.

INDIANA NAMES JOE ZELLER FOR TRIBUNE AWARD

East Chicago Guard Is Praised by Page.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Joe Zeller of East Chicago, guard on the University of Indiana football team, today was named by his teammates as the most valuable player during the 1930 season. This makes him the Indiana candidate for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S most valuable player award for 1930.

Coach Pat Page praised the work of Zeller in the following words:

"Joe is the most inspiring lineman we have had in a long time and he reminds one of the leadership of Mathews, Randolph and Unger of past Crimson teams. He loves a real battle. All we need is eleven men like him and Indiana will be riding the crest. His actions speak louder than any words. He played every minute of every game this season.

He's Versatile Athlete.

"Zeller is one of the most versatile players Indiana has had in recent years. He plays equally well in the line or in the back field. He is recognized as a guard. In his freshman year he began as a full back. Starting his career with the varsity he was used at end. In the last two games of 1929 he was used at guard and showed his true ability. This season he worked at guard until the Purdue game last Saturday when he was shifted to end.

"Last spring we began developing Zeller as a punter. In the Purple game he got away with several good boots. He is a junior and has great prospects for an even better year next season. He is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds."

Coach Page included Paul Jasper, George Ross, Charles Brubaker, and Ed Hughes as other players who were valuable during the last season. Jasper today was elected honorary captain of the team. He is from Fort Wayne, Ind.

"Jasper, senior tackle, has stood out for the last three years with his steady play," Page said. "He is 6 feet tall and weighs 178 pounds. He showed up particularly well in the Purdue contest with his fine tackles and all around defensive work.

"Ross, senior back, has shown up brilliantly in the last three seasons. This year lightweight blocking by his teammates prevented him from carrying the ball in an impressive manner. However, his passing and punting were excellent.

Brubaker Brilliant.

"Playing at quarterback for three seasons, Brubaker at times has been brilliant. He was especially good in open field play, in handling kicks and passes.

"It was Hughes' kick following the touchdown that gave Indiana its victory over Purdue last Saturday. In his sophomore year he scored a place kick that gave Indiana a 10 to 7 victory over Oklahoma. In his junior year he scored a field goal that won over the Iowa Reserve team by a 9 to 6 count. Although injuries kept him out of the lineup for the major part of his senior year, his masterpiece came with the successful boot against Purdue."

Carideo Hereby Is Nominated Notre Dame's Most Valuable

BY ARCH WARD.

Fortunately or unfortunately, depending on your point of view, Notre Dame is not a member of the Western conference. Consequently its football men are not eligible for THE TRIBUNE'S most valuable player award.

But if we are not out of order we would like to nominate one of Rockne's 1930 pupils as the most valuable man on any team, conference or nonconference. His name is Frank Carideo and since he came to the front Notre Dame has won 17 straight football games, the victims including the outstanding elevens of the Pacific coast, Western conference, and Atlantic seaboard.

Maybe our appraisal of Carideo's worth is too inclusive. But every scriptor footballicus is entitled to make one rash statement a season. Not a few of us exceed that quota. At any rate, the above is our official one for 1930, stand or swim, sink or fall.

Never did Carideo shine more brightly than in last Saturday's game against Northwestern. Notre Dame, for the first time in two years, took a trimming for two quarters. But at no time did Carideo ever let the game get out of his hands. He was the master strategist all the way. His leadership was reflected in the play of his team.

Notre Dame won the game not because it had eleven lads who outplayed eleven stalwarts representing Northwestern. It won because it was equipped with better weapons. And it was Carideo who knew when and where to use them.

Northwestern, with the exception of two or three plays, accomplished what nobody thought it could do—stop Notre Dame's running attack. Notre Dame achieved what no other Northwestern foe had been able to do—break up the Purple's forward passing game.

The major offensive of both teams, therefore, was impotent. But Notre Dame had versatility. It had pass plays that Northwestern found hard to fathom. Carideo used them to superlative advantage. It was no fault of his that two of them failed when successful execution would have meant touchdowns.

Add to Carideo's brainy generalship his remarkable punting and you have something to talk about.

18 YEARS OF RIVALRY.

This is the week of the most interesting and the most enduring of intersectional football rivalries—Notre Dame versus Army. It will be played at Soldiers' field before a crowd of 110,000, perhaps more.

FRANK CARIDEO.

Were Notre Dame's foe any one else than the Army the game would be an anti-climax for the Irish. They had been brought along for three or four weeks with the Northwestern game as an objective. Rockne could afford to do it, because he knew it would require no special effort to keep his boys keyed up for the Army.

This will be the eighteenth game between West Point and Notre Dame. The series started in 1913 and has continued without interruption except for 1918, the war year.

For 18 years Notre Dame has regarded the Army as its most important foe. Since severance of relations with the Navy the Army has held Notre Dame in similar esteem.

Ghosts of past titans will hover above Soldiers' field Saturday as the modern sons of Notre Dame and the United States Military academy carry the old story a few lines farther. Famous athletes have fought to exhaustion in the interest of its perpetuity. Their glittering deeds marking the ebb and flow of past struggles spangle some of the grandest chapters in football history.

No Army man will forget the work of Oliphant, Jones, Breidster, Garbisch, Wilson, French, Hewitt, Harding, Murrell, and Cagle. And take a look at this parade of Notre Dame men as they go passing by: Rockne, Dorais, Eichenlaub, Phelan, Gipp, Brandy, Mohardt, Crowley, Stuhldreher, Miller, Layden, and Flanagan.

Those boys out on the turf of Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon will remember only one thing, that it is Army versus Notre Dame. The rest of the world can go by.

Cub Chief Ends Shopping Tour with No Purchases

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

As far as can be learned, William Veeck, the Cub president, accomplished nothing during a week of quiet wandering around the eastern half of the National league circuit.

JIM BOTTOMLEY.

He was back in his office yesterday and there was hope that an interview would reveal that an important player transaction of some kind had been put under way, but to a question along that line his reply was a mere "I talked with some of the eastern owners but we didn't get around to the subject of trades. However, I am expecting something inside a few more weeks."

In the past whenever the Cub chief made unexpected journeys he started things which developed into important items. There were the Cuyler and Hornsby purchases, for instance. This may have been another one of those trips, denials notwithstanding.

The market is still bearish on the possibilities of the Cubs getting Jim Bottomley from the Cards, regardless of what kind of a deal they might make with one of the eastern members. Manager Hornsby has already told the officials of the St. Louis club that he likes Bottomley as a player and the remark wasn't made without cause. The recent purchase by the Cards of Collins, the star first sacker of the Rochester team, was accepted as proof that Bottomley is going to be moved some place.

The Cincinnati club also is reported ready to bait a hook for Bottomley's services, but the difficulty is that, so far, the Reds have been unable to offer any material the Cardinals can use. This difficulty might be adjusted by the Cubs taking a pitcher from the Reds and giving a player to the Cards to compensate the latter for sending Bottomley to Cincinnati. A three cornered affair such as this has been rumored. The Cards would welcome an outfielder.

Both President Veeck and Manager Hornsby will attend the National association convention at Montreal next week and might consummate purchases of one or two promising men now in the minors. From there they will go to New York to attend the major conference and that's when the deals with other National league clubs will be made, if ever.

SHAMROCKS LOSE STAR, BUT BEAT MILLERS, 3 TO 0

Dennenay's Hand Broken in Collision.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Minneapolis was unable to match the Chicago Shamrocks' speed tonight and dropped its second American Hockey league game, 3 to 0. The game was costly for the Shamrocks as they lose the services of Dennenay, whose hand was broken in a collision with Coutu in the second period.

Minneapolis held the Shamrocks for the first 15 minutes, but faded under their drive and Dennenay scored on a solo rush, which was closely followed by a goal, Clayton to Brydson.

The Shamrocks played a safe game in the third period, going down the ice only when an opening presented itself. Near the end of the period Clark, who was carrying the puck toward the Minneapolis goal, stopped and skated across the rink and started what promised to be a free for all fight. The outcome of the fight cost Clark and Coutu a match penalty.

Millers Start Drive.

With two Chicago men in the penalty box, Minneapolis started a terrific drive which cost Timmins, the Shamrock goalie, a $15 fine for holding, but no score for Minneapolis. Lineup:

CHICAGO.		MINNEAPOLIS.
Timmins	Goal	Levine
Mulligan	Defense	Munro
Taylor	Defense	Coutu
Headley	Center	Johnson
Burns	Left wing	Redding
Dennenay	Right wing	Gordon

Spares: Chicago—Brydson, MacFayden, Clayton, Fuller, Wiseman, McKenzie. Minneapolis—De Paul, Lessard, Riley, Rennie, Carbol.

SHAMROCKS HOME TODAY

Today is homecoming day for the Chicago Shamrocks. Sixteen members of Chicago's American Hockey club, headed by Manager Johnny Farquhar and Trainer Tom Dyer, will arrive at the Union station at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. In the afternoon they will take the ice to practice for their inaugural game at the Chicago Stadium Thanksgiving night against the Tulsa Oilers.

The following men form the Shamrock squad:

Goalie—Sam Timmins. Spare goalie—Mike Karakas. Defense—Ralph (Bouncer) Taylor, Andy Mulligan, Spud Burland. Centers—Corbett Dennenay, captain; Bert Clayton, Curly Headley, Bill Cousins, Tip O'Neill. Wings—Gordie Brydson, Bobbie Burns, Eddie Wiseman, Donnie MacFayden, Pudge MacKenzie, Stan Fuller.

Several Recruits Make Good.

Of these players Clayton, Cousins, Fuller, Wiseman, McFayden, MacKenzie, and O'Neill are recruits. Clayton, however, has acquired the finish of a professional by years in fast amateur company.

Stan Fuller, the Regina youngster whom the Shamrocks landed against competitive bidding by National league clubs, got into action for the first time Saturday night. Karakas, O'Neill, and Cousins have yet to make their debut. Karakas, the Eveleth recruit, has shown sensation form as goalie, but with Sam Timmins minding the net Mike has not had a chance to do his stuff under fire.

Chicago fans are promised action when the American league makes its bow here. Manager Dick Carroll of Tulsa will bring his powerful 1929-'30 combination, plus a sprinkling of high class youngsters. In addition the Oilers will have the services of Duke Keats, one of the game's greatest centers. Duke was out last year with injuries, but is in form now.

To meet this veteran outfit the Shamrocks will turn loose a fast attack supported by a strong defense line and a great goal tender.

WEST VIRGINIA STAR

In the WAKE of the NEWS

"FIRING THE COACH."

THIS is the open season for "firing the coach," a demand now more often voiced by alumni than by undergraduates. Strange as it may seem, students have become more sane on the subject than the older men.

NOBLE KIZER.

In the Big Ten there is not as much excitement on this subject as usual. Dick Hanley and Harry Kipke of Northwestern and Michigan, respectively, are not in the front line trenches, under fire, because of the co-champion performances of the Wildcats and Wolverines. Stagg and Zuppke have held their posts too long for one season's results to bring attacks. Illinois will do better by the natural law of averages. Maroon alumni have become reconciled to impossible conditions prevailing at the Midway.

Noble Kizer at Purdue comes in the same category with Hanley and Kipke. The Boilermakers' two defeats were the result of failure to kick goal after touchdown, and no coach can go out on the field and kick the goals for his players.

That leaves Ingwersen at Iowa, Crisler at Minnesota, Williaman at Ohio State, Page at Indiana, and Thistlethwaite at Wisconsin. Ingwersen had material below Hawkeye average because of the recent Big Ten ruction. Iowa lost its only conference contest to Purdue, but downed Penn State, Detroit, and finally Nebraska, which was glory enough for one season.

Ohio State won from Indiana and Illinois, tied Wisconsin, and lost to Michigan and Northwestern, surely not a bad record. It also defeated Navy and the strong Pittsburgh eleven. Not much to complain of there.

Minnesota was below usual Gopher standards. There was a good line, but not a good attack. Its best showings were the tie with Stanford and the one touchdown defeat by Michigan. Crisler merits and will be given more time, if he elects to keep the double duty of head coach and athletic director.

There have been reports that Pat Page and Indiana were mutually agreeable to a separation. Now comes Indiana's defeat of Purdue, the biggest upset of the whole conference season. Indiana had a fighting team, too light for many it opposed. Wilfrid Smith told The Wake after the Northwestern game that the Hoosiers were determined tacklers, opposed and worn down by greater power. No Purple line plunge yielded more than nine yards. Yet this massing to meet Purple backs left Indiana open to forward passes on which Northwestern scored three of its four touchdowns.

Now we come to Wisconsin. This article is written before the meeting of the athletic council last night. But has Wisconsin done less than what reasonably was to be expected? The Badgers won two, lost two and tied one. It lost to Purdue by point after touchdown, and lost to Northwestern, 20 to 7, after leading at the end of the first half. It was tied by Ohio State and won from Chicago and Minnesota. It overwhelmed Pennsylvania in an intersectional contest. Wisconsin's material was good looking and numerous, but there were no outstanding stars. In our opinion, which has not been asked, Thistlethwaite should be retained.

OREGON STATE ELEVEN TO MEET WEST VIRGINIA

Former Notre Dame, N. U. Stars Clash.

Pause in Nebraska

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Oregon State football squad, en route to Chicago to meet West Virginia in a Shrine benefit football game Thanksgiving day, stopped here today to work out and be honored. Coach Paul Schissler of the Aggies was born here and did his first coaching at Hastings High school and the Hastings college.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The Shriners who are staging a football spectacle at Soldiers' field on Thanksgiving day for the benefit of Chicago's crippled children have not been doing their advance promotional work in vain.

For reports last night were that nearly 60,000 tickets have been sold. If the sale continues at the same brisk pace, it may reach 75,000 by 45 minutes after 9 o'clock on Thanksgiving morning, when a salute of 21 guns will be fired by the 122d field artillery. It will be a salute to Chicago's crippled kiddies.

Assures $125,000 Fund.

A sale of 50,000, which mark has already been passed, according to Shrine officials, will assure a fund for the crippled children of around $125,000. It will top $150,000 if 60,000 tickets are purchased. Should 75,000 be sold, the fund will almost touch the $175,000 mark.

This is the goal the Shriners are driving toward. They hope for a sale of 75,000 tickets and an attendance of upwards of 60,000 when the big football show opens at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning.

Former Stars Meet.

In the first game, which starts at 10 o'clock, a team of former Notre Dame stars will battle a hurriedly assembled gridiron machine composed of former Northwestern university football heroes. In the second game—an intersectional affair—which will get under way about 11:15 a. m., Oregon State from the far west will meet the strong West Virginia university eleven.

Thus, the Shriners hope to raise a huge fund for the crippled children of Chicago, provide a football carnival that is seldom equaled anywhere, and roll down the curtain on the spectacle in time to have everybody home for the turkey, its trimmings, and the mince pie by half past one o'clock on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Oregon State Arrives Today.

Decks were being cleared for action last night. The Oregon State team, a band of 60 musicians, and a few hundred rooters will arrive over the North Western at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

One hundred rooters are coming into Chicago to make a Thanksgiving visit from Hastings, Neb., the home of Paul Schissler, Oregon State coach. And Coach Schissler's friends from down in central Illinois, where he once coached the Lombard team at Galesburg, are coming to town on a later train to give him a hand when his team takes the field against the Mountaineers from the east.

The West Virginia team, its band and rooters will arrive tomorrow. The Notre Dame stars of yesterday, in charge of Coach Knute Rockne, will reach Chicago early tomorrow evening. The Northwestern old grads, who have been trying to kick some of the kinks out of their legs at the Purple practice field for several days, will wind up their drill this afternoon.

Favor Irish Ex-Stars.

In the advance speculation the Notre Dame old grads, led by such wizards of other years as Don Miller, Hunk Anderson, Norman Barry, Adam Walsh and a galaxy of others, were slight favorites to beat the Purple. Tim Lowry, Moon Baker, Wallie Seidell, Duke Cohen and many others were in the Purple squad which went through a lively drill yesterday.

Oregon State has been made a slight favorite over West Virginia, despite word which came from the east late yesterday that the Mountaineers will be ready to play their greatest game of the year in the intersectional struggle.

Badger Council Worries About Funds, Not Coach

Madison, Wis., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin athletic council at its regular monthly meeting tonight took no action in regard to the coaching of next year's Badger football team. The meeting was occupied chiefly with a discussion of the financial situation in which the athletic department finds itself as the result of decreased football receipts.

Every game, except that with Purdue, fell below the budget estimate and Purdue exceeded the figure only $2,000. The shortage for the season is in excess of $30,000.

Members of the council declined to say whether they had discussed the matter of releasing Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite.

Pays $11.70 to Capture Glen Echo Purse.

Bowie, Md., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Walter J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland, winner of the 1929 Preakness, scored in the Glen Echo purse, feature here today, when he got home a head before Grey Coat, the horse which defeated Blue Larkspur in the 1929 Dwyer. Third money went to the 2 to 1 favorite, William T., which was a half length behind Grey Coat. Then in order finished Jolian, Omareen, and Gun Mission.

Maryland seems to be Dr. Freeland's favorite stamping ground, for in addition to his success in the Preakness, he frequently has won on the old state tracks, while his efforts on the New York courses usually have ended in defeat.

Dr. Freeland's previous two victories were at Havre de Grace and Pimlico, but he had run so many other poor races in between that he was only the fourth betting choice of the half dozen which tried for the Glen Echo purse.

The son of Light Brigade earned $1,050 and paid $11.70 for the usual $2 mutuel ticket. The race was run through the rain, although the footing was fast. Louis Schafer, Mr. Salmon's contract rider and the lad who piloted Dr. Freeland to his Preakness triumph, was again in the saddle.

Army-Navy Ticket Sales Now $400,000

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Ticket sales for the Army-Navy football game Dec. 13 for the unemployed have reached $400,000, and the total receipts probably will exceed $1,000,000. This was announced this afternoon by Grover A. Whalen, head of the Salvation Army's committee, after a conference with Army and Navy officials.

Already all the $5 seats remaining after the Army and Navy quotas were filled—8,265 of them—have been sold, Mr. Whalen said.

Applications accompanied by $150,000 cash have been received at the ticket office in the Biltmore; army and navy men have subscribed to $150,000 worth of seats, and a $100,000 block was sold today to Joe Leblang, ticket broker, who was to resell them at face value.

Mr. Whalen estimated radio rights will bring in $100,000, programs $50,000, and seats $1,160,625 if the game is a sellout.

BRUINS BATTLE ROSENBLUM PRO FIVE TOMORROW

Coach Frank Morganweck brings his Bruins basketball team back to Chicago tomorrow after two games on the road to open their American league season at the Chicago Stadium against the Cleveland Rosenblums.

The Bruins won their first game of the year Saturday, defeating the Toledo five. Fort Wayne will open its home season tonight with the Bruins, after which the world's champion Cleveland Rosenblums test the quality of the squad assembled by Morganweck.

Tommy Loughran Signs for Two Bouts at Stadium

Tommy Loughran yesterday signed with the Chicago Stadium for two bouts. His first bout will be with the winner of the Stribling-Griffith match and the second with an opponent to be named by the Stadium. No dates have been set.

BEARS CONSIDER SHIFTING SAVOLDI TO NEW POSITION

After watching Joe Savoldi's footwork in his first practice with the Bears yesterday in preparation for the annual Thanksgiving game with the Cardinals, Coach Ralph Jones may decide to use the ex-Notre Dame full back at half back.

Jumping Joe is so fast that a Savoldi-Nagurski-Grange combination may be decided upon.

Catches on Quickly.

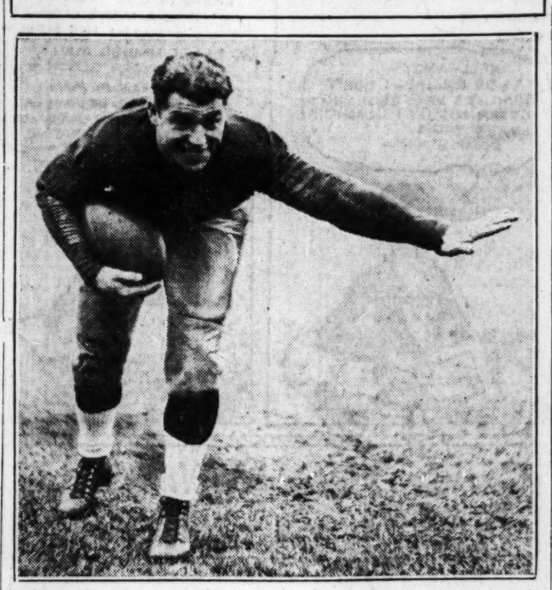
Savoldi is rapidly getting on to things and there is little doubt that he will show at his best against the southsiders. Although yesterday was his first with the team he had little difficulty running the ordinary plays.

When asked what he thought of the pros Savoldi said: "It's a lot different in some ways and no different in others. However, I can plainly see that I mixed in with a bunch of smart players. They know all of the tricks of the game and I've got the idea already that I'm in a tougher field."

Team in Good Shape.

The players are in excellent condition and although they gave the Cards a sound beating in their first meeting this year, the Bears are getting ready for a hard game Thursday morning. The southsiders will be in much better shape than for the previous tilt.

BEARS' NEW CLAW



Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame full back, who began practice with the Chicago Bears yesterday. Coach Jones is considering shifting him to half back, thereby forming a powerful trio of ball carriers with Grange and Nagurski as his running mates.

FORT WAYNE PRO CAGERS WIN, 19-12, FROM CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Led by Myers, recruit forward, the Fort Wayne guards took a 19 to 12 decision over Cleveland's champions in an American Basketball league game here tonight.

Myers sank three field goals and two free throws for high scoring honors, but shared honors with the veteran, Russ Saunders, who directed a clever passing attack besides caging two field goals. Husta, Cleveland guard, was the star of his team.

WAGNER THROWS ROCCO; TO MEET GUS SONNENBERG

Jack Wagner, Providence, R. I., heavyweight wrestler, last night at the Coliseum defeated Joe Rocco in straight falls and won the right to meet Gus Sonnenberg at Dreamland Dec. 4.

Wagner won the first fall in 18:41 with a half nelson and body hold. Rocco was pretty well spent by his exertions in trying to outgame Wagner and succumbed for the second fall in 9:02 as a result of a body scissors patterned after the method of Joe Stecher.

In the semi-windup, Johnny Meyers was given the decision over Zack Malkov. In the preliminaries Joe Malcewicz and Joe Komar went thirty minutes to a draw; Frank Judson threw Jack McCarthy in 9:30 with a half nelson and body hold, while the opening bout between Karl Zbyszko and Pietro Bacini went thirty minutes to a draw.

SONNENBERG WINS.

Pittsfield, Mass., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling title, defeated Sailor Arnold of Cleveland, O., in two straight falls in the main bout here tonight.

CITY HANDBALL CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY OPENS DEC. 1

Play for the city handball championship in both singles and doubles will begin Dec. 1 at the Illinois Athletic club, under the auspices of the Central A. A. U.

A record entry is expected for the event, according to Johnny Behr, I. A. C. athletic director, including Jack Broder, winner of last year's singles and Central A. A. U. singles champion. Ben Jacobs, runner-up last year and I. A. C. champion; Dr. W. Seritella, former city champion, and Maurice McCarthy, one of the strongest contenders in the city. Finals will be played Dec. 13.

The Central A. A. U. has also sanctioned the 24th annual Cook county high school swimming meet and the date has been set for the night of Dec. 4 at the I. A. C. The meet will be followed by a water polo game and relay race between the Northwestern university and the I. A. C. swimming teams.

Brookins, in Court on Bigamy Charge, Pleads Not Guilty

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Bigamy charges against Charles R. Brookins, former University of Iowa assistant track coach, will be pressed, it was indicated today when Brookins was arraigned and pleaded not guilty to a grand jury indictment. He was released under $1,500 bond.

Brookins was charged with marrying Miss Dorothy Covey of Oskaloosa, Oct. 31, at which time he was also married to Mrs. Ethel Heid, a former stenographer in the department of athletics. Brookins said he thought Mrs. Heid had obtained a divorce from him in South Dakota a week before he married Miss Covey. Mrs. Heid subsequently obtained a divorce at Nevada, Ia., and, after bigamy charges had been filed, expressed a desire that they be dropped, feeling that her former husband had suffered enough.

REFRESHED ARMY SQUAD PREPARES FOR NOTRE DAME

Cadets Get Advantage of Two Weeks' Rest.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Weak opposition in the last two games has prevented Maj. Ralph Sasse from putting the Army through the case hardening process which he had hoped to impart before the climactic clash with Notre Dame at Chicago on Saturday. Not since they defeated Illinois in a game in which they did not play up to their full capabilities have the Army regulars been in action save in practice skirmishes with the scrubs.

Just as Kentucky Wesleyan failed to provide the sort of opposition a week ago needed to keep the Cadets on edge, so Ursinus proved too weak on Saturday, and for the second week-end in a row the Army regulars sat on the side lines and saw the minor combinations romp to easy victories.

Holds Regulars Out.

Maj. Sasse's opinion as to these games with admittedly weaker teams is two edged, for he feels that not only do they wreck the morale of the weaker team for future games with elevens in its own class but they have a deleterious effect on the morale of the winning team in that they produce a feeling of confidence not at all justified. Accordingly the Army coach has not sent the regulars nor even the second string troops into action against either of the most recent visiting teams at West Point, trusting to hard scrimmage against scrub combinations to put the eleven on edge for the tussle with the fighting Irish.

Just how well the Army's schedule has fitted it for Notre Dame only the game in Chicago will tell. Notre Dame had a moderately hard game with Drake, and a real two-fisted battle with Northwestern by way of getting ready for the cadets.

The Army had four hard games in a row when it went through the series with Harvard, Yale, North Dakota and Illinois on successive Saturdays, and Maj. Sasse was satisfied that the team should have a layoff on the Saturday following the Illinois battle. However, he did not look forward to two successive Saturdays of no work.

Injured Men Recover.

The Army will go into the Notre Dame game in excellent physical condition. The eleven may not be hardened as much as Sasse might have liked it to be, but the cripples have come around in fine shape, and when the game in Chicago begins the only man who will be among the missing will be Loren Hillsinour, right guard, who is confined to the hospital recovering from an old injury which was aggravated early in the season.

NOTRE DAME RESTS

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Apparently satisfied that his Notre Dame football team will click again this week, Coach Knute Rockne today ordered a two day rest.

In his noon lecture he said: "Your play Saturday was not as good as it might have been. You were trying, but you had an off day and didn't get the results that you might have. The Northwestern game is out of your system now and I want you to forget it."

He then covered individual defects and said that he would outline the Army offense tomorrow.

Although he will not make many changes in his defense because of the fact that Army employs the same Warner wing back that Northwestern used, Rockne will try to get his own offense working this week and will also try to get his men keyed to the highest possible pitch. He believes that the Cadets will play inspired ball.

MOON MULLINS—A CHANGED MAN

ACRES OF GEESE MAKE SIGHT TO THRILL HUNTER

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mississippi River, near Cairo, Ill., Nov. 24.—The parade of the honkers, November's most colorful and spectacular carnival among the waterfowl, is now being staged twice a day down here where old man river meanders southward past broad, shifting sandbars. We know of nothing on the outdoor calendar to equal this magnificent spectacle, one that involves thousands of Canadian geese which go through their formations up and down and over the sandbars while feathered throats pour out their sonorous notes.

Watch Honkers Come In.

Last night, about a quarter of five, we trailed Paul H. Davis, a Chicago sportsman, through the woods overlooking the sandbars. Our objective was to edge up the steep bank which drops down to the sandy flats and from an advantageous position watch the incoming hosts of white throated honkers drift down from the sky to light on the bar for the night. When we finally peered through the willows to look across the bars the sun was close to the horizon. Night was coming on and the honker parade had broken ranks for the roost.

Distant on the horizon was the orange yellow sun throwing a golden glow on the upper branches of the cottonwoods and willows. The Mississippi river was a ribbon of light against purple shadow. Between us and the river on the brown sand we could see acres and acres of geese. The din was deafening. Those dark feathered silhouettes on the bar were whooping it up in an evening chorus.

Flock Extends Half Mile.

With 8 power binoculars it was possible to pick out individual geese and watch their antics for several minutes by the light of the setting sun. For a half mile this black mass of Canadian geese stretched down the bar, constantly growing in number by the addition of small flocks which circled low once or twice, necks out, heads moving from right to left, as they picked their landing fields. When these flocks came in, silhouetted against the golden sunset we had a picture that no artist has ever captured.

With these wonderful game birds with the white throats and grand opera voices came hundreds of mallards also to spend the night on the bar. We stood for a long time to enjoy the honker music and watch this evening spectacle because for beauty and action there is nothing to equal it.

Find Flaws in System Giving Wolverines Edge Over Purple

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Dr. Frank Dickinson, University of Illinois economist, has awarded the Western conference football championship to the University of Michigan. As a consequence, the alumni and supporters of Northwestern, which tied Michigan with five victories and no defeats in the point standings, will fire at will on Dickinson's rating.

And, strangely enough, Michigan will received the trophy, material proof of the importance of Dr. Dickinson's rating, just after it had been called upon by the overwrought adherents of the Purple to waive its claim to the title because Northwestern was the better team. The bases of Northwestern's alleged superiority were comparative scores against the three teams where the schedule overlapped.

Undoubtedly Dickinson's rating, which attempts to prove Michigan's superiority over Northwestern, will be acclaimed by those whose preconceived opinions agree. Correspondingly, those who already have decided that Northwestern is the better team will lead the attack on Dr. Dickinson's deductions.

Ignores Percentage System.

In theory Dr. Dickinson determines the conference champion and the relative value of the contenders without recourse to the percentage system. Actually he starts with an arbitrary assumption as a basis for his figuring. Dr. Dickinson assumes that a victory over a first division team is of more importance than a triumph over a second division eleven. Most fans would agree with this premise.

But Dr. Dickinson classifies as first division teams those which have won more games than they have lost. Michigan, Northwestern, and Purdue qualify. Wisconsin and Ohio State, which won two and lost two and tied each other, do not qualify. The arbitrary classification of Ohio and Wisconsin in the second division is the point of assault for Northwestern fans who protest Michigan's title as conferred by Dr. Dickinson.

Illinois Games Raise Question.

If Wisconsin and Ohio State were classed as first division teams, Northwestern and Michigan would tie for the championship if we understand Dr. Dickinson's figuring. As it now stands, Northwestern defeated Wisconsin, Ohio State, Indiana, Illinois, and Minnesota. All are second division teams. Michigan won from Purdue (first division) and Ohio State, Chicago, Minnesota, and Illinois.

Classify Wisconsin and Ohio State in the first division. Then Michigan has beaten two first division elevens (Purdue and Ohio State) and Northwestern has defeated two (Ohio State and Wisconsin). This would, of course, create a deadlock, just as the percentages show Michigan and Northwestern equal. We imagine that Dr. Dickinson believed he must have a winner to make his system stand up. According to his assumption of importance of the teams, Michigan was that winner. If Dr. Dickinson saw Northwestern whip Illinois, 32 to 0, and then watched Michigan win, 15 to 7, from the same team, we question whether he can believe his own figuring.

If Wisconsin had beaten Ohio State, Northwestern also would have earned a tie with Michigan by Dr. Dickinson's system. But unfortunately for the Wildcats, Wisconsin and Ohio played to a scoreless tie.

Michigan's conference championship rests on its 14 to 13 victory over Purdue. If the appellation of lucky, which detractors have applied to the Wolverines, has any basis, it is this victory over Purdue. All other Michigan games were clean cut, although comparative scores, perhaps, do not indicate that Michigan had the power of attack manifested by Northwestern.

That Michigan-Purdue Game.

We understand that Noble Kizer withdrew several of his first string players in the second quarter after Purdue had established a 13 to 0 lead. Michigan then rallied to lead, 14 to 13, at the half. However, Purdue's best could not score on Michigan in the third and fourth quarters. Purdue later lost to Indiana, 7 to 6, if that means anything.

Many will question whether Michigan could play 53 minutes against Notre Dame without the Irish scoring. Of course, this and other arguments are worthless in attacking Dr. Dickinson's award of the title. The only test of superiority would be a post-season game between the rivals. That, apparently, is out of the question because of a Big Ten rule.

However, those who believe Northwestern the best team in the conference undoubtedly will continue to believe as much, notwithstanding Dr. Dickinson's figures. And neither do we anticipate Northwestern will admit Michigan's supremacy notwithstanding those same figures.

WALKER THINKS HIS PUNCH WILL STOP CHRISTNER

Mickey Walker, the champion who never found competition in his own class to his liking, is confident that his second venture against a heavyweight will be as successful as his first. The world's middleweight titleholder will meet K. O. Christner, Akron, O., heavyweight, in the ten round windup of the Coliseum boxing show Friday night.

Following his workout yesterday Walker waxed voluble concerning the battle with Christner. Mickey admitted that the Akron fighter has demonstrated that he can punch, but stated that he himself was also gifted in that department. For a recommendation of his punching ability against heavyweights, Mickey pointed to his recent decision victory over the hardy Johnny Risko in Detroit.

Always Fought Out of Class.

When Mickey was welterweight champion, he sought fights in the middleweight division, and when he won the title in that class he was after light heavyweights. Now it's heavyweights and with the victory over Risko he thinks he can beat Christner.

Christner, who started training at the Arcade gymnasium upon his arrival from Akron yesterday morning, has other ideas on the subject of Friday's fight. He said that Walker, who weighed only 166 pounds against Risko, will be giving away too much weight to himself, who has fought heavyweights throughout his career.

Pantaleo vs. Battling Bozo.

Another bout on Friday's card will bring together Paul Pantaleo, former Tilden Tech football star, and Battling Bozo of Birmingham. The latter, a light heavyweight, who is said to operate with the clowning tactics of Champion Maxie Rosenbloom, is credited with a newspaper decision over Rosenbloom.

Five five round bouts will round out the program. They bring together Joe Corbett and Knute Dane; Pewee Gale and Willie Pelligrini; Johnny Gale and Sammy Levine; Paul Dazzo and Al Anzaloni, and Al Keegan and Bob Stone.

GARDEN SEEKS FREEMAN FOR PETROLLE BOUT

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—A world's welterweight championship ring struggle between Tommy Freeman, the titleholder, and Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. D., veteran who recently whipped Jimmy McLarnin, awaits the pleasure of the champion. This was established today when Matchmaker Tom McArdle of Madison Square Garden talked over the long distance telephone to Cleveland with Tom McGinty, manager of the champion.

McArdle wants a Petrolle-Freeman battle as a garden attraction in January, leaving the selection of a date to Freeman. Manager McGinty withheld disposition of McArdle's terms pending the outcome of a talk with Freeman, who has been unable to undertake a ring match since winning the title from Jackie Fields because of illness.

MARTIN INSULL CITES GAIN IN UTILITY BUYING

Points to Rise in Number of Investors.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The chief characteristic of the trading in utility stocks during 1930 was the increase in investment buying, in the opinion of Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities company.

Mr. Insull bases his conclusion on the increase in stockholders of the Middle West Utilities company during the year. As has been true in the case of many large corporations in the utility field and other branches of industry the number of common stockholders in the company has shown a steady increase since the first of the year.

On Nov. 20 the company's common stockholders numbered 82,842, as compared with 63,140 on Jan. 1. This was a gain of approximately 30 per cent. In the first four months of the year the number of stockholders increased 11 per cent and by Sept. 1 the total number was 76,460, 21 per cent ahead of January.

Large Trading Volume.

The turnover in Middle West Utilities on the Chicago exchange since the first of the year amounts to 6,768,380 while the volume on the New York curb was 865,800 shares. Mr. Insull recalls in announcing the figures that it was during the trade depression of 1921-'22 that the customer-employé ownership plan gained its greatest impetus.

Activity in the utility shares as well as in other stocks was at a low ebb yesterday on the Chicago exchange. The prevailing tone was one of easiness, with the leading issues receding within a narrow margin.

The Continental Chicago and Chicago Corporation issues were steady. The complete portfolio of the two firms showing exact holdings and the amount of each was made public last night.

Move Narrowly.

Motor accessory shares, which enjoyed brisk demand last week, were irregular within a narrow range on reduced volume of sales. Auburn, with a decline of 2¼ points, was the biggest loser. Among the miscellaneous shares good resistance was displayed by U. S. Gypsum and U. S. Radio. The latter advanced a point on reports that its production rate had been stepped up to 2,000 sets daily.

Bancokentucky rallied to 50 cents from the low of 25 cents at which it closed last week. News of the banking situation in the south indicated some improvement in the outlook.

The market's stride was slowed up considerably from last week's pace. Total transactions amounted to only 118,200 shares.

PEOPLES DRUG STORES.

Peoples Drug Stores reported net for the first nine months of this year, equivalent to $2.06 a common share, and for the September quarter to 89 cents a common share.

CITIZENS OF U. S. INVEST 7 BILLION IN FOREIGN LANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—American citizens and corporations hold direct investments in foreign countries valued at $7,477,735,000, it was revealed today by the department of commerce.

The direct foreign investment of Americans is: $1,960,320,000 in Canada; $1,352,753,000 in Europe; $1,053,751,000 in Cuba and the West Indies; $917,033,000 in Mexico and Central America; $1,547,985,000 in South America; $102,229,000 in Africa; $394,540,000 in Asia; $149,154,000 in Australia and New Zealand.

1,750 American Corporations.

The report, prepared by Grosvenor M. Jones, Ray Ovid Hall, and Paul D. Dickens of the department's bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, constitutes, it is asserted, "the first attempt ever made on a world-wide and detailed scale to obtain statistics direct from American busines men as to the actual value of their foreign properties." The report is compiled on the basis of confidential information obtained from 1,750 American corporations.

Foreign direct investments are considered to include commercial and industrial properties situated abroad and belonging to residents of the United States, from which a return normally is expected.

American foreign investments, the report states, entered upon an era of noteworthy growth in 1900 when a period of prosperity at home coincided with a period of stringency abroad. In that year a careful estimate, composed largely of direct investments, showed that American foreign interests totaled only 5,00 million dollars. In 1912 another estimate gave the American investment abroad as $1,700,000,000.

Here's Key to Growth.

Another key to the growth of the American interest abroad is shown in the record of the establishment of American manufacturing investments in Europe. From 1 per year in the late '70s these rose to 10 during 1914, and to a peak of 54 in 1928, the present total being 453.

Contrary to the general impression, investments in branch plants do not constitute the largest item in the total, being exceeded by that in public utilities which amounts to over $1,625,000,000. This is nearly 100 million dollars more than the investment in manufacturing, it is pointed out. Mines and smelters valued at $1,200,000,000 and petroleum properties at $1,115,000,000 follow in importance. The chief public utility properties controlled by American capital are located in Canada, Mexico, Central America, and South America.

American branch plants are of the greatest value in Europe, amounting to over 628 million dollars. Canada ranks second in this respect with a total of $540,593,000.

Not Available in United States.

American capital has gone abroad to develop resources that either are not available in the United States or not available in sufficient quantities to satisfy the demands of American corporations. Among these are the wood pulp and paper mills in Canada, the banana and sugar plantations in Central America and the West Indies, rubber production in British Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies, and various metals essential in the production of alloy steels.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Chicago curb stocks were quiet and irregular yesterday. Commonwealth Edison and Public Service rights were fractionally higher at the finish. American Corporation also gained a fraction, while Corporate Trust Shares closed unchanged. Photocolor showed a slight loss. Associated Gas A jumped over a point, while Standard of Kentucky and Chain Stores declined 1 and 2½ points respectively.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Douglas Aircraft Revives.

It is said that a new constructive group is working in Douglas Aircraft. If this is so, it would tend to explain the recent revival of activity in the stock, which has rallied fairly well from its low. Recent private advices indicated that the company was producing about ten planes weekly and that unfilled orders would keep the plant busy until April next year.

Horn & Hardart.

Increased buying interest in Horn & Hardart is due to the realization that the company's extension plans completed a much better earnings showing. The greater share of profits for many years has been returned to the property.

Lorillard Earnings.

Earnings of the P. Lorillard for this year are expected to show a return of about $1.50 a share on its common stock after preferred dividends and other charges. Such a development would constitute the best showing the company has made in years.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—SILK—Raw closed firm; sales, 1,310 bales. December, $2.39; March, $2.33; May, $2.33. Open market quotations [60 day basis]: Shanghai steam extra, B, $2.75; Canton double extra A 14-16s, $1.90; Japanese crack double extra, $2.75.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today with refiners showing little interest. No sales were reported and prices were nominally unchanged at 3.39c for spots, duty paid. It was first notice day for December in raw futures and evening-up in this position caused a rather irregular movement of values. All told, about 52,700 tons changed hands, including nearly half in the form of exchanges. Closing prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—With the exception of old December, which was off 21 points on a little scattered liquidation, closed steady today, unchanged to 3 points net advance. The slightly easier cotton market was offset by the sharp rally in grains and firmness of lard and crude oil. Total sales were 1,650 brls, including 300 in the old contracts and 1,350 in new. Greater Than Profits

In many industrials, depreciation plus the repairs and renewals of property equal or exceed net profits. Relatively small errors in accounting for property fixed charges seriously distort accuracy of earnings. Such error can be avoided if American Appraisal Service is used to exercise constant surveillance of the property and of expenditures upon it.

For Those Who Believe in Common Stocks

How you can buy a cross-section of American business —25 standard common stocks—in a single investment

THE majority of American investors believe in common stock investments. They know that common stocks are a favorite investment medium of the country's great capitalists, and that diversified lists of common stocks are held by most of the nation's great estates. Furthermore, most experienced investors believe that common stock prices are now attractively low.

However, it has been proved by experience that the best results from buying common shares are only achieved by those who can purchase a broadly diversified selection of the highest grade stocks. Through such diversification, any possible decline in the market price of one stock should be offset by increases in the value of others, and the law of averages works for the prot

Average Decline of Stocks Is 35%.

BY O. A. MATHER.

A good example of how a big investment trust may limit the depreciation of its holdings by diversification in a period of declining stock market prices is afforded by a statement of combined assets issued by the Continental Chicago corporation and the Chicago corporation last night. These two big Chicago investment concerns are scheduled to be merged in the near future, as the directors of both reached a merger agreement early this month and will submit the proposal to stockholders soon.

The combined net assets of the two corporations had a market value of approximately $70,000,000 on Nov. 3, the date of the merger agreement, according to the statement sent out to stockholders last night by Arthur Reynolds, president of Continental Chicago, and Charles F. Glore, president of Chicago corporation. This net worth is after giving effect to purchase and retirement of preference shares of both companies having a stated capital value of $25,000,000. The net worth of both corporations on Dec. 31, 1929, was $109,292,711. Therefore, the shrinkage in net worth this year has been about $14,000,000, considering the retirement of preferred stock.

Shrinkage of 14 Per Cent.

"The combined holdings of the two corporations show a shrinkage of only 14 per cent since last year, whereas the average decline in the stock market has approximated 35 per cent," Mr. Reynolds commented. "Since the appraisal was made three weeks ago the stock market has advanced somewhat and therefore our holdings have appreciated. While some changes may be made in our portfolio, the securities on the whole will remain unchanged, as we consider the portfolio to be in good condition."

The combined corporation will commence business free of debt and with quick assets of about 27 per cent of its total assets. The retirement of part of the preference shares will place the common stock in a more favorable position. After allowing the 1,000,000 outstanding preference shares their stated value of $50 a share, the book value of the 2,887,500 common shares is between $6 and $7 a share.

The makeup of the combined holdings of the corporations show 10.8 per cent of total assets in cash, United States government securities, commercial paper and short term credits maturing in less than six months; 16.4 per cent in other bonds and collateral loans; 3.1 per cent in preferred stocks, 54.9 per cent in common stocks; and 4.8 per cent in investments in corporations and miscellaneous stocks and other securities not heretofore accounted for.

Common Stock Holdings.

Among the bond holdings there are only two items that exceed $500,000, these being $1,250,000 face value of German government international loan 5½ per cents and $500,000 of Japan government 5½ per cents. Holdings of common stocks, with number of shares held, follow:

Some improvement in business and industry and consequent larger need for credit for commercial purposes is indicated in the federal reserve board's weekly reports on the position of reporting member banks of the reserve system. These banks during the week ended Nov. 19 increased their commercial loans by $89,000,000 and reduced their loans on securities by $66,000,000. They increased their own investments in government securities by $42,000,000 and reduced other securities by $5,000,000.

Says Rails Have a Valid Complaint on Over Taxation

BY SCRUTATOR.

The highway truck is the principal factor which in the last ten years has been taking gross and net revenues from the railroads of the United States.

How far the inroads have gone is demonstrated in a study of the truck in food distribution made by Armour's live stock bureau. From 1920 to 1928 tons of less than carload freight handled by the rails fell from about ninety million to about sixty-three million, a decrease of something like 30 pe. cent. At the same time total carloadings on the rails increased by 15 per cent over the whole period.

The trend here is plain. Heavy bulk commodities, like coal, newsprint paper and ore continued to move by rail and water. For products moving in small bulk the truck represented an advance in transportation, with both convenience and low cost recommending it. Strangely enough, it was the agricultural elements in the population, most favored by government in the forcing of rail rates lower, w o went most enthusiastically to the truck.

Cites Short Hauls.

Fruits and vegetables are moving, within a radius of 100 to 300 miles of important markets, largely by truck. Imposing collections of data show that in the New York City district 18.5 per cent of all fruits and vegetables arrived thus and 73 per cent of that coming from the surrounding area. Nor do the trucks so arriving go back empty. Officials at commercial truck terminals in Chicago estimate that vehicles coming from Michigan with fruit have return tonnage equal to two-thirds of the weight they bring in.

Live stock sent to all the principal markets of the country has shown a heavy gain for trucking. In 1920, at sixteen principal receiving points the number of head trucked was well under four million. In 1928 it was nearly fourteen million. The percentage of trucked ton total receipts rose from 5 to 22, with each year making a little better demonstration for the trucks and a little worse, relatively, for the rails.

The cause of the rise of the truck, it is pointed out, is far deeper than the usual assumption that government favors have given trucks free roadways and enabled them to take something that belonged to the rail carriers. Movements of commodities have been speeded up. Merchants at retail depend on merchants at wholesale for quick deliveries. They do not buy far in advance. Wholesalers in turn depend on manufacturers and the latter are passing the buck on to sellers of raw commodities. Small orders, often repeated, have required a flexible transportation system that did not insist on carload quantities.

Allied with Trucks.

Some forward looking rail managements have allied themselves to the truck business. Others are constantly pleading that regulation such as they groan under themselves be applied to the trucks. Their point is that trucks would not prosper in the future under such regulation. That is quite true, but it is hardly a valid request.

There is, however, a valid one—relief from over-taxation. It is unfair that railroads should be taxed 420 million dollars, as they were in 1929, and that a good deal of this amount should be expended in building highways. Since 1911 railroad taxes have increased 302 per cent and dividends paid to stockholders by 23 per cent. Taxes based more nearly on earning power and less on a theoretical valuation that is immensely inflated in comparison with that earning power, or its prospects, are the greatest needs of the rails.

CANADIAN GOV'T TO STAND BEHIND WHEAT POOL BANK SUPPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—The Canadian government will place its financial resources behind the banks supporting the Canadian wheat pool should the average price of wheat for the season fall below 60 cents a bushel, acting Premier Sir George Perley today announced the cabinet's position.

Leading Canadian business men lately have added their voice to that of the prairie province premiers urging federal government backing in the wheat crisis. It also became known today that Edward W. Beatty, Canadian Pacific railway president, was among those who telephoned Premier Bennett in London asking that the government influence be exerted to prevent the collapse of the economic structure of the Canadian west.

John I. MacFarland of Calgary, Canada, leading authority on wheat selling has been appointed general manager of the control selling agency of the Canadian wheat pools and will serve without salary.

State Commissioners Report Sound U. S. Banking Condition

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Sound and satisfactory banking conditions throughout the country generally were reported today in statements telegraphed to the United States Daily by state commissioners of banking.

Recent failures were attributed to local causes and were said by the banking officials to have strengthened the general position by the elimination of weak spots.

The situation in North Carolina, where there were several recent failures, was said by John Mitchell, chief bank examiner, to have resulted from a purely local situation, made acute by the investment banking house failure. Out of the situation there, he predicted, "should come considerable impetus to the strong tendency already existent in the state toward sounder and more conservative banking."

"There have been a few small failures in Tennessee," said D. D. Robertson, superintendent of banks, "due largely to heavy withdrawals occasioned by failure of large banks in this and adjoining states affiliated with Caldwell interests."

Kentucky Banks Improved.

No further bank trouble is expected in Kentucky, Banking Commissioner O. S. Denny, said. Most all of the state banks there are in good healthy condition, he announced, and conditions in Louisville are wonderfully improved.

That several of the banks which closed in Arkansas have already reopened, and most of the others, except those connected with one chain, will do so, was the statement of Walter E. Taylor, banking commissioner. "Many of the suspended banks," he continued, "closed temporarily as a protection of depositors, and were at no time insolvent."

"Banking as whole in Illinois is on a sound foundation," said the state auditor, Oscar Nelson, "and depositors have no cause for alarm." Bank depositors should continue their banking business as usual, he continued, as suspensions there have come about mainly from alarm caused by false rumors, rather than from weakened banks.

The general banking situation in Alabama "appears to be improving." In California it was reported "fundamentally sound" and "moving forward with confidence in the future." There have been no failures in Connecticut, and there are "few weak spots" in that state.

Florida Returns to Normalcy.

"Florida state banking conditions are improved and grandually returning to normalcy," the state controler, Ernest Amos, said.

The general feeling among the business men and bankers of Georgia is "that we have our troubles behind us and not in front of us."

"Nearly all of the banks in Iowa are in better condition at this time than any period for the past ten years," the superintendent of banking, L. A. Andrew, wrote.

There has "not been a single failure in nearly four years" in Maine. They "do not look for much bank trouble in the future" in Minnesota. "No special cause for apprehension" was the word from Mississippi.

The banking situation in Nebraska was reported "vastly improved." Nevada "has had no actual bank failures for twenty years." From Oklahoma came word the banks were "never on a more sound and satisfactory basis than at this time." Conditions were reported "very nearly normal" in Virginia. The position of state banks in Washington was announced as "very sound."

HEAR INCREASE IN STEEL PRICES IS DUE SHORTLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 24.—An increase in steel prices, long awaited as the development that may point the way for a general recovery in business, will be announced shortly on the initiative of some of the most important interests in the industry, it was learned today.

The upward price revision was described by an outstanding authority in the industry as logical. Another interested party said that, barring an unexpected change in conditions, the increase was inevitable. Some of the largest producers have gone so far as to make plans to notify their important customers of the proposed increase, applicable to business booked for the first quarter in 1931.

Mart Rallies After Lower Start.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 24.—Stocks just rambled around today. Prices were fractionally lower at the start but snapped back in good order and then spent the remainder of the day basking and filling as brief and unimpressive rallies developed, now in this section of the list and now in that. Losses outnumbered the gains at the close but the final figures were generally above those of the forenoon.

The session was one of the dullest in weeks, transactions totaling only 1,630,820 shares.

Hampers Rail Issues.

Traders are obviously still skeptical about the ability of the rally to carry much further in spite of the week-end assurances that leaders of the bull party were out to do a little window dressing even though they have to burst a suspender button to do it by way of rendering aid to the "back to prosperity" movement. On the other hand, there are enough hard headed facts in the grist of news—such as the reopening of factories, increased pay rolls, better earnings statements, and the like—to hold the bear element in

SOUND INVESTMENT

Facing Realities

Take the case of the man whose holdings of bonds and stocks have a value at the present market of say $25,000. They may have cost him $50,000 and may have been worth $100,000 at the peak.

This state of affairs is apt to lead to what amounts to a moratorium on his thinking about his securities. He may feel that his holdings are badly balanced as between bonds and stocks and as between different issues. He may even feel that some of his securities are not the kind he would ordinarily buy. But consciously or unconsciously he makes up his mind to defer doing anything about it until the market value has gone up more nearly to his cost. He can't quite reconcile himself to the fact that the present market value of his holdings is the same thing as the number of dollars represented by that market value.

While this kind of thinking is natural enough, it is hardly useful. There is no real difference between the problem of investing $25,000 in cash and $25,000 represented by securities. There is no reason to believe that the $25,000 represented by the securities will be worth $50,000 any sooner than the $25,000 in cash which is properly invested at this time. As a matter of fact, if the holder himself feels that his present holdings are not properly suited to his needs, he is probably right and his chances of preserving and adding to the $25,000 are better if he does something about it. At any rate it is a matter that would be worth considering and possibly discussing with a competent investment house.

WORLD PROMINENCE

A BANK, to be represented among the world's great banks, must possess a combination of age . . . resources . . . experienced personnel . . . facilities . . . strength. During 68 years of steady growth to banking prominence this bank has acquired gradually and soundly each one of these important attributes of a great banking institution. ¶ The principles initiated by the founders of this bank have been ripened by years . . . strengthened by the accumulation of resources . . . tempered by experience . . . broadened by world-wide facilities. ¶ The distinctive application of these vital factors to genuine service . . . and the spirit of that service itself . . . has earned this bank its place as one of the world's leading banking institutions.

BETTER NEWS OF TRADE CHECKS STOCK SELLING

check and keep the average trader from venturing beyond his depth.

Railway and public utility stocks had about the hardest time of any keeping up with the procession. The rails were hampered by the appearance of a budget of October operating reports, which were not particularly impressive and Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Rock Island, New York Central, and other prominent figures of the group were off 1 to 2 points or more when the final gong ended their misery.

There was nothing particularly the matter with the utilities except that nobody seemed to like them. Some of them recovered after a fashion in the later trading but American Water Works, Foreign Power, North American, and American Power and Light found the pace too much for them. Detroit Edison was an exception to the general weakness of the group, moving against the trend for a net gain of 2 points.

Coppers Move Narrowly.

Most of the coppers again were virtually neglected and price movements as a rule were narrow. Granby, however, enjoyed enough demand to keep it right side up throughout the session and Anaconda took a little spurt along toward the last, running up a net gain of a point. Federal Mining and Smelting made one of its infrequent appearances at 90, a jump of 10 points from its previous sale.

Oils were lower. The group has discounted a great deal of the conditions now rising to plague it but the industry is still being told by some of its leaders that curtailment and yet curtailment of production must come before conditions can regain a sound footing. Sinclair was indifferent to the cutting of its dividend. Houston and Standard of Arkansas eased a point or so each, but changes elsewhere were mainly fractional.

Mail order shares took another turn around the cinder track and Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward both added to the gains they piled up in the late trading of last week. Sears was up more than 3 points at the finish.

The motors, however, looked somewhat tired after their recent show of life. The changes were mixed and without an exception in small fractions.

U. S. FREIGHT EARNINGS.

United States Freight company and subsidiaries in the nine months ended Sept. 30 earned $2.34 a share; in the third quarter, $1.15 a share.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Dow, Jones & Co. says that the Illinois Central railroad for October will show a slight increase in net, which is estimated at $3,470,000, against $3,443,065 for the like month last year. October gross is estimated at an indicated decrease of about $4,350,000, but a "continued grip on operating expenses, combined with lower tax accruals, will enable the road to show" the increase in net.

The Lindoff-Bicknell company of Cleveland and Chicago has been awarded a contract to erect a two million dollar hotel and theater building at Davenport, Ia., it was announced yesterday by George M. Bechtel, head of the investment house which is financing the deal.

United Gas corporation has contracted to purchase from Southern Natural Gas corporation the branch lines extending from the main pipe line of Southern Natural Gas corporation near Jackson, Miss., to Mobile, Alabama, and Pensacola, Fla., it was announced.

Construction of additional public service facilities by subsidiaries of North American company has proceeded rapidly, with the result that expenditures for materials and labor in the first nine months this year were greater than during the entire year of 1929, F. L. Dame, president, said in a letter to stockholders. Total expenditures for the first nine months this year were $50,398,588, compared with $31,411,493 for the first nine months of last year and $45,192,052 for the entire year of 1929. Electric output for the first nine months of 1930 was 1.87 per cent greater than for the corresponding period of 1929 and 14.06 per cent above that for the first nine months of 1928.

North American Aviation has made a contract, subject to approval of Stout Air Lines directors and stockholders, to purchase all of the assets of the Stout lines for 46,500 shares of North American. A special meeting of stockholders of the Stout company will be held Dec. 2 to vote on the proposal.

William H. Woodin, chairman of the American Locomotive company, announced that the company has formed Alco Products, Inc., a new subsidiary, which will carry on a business of engineering designing and construction of process plants and equipment for the oil refinery industry. The new company will absorb and carry on the business of Heat Transfer Products, Inc., which was acquired by the American Locomotive company in December, 1928.

A $4,500,000 car rebuilding program, termed the largest ever undertaken by the road by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railway, will be started immediately, he announced yesterday. About 600 men will be added to the company's pay roll in the territory between St. Paul and the Pacific coast. The work will add about $1,000,000 to the road's pay roll, he said.

John W. O'Leary, president National Bank of the Republic and the Chicago Trust company, has just returned from a five weeks vacation, during which he has visited several sections of the country, and reports the gradual development of a conservatively optimistic viewpoint on the part of a majority of the business men with whom he talked.

Substantial increases of earnings and volume of business handled by the American Steel Car Lines, Inc., are reported by Charles E. McSweeney, president. Gross operating earnings for the first nine months of 1930 totaled $245,281, as against $182,573 for the same period last year, an increase of $62,707, or 34 per cent.

The Chicago Great Western railroad has placed an order with the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company for 300 seventy ton steel hopper bottom coal cars for early delivery. This is the second order for freight carrying equipment that the Great Western has placed in the last sixty days, the first being for 500 fifty ton steel sheathed box cars.

The New York City board of transportation has ordered 11,000 tons of rails from Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Reflecting the attitude of widely separated sections of the country, a group of Cadillac distributors attending a factory conference yesterday predicted marked improvement in the auto industry during 1931.

Prices of seats on the New York Stock Exchange and curb, which had receded sharply in recent weeks, advanced yesterday. Two seats on the stock exchange were sold for $250,000 each, an advance of $19,000 over the previous transaction, and announcement was made last night that a curb membership would be transferred for a consideration of $92,000, an advance of $14,000.

An extra dividend of 25 cents was voted yesterday by directors of the Mapes Consolidated Manufacturing company in addition to the regular dividend of 75 cents.

Life insurance sales in Illinois took a decided upward trend in October, according to figures from the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, showing October, 1930, sales at $59,230,000, as compared to $53,879,000 in September.

Top yesterday, $8.50; average, $7.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today estimated at 9,000 cattle, 39,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep.

A substantial reduction in the supply of cattle and hogs sent prices sharply higher on yesterday's market, while lambs reacted after a lower opening and finished at the highest point in two weeks. The early bulge in the hog market carried the top to $8.50, highest since Monday of last week. Top cattle reached $13.35, equaling the highest in two weeks.

The decrease in cattle and hogs more than offset the increase in sheep receipts yesterday and the number of animals received at the 20 leading markets at 324,000 showed 10 per cent decrease compared with a week ago and a 22 per cent decrease compared with a year ago.

Hog receipts at 47,000 were smallest for Monday in six weeks and below normal for the Monday preceding the Thanksgiving holiday. Small packers and shippers scrambled for hogs during the first rounds and prices gained fully 15@25c, the bulk of the supply selling at the advance.

Only a "handful" was obtained on late rounds when part of the advance was lost. About 4,000 were left at the close. The extreme top showed 20c advance at $8.50, while the general average moved up 15c at $8.25, comparing with a top of $8.15 and average of $7.85 last Wednesday, the low day of the year. Five western markets expect 72,000 hogs today against 95,300 the previous Tuesday.

March Hogs Bring $8.95.

Trading in hog futures was slow and slightly lower yesterday. March lightweights sold at $8.95, against $8.95 early Saturday and $9.00 at the close. December lights were offered at $8.30 and bid $8.25 at the close. January contracts were bid $8.40 and offered at $8.75. Heavy hogs for January delivery were bid $8.00.

Only 11,000 cattle were unloaded at Chicago yesterday, a "surprise" run, following last week's small receipts. Prices advanced 25@50c, medium and weighty steers showing the sharpest gains. A string of 165 fancy yearlings averaging 1,015 lbs reached $13.35, while prime 1,200 lb steers pushed forward to the $13.00 mark.

Lambs in Demand.

Although prices sagged 25c at the opening, under pressure of the largest Monday sheep receipts in a month's time, the loss was fully regained and the clearance was the best in some time. Shipping demand was larger, indicating a broader outlet for lamb at leading distributing centers in the east.

Bulk of good to choice grades sold around $8.00, with the extreme top at $8.25. Most buck natives sold at $7.00. Aged sheep ruled steady and yearlings sold steady to 25c lower, fed western yearlings averaging 90 lbs going at $7.00. Feeding lambs were in good demand at $7.00@7.25.

COTTON MARKETS BREAK

Cotton markets yesterday were irregular with a fair business. December delivery notices did not call for as much cotton as expected and the December in New York was relatively firmer than other months and in Chicago closed 5 points net lower, while other deliveries were 12 to 17 points lower. In other markets losses were 3 to 19 points. There was selling of May and October around midday against purchases of December which were made during the early trading.

At the close Liverpool was 8 to 9 points net lower with spot sales of 4,000 bales. In the New York spot prices were unchanged at 10.85c. New Orleans dropped 10 points to 10.58c, with Galveston and Houston 10.50c. Prices follow:

EGGS LOWEST SINCE 1880

Bearish sentiment took hold of the butter and egg futures markets on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, prices dropping away rapidly before a heavy wave of selling. December eggs broke to 18c, off $150 per car from the previous close, and at that level recorded another new low mark for sales of eggs in Chicago during any November since around 1880. Butter closed ½@¾c lower and eggs ⅝@1¼c lower. Sales: Butter, 127 cars; eggs, 322 cars. Receipts: Butter, 9,925 tubs; eggs, 4,063 cases. Deliveries: Butter, 10 cars; eggs, 25 cars. Prices follow:

ADD MORE ACRES TO COOK COUNTY FOREST PRESERVE

Trustees Purchase Three Tracts.

BY AL CHASE.

Three tracts, totaling 44½ acres, were purchased yesterday by the Forest Preserve district trustees. The largest of the trio was a 24½ acre area in Bloom township purchased from John F. Monnix for an indicated $18,964. The property is at the northwest corner of South Ashland avenue and the Cook-Will county line and is half a mile west of the Steger municipal limits.

A fifteen acre tract in Glencoe was purchased from the Chicago Title & Trust Co., trustee, for an indicated $61,200. The property is bounded on the north by Tower road, by Park avenue on the south, Valley street on the west and Bluff street on the east.

The third tract purchased yesterday comprises five acres in Northfield township on the west bank of the north branch of the Chicago river just north of Central street. It was bought from the estate of Mary Clarey for an indicated $15,000.

Lectures and Parties.

Otto G. Ryden, attorney, who has specialized in Probate court practice, will talk this evening at eight o'clock before the Real Property Institute of the Cook County Real Estate board on "The Relation of Real Estate to the Probate Court." M. M. Oshe, law instructor, will speak the same evening at 7 o'clock on "Trust Deeds and Mortgages."

Henry M. Lorish, chairman of the renting and management division of the Chicago Real Estate board, will speak this evening at the Central Y. M. C. A. School of Commerce on "The Renting and Management of Real Estate Properties."

A four day Thanksgiving party for customers and employes will be held by Percy Wilson & Co. on Nov. 27, 28, 29 and 30 at the East Center subdivision, 159th and Halsted streets, Harvey. There'll be sight tours around the Harvey area, refreshments, gifts and an opportunity to inspect the new houses and buildings erected by the Wilson organization.

A Thanksgiving party for members of the firm and guests will be held by the Edward E. Manning company in its offices at 55 West Wacker drive at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Turkeys and other prizes will be given away and there'll be a vaudeville entertainment.

Cherry Hut for the Loop.

The Fruit Growers association, composed of cherry growers of northern Wisconsin and Michigan, has leased space at 22 West Lake street, in the Dearborn-Lake building, for one year at a reported $3,600, and will demonstrate the use of frozen cherries, the making of cherry pies, etc. According to Farr & Co., brokers, if successful, several more will be installed in various parts of the city.

The Chicago Eat Shops have leased the two story building at the northwest corner of Washington boulevard and Talman avenue from the West Auto Sales company to be used as a wholesale bakery, for a five year period at a reported term rental of $16,800, William J. Mead, of the Fantus Factory Locating Service, was broker.

New Issue

National Steel Car Lines Company

5½% Equipment Trust Gold Certificates, Series "M"

Principal and dividends to be unconditionally guaranteed by endorsement on each Certificate by the CHAMPLIN REFINING COMPANY

To be issued under the Philadelphia Plan

To be dated December 1, 1930. Principal to be payable semi-annually in serial installments of $75,000 each from June 1, 1931, to December 1, 1935, both inclusive. Payable to bearer (with optional registration as to principal) in denomination of $1,000. At the option of the Champlin Refining Company, Certificates are to be redeemable in whole or in part on any dividend date at 101% of their face amount and accrued dividends, in accordance with the terms of the Lease and Agreement. Both principal and dividends are to be paid without deduction of Federal income tax not in excess of 2% per annum. The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, Trustee.

Champlin Refining Company agrees to reimburse to the holders of these Certificates the Pennsylvania State Tax (not to exceed 4 mills annually) upon application as set forth in the Agreement.

The following information has been summarized by us from data furnished to us by Mr. H. H. Champlin, President, Champlin Refining Company:

These Certificates are to be secured through assignment to the Trustee of title to 729 all steel tank cars having a present sound depreciated valuation, as certified by the American Appraisal Company, of $1,033,740.55, or in excess of 137½% of the total face value of the Certificates to be issued.

Pending the transfer of title to these cars, cash to the full face amount of the Certificates will be deposited with the Trustee to be withdrawn as cars are delivered.

As of December 1, 1930, Champlin Refining Company will have no funded debt other than this issue of Equipment Trust Certificates. So long as any of these Certificates are outstanding Champlin Refining Company will covenant that it will not mortgage or pledge any of its fixed assets, other than property which may be thereafter acquired, for an amount in excess of $750,000; such fixed assets being carried on the books of Champlin Refining Company as of August 31, 1930 at a net depreciated value of $6,367,104.14.

Champlin Refining Company (of New Mexico), which guarantees the prompt payment of these Certificates and the dividends thereon, is one of the prominent producing, refining and marketing organizations in the mid-continent territory. Its business originated in 1917, and from 1920 was conducted by Champlin Refining Company (of Maine), all of whose assets were acquired by this Company upon its organization in 1929. The Company's books are audited annually by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, Auditors and Certified Public Accountants. Total gross assets as of August 31, 1930, exclusive of any interest in these tank cars above referred to, are listed in excess of $10,466,000.

Despite very unfavorable conditions adversely affecting the entire petroleum industry, Champlin Refining Company reported net earnings for the first eight months of 1930 of $211,166.91, after liberal charges of $723,267.92 for depletion and depreciation. Champlin Refining Company's earnings for the years 1926 to 1929 inclusive, as audited by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, are submitted herewith:

WHEAT RISES ON BUYING TO CLOSE WINNIPEG SPREAD

Chicago Prices Advance ¼ to 1c.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Buying of wheat futures in Chicago to close a big spread with Winnipeg generally credited to a leading local professional who expressed his dislike of operating in what he regarded as a controlled market, was largely responsible for an advance of ¼@1c in Chicago yesterday and a break of 1⅜@1⅝c in Winnipeg. According to the gossip of the trade the spread ran into the millions of bushels.

At the top yesterday, May showed 7¾c above the low of last week. While there was a sharp bulge at the start on fairly general buying, the market acted strained and reacted sharply, as did foreign markets. The effect of the weakness abroad was offset toward the last when the heavy buying to close spreads got under way. Old December finished 76¾@76⅞c; March, 79½@79⅝c; May, 81⅛@81⅜c, and July, 78⅛@78⅜c, the latter showing the least gain.

Argentine News a Factor.

In addition to spreading operations in wheat between Chicago and Winnipeg there was also some buying of the former grain against sales of corn. The pit had an impression that the Stabilization corporation sold old December wheat on the bulges. A house with Omaha connections was on both sides of May on a fairly liberal scale, buying freely on the early break to 80c and under.

Argentine news came in for considerable attention both here and abroad. Liverpool advancing as much at 3½c at one time on reports of light frost in the southern parts of the provinces of Buenos Aires and the Pampas only to weaken later on an official report indicating that yields in part of the provinces of Santa Fe ranged from 15 to 22½ bu per acre. The report claimed less damage than was anticipated. The close was ½@1¼d lower, the latter on December. Buenos Aires, after being 1⅝c higher at the start, weakened sharply and closed 3¼@3⅝c lower, while the Rosario, Argentine, market lost 5⅛c for the day.

Conflicting Russian Reports.

Conflicting reports as to the Russian situation were received. A Department of Agriculture report suggested that exports might aggregate 100,000,000 bu for the season, while a Berlin cable quoted a Russian trade delegation as saying that exports would be light owing to the exhaustion of home supplies. The trade paid little attention to Washington messages quoting Mr. Legge of the Farm Board as claiming that the Farm Board expected to hold the Chicago market around 76c.

Numerous plans are being advocated to help the Canadian wheat farmer, but nothing is expected to be done until after the return of Premier Bennett from England. The Canadian government, however, was said to have assured the banks that they would guarantee them against any loss sustained in advances to the wheat pool. Export sales of around 750,000 bu Manitobas were reported during the day. A decrease of 487,000 bu in the American visible supply brought the total down to 193,000,000 bu, against 186,990,000 bu last year.

Corn Market Unsettled.

Outside interest seems to be steadily increasing in corn. A rush of commission house buying carried prices up 1@1⅛c early to a new high on the present movement and 9⅜@9¾c above the low of last week. Profit taking developed, however, due to the weakened foreign buying that has been sufficient advance for the time being. The late rally in wheat brought in renewed buying and the close was ⅛@⅜c higher with December, 76⅜@76⅛c; March, 79¼@79⅝; May, 81¼@81⅜c, and July, 81⅜@81⅛c.

Weather conditions over the corn belt were generally unfavorable for the movement and offerings in the sample market relatively small. The shipping demand was less aggressive with sales of 57,000 bu. The visible supply increased 687,000 bu for the week and is 6,338,000 bu against 2,419,000 bu last year. Buenos Aires closed 1⅝@2c lower with December at 33⅞c.

Do Assets Earn?

INVESTORS have emphasized assets, but assets without earnings are of no value. Such assets are like a costly building without tenants. Assets are of value only as they represent facilities to produce earnings.

Because of its steady earnings, the public utility industry offers a more stable and secure field for long time investment than practically any other major business.

A reprint of an advertisement, "Salt without Savor," pointing out the relationship between earnings and assets, may be obtained by writing

For Current Income—For Future Needs—Cities Service Common stock

Other investors want chiefly to provide for future needs and luxuries; for them there is the Doherty Reinvestment Plan.

Under this plan dividends are reinvested automatically—your holdings grow rapidly. Let us tell you about this easy way to build an estate.

THE BEST TEST OF SELLING POWER

There is no better test of a newspaper's ability to sell merchandise than the volume of Department Store Advertising it publishes . . . In New York the department stores have for years placed more advertising in The Sun than in any other newspaper—and they are constantly increasing their space in The Sun. During the first ten months of 1930 the increase was nearly a quarter of a million lines. The reliance placed in The Sun by the New York department stores to sell their many commodities is of paramount importance to all advertisers. The medium that is used most by those who know this market best can be depended upon as the most effective producer of sales for all worthy products and services.

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury. A telegram arrives from Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, stating that she dare not come. Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury decide they must start at once for Vigil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides.

INSTALLMENT II.

PERILOUS ADVENTURE.

"Let me go, Richard," Leonie said. "After all, I'm still the grand duchess, and Paul would never dare to——"

"Not on your life," said I.

"I agree," said George. "Besides, we shan't go in by the hard, high road. Yes, I'm going, of course. And Rowley is coming with us, while Bell sits tight at Littai and never lets you out of his sight."

"I don't like it a bit," said Leonie, finger to lip.

"If we watch our step," said George, "there's not the slightest reason why Prince Paul or any one else should know that we're there. Besides, we haven't wired yet, and we may very well get an answer to lay our fears."

But though we telegraphed twice, no answer came; and at six o'clock the next evening I bade Bell turn out the car.

I never remember setting out with so vague and loose an idea of what I was going to do. Until we were in touch with the countess, we could not so much as determine our line of retreat. For all that, we early decided that Rowley must stay with the car—upon Austrian soil and that, ere we went over the border like thieves in the night, we must choose some spot close to the frontier where they could lie hid; for so, in case of pursuit, we should have a present refuge which was better than any fort and would carry us out of danger at eighty-five miles an hour.

At this, Leonie besought me to take with us Bell, declaring that if I would do so, she would leave the lodge, which was lonely, and return to the farm; and after a little I consented, on condition that she took with her Jameson and one of the grooms and never went out unattended until we came back.

Then something moved on the ground three paces away and I saw two men were grappled and fighting like beasts.

Now from where we stood to the frontier was a matter of less than four hours in a fast going car, but since, because of the guards, we dared not enter the country except by stealth, it seemed likely that the rest of our journey would have to be made afoot. This meant a long delay, for Vigil lies twenty-five miles from the border of Reichtenburg, and, even if we should be able to arrange to be carried so far, to enter the city by day seemed out of reason, for we had been there but last summer and were generally known by sight.

I, therefore, reminded Leonie that, though I would send her news as soon as I could, if we were to exercise caution, our movements must be very slow, and I am glad to remember that she did not protest, but only smiled and nodded and slid an arm round my neck.

Then food for two or three days was put into the car and a suitcase with changes of linens and other such stuff, and at half past six we ran through the village of Littai to which my wife was to follow before night fell.

We had a map and a compass and all of us carried arms. The evening was very fine, and the roads were clear, and by half past nine we made Barche, a village some fifteen miles from the nearest frontier post.

Now while I had driven, George had been studying the map, and at once he set out his conclusions.

"We're here, and there's the frontier, running due north and south. Turn south, and we meet the river. Turn north, and we meet the hills. I'm no damned antelope, but from what I've seen of that river I don't fancy a dip in the dark. That reduces us to the mountains. Now that looks a likely place—I make it about twelve miles off. The road nearly touches the border and then curls back. If we could park the car there. . . . What's more, there's a bridle path marked, running almost out of that bend clean over the hills."

I wrinkled my nose.

"A bridle path means a sentry—perhaps a post. I'm afraid of that path."

"So am I," said George. "But I'm still more afraid of losing my way in the mountains and being shot by a sentry as soon as its light."

"So be it," said I, and, with that, I let in the clutch.

Half an hour later we came to the spot George had chosen and the end of the bridle path, to find it by no means private, for a farm was sunk in a hollow not sixty yards off.

We went some three miles farther, but found no kind of cover in which to bestow the car, so with a lot of trouble we turned her round.

Then I saw a way out of our plight, which, if we could only take it, would turn our loss into gain.

If the farmer would harbor the car no covert could be more convenient, for, if we returned in haste, we could enter the farm from the front and leave by the back and be well on the way to Littai before we were found to be gone.

At once I told George this notion, and five minutes later the farmer had been awakened and was listening to George's words.

The farmer consented with a very good grace and ten minutes later we took the bridle path.

We had gone, I suppose, some three miles—and these, so severe was the gradient, might well have been six—when we heard the dull roar of water that falls in a hollow place. As we rounded a bend, this sound became gradually louder until it was very clear that we were approaching some bridge.

As we rounded the last of the bend, we saw the dim shape of a building, and when we had slunk very close, we made out the truth.

Before us lay a ravine, quite twenty-five feet across and God knows how deep. In this the water was tumbling with a sullen bellow of rage, as though resenting the prison which it had made for itself. Upon either side of the ruit stood a low, white lodge, each housing, no doubt, the opposing frontier guards. And between the two lay a foot bridge some six feet wide.

Now the bridge was well built of twin girders let into the rock, and though there was no hand rail, a man might have made the passage without a thought. But the space between the girders was empty, and the floor of the bridge was gone.

I suppose this was made of loose boards which the guards laid down each morning and took up at night, and that when they were gone, the sentries took their rest, for no light burned in the dwellings and the Austrians' door was shut. Be that as it may, the bridge was useless except to an acrobat, and the bare idea of attempting to cross on a girder made my hair rise upon my head.

After a little discussion, we decided to climb up stream.

This proved no easy matter, for, though it was wooded, the mountain rose very sheer, and we made the slowest progress for nearly an hour. Then we must have passed over some crest, for all of a sudden we found that the ground was falling and the roar of the torrent had sunk to a steady, crisp rush.

The night was starlit, and after the black of the forest we seemed to be able to see extremely well.

I saw George glance at his watch and heard him draw in his breath. Then——

"There's a light, sir," said Bell. "Up stream."

"There may be a bridge," said I, and led the way up stream as fast as I could.

Before three minutes were gone we had crossed the little clearing and come again to the trees, with the trees, to a darkness that hampered our steps, but, before I had taken six paces into the wood, I saw before me the glow of a cigaret. I could not see the smoker, although I could smell the smoke.

Then something moved on the ground three paces away, and I saw that two men were grappled and were fighting like beasts, while the cigaret lay smoking a few feet away.

Good Morning!

KIND: German underworld melodrama. Made in Berlin.

ACTING: Commendable. The leading lady, Charlotte Susa, is a beautiful creature much resembling Vilma Banky in appearance and, in performance, reminiscent of Baclanova. Harry Frank, who plays the male lead, is somewhat on the order of Edmund Lowe. Minor rôles are effectively handled.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent in the main.

DIRECTION: Apt—with lapses that may be due to faulty manuscript.

DIALOGUE: All in German. Draws considerable appreciative laughter from German patrons.

SUSPENSE: Well maintained.

STORY: The Berlin police are on the trail of a thief and murderer, fearsomely spoken of as "The Tiger." WHO IS "DER TIGER?" The question is answered in the picture—and you'll be surprised!

REMARKS: It seems to me that an occasional subtitle in English should be inserted in foreign speaking films. The "big" situation at the end of "Der Tiger" appeared to me to be rather bunglingly and bafflingly handled. I could not make out WHY Mr. Frank enters his own home through the window. Otherwise this production struck me as being a good mystery film that would prove remunerative to its exhibitors.

Yes, this is the stage "Bad Man," in which the late Holbrook Blinn played, come to the screen—and it should have stayed away.

Walter Huston's comprehensive satiric impersonation of Pancho Lopez does a lot for the picture, but not enough to prevent the film from being the most indifferent of entertainment. He's magnificent in the rôle rendered forever memorable by Mr. Blinn, proving a picturesque, virile, lovable, and terrible Robin Hood of the west. His teeth flash under cocky black mustachios. Beneath beetling brows his eyes fairly stab you with their brilliancy. Neither life nor death have any terrors for Pancho. So he takes what he wants for his own—and is greatly desired by the police.

The story deals with happenings that occur when Pancho and his men raid a gringo ranch for the purpose of carrying off a blonde lady who has caught the bandit's fancy. She is discovered to be married to a rich and cruel husband and to be hopelessly loved by the owner of the ranch, who once had saved the life of Pancho. At the time of the descent on the property Pancho is in ignorance of whose it is. He is to learn, moreover, that a mortgage on the place is to be foreclosed that evening at 8 o'clock.

Pancho to the rescue. . . ! With shrewd and gay deliberation he sifts the situation and then makes his unalterable decisions—which leave the coast quite clear for "my fran" and the lovely Ruth. His leisureliness costs him his life, but you can't feel sorry for Pancho because you know Pancho would not in the least pity himself.

The folks supporting Mr. Huston do amazingly mediocre work, considering their ability. O. P. Heggie as the "my goshing" invalid in the wheel chair nearly runs you crazy. I didn't know he had it in him to be such a nuisance! Direction is unsatisfactory. Sound and photography pass. BUT you'll probably agree with me that film producers had best let stage successes—LAY!

See you tomorrow!

Doctors Hail New Serum as Paralysis Foe

Effective Use Cited in 57 Cases.

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A new serum, five times as strong as any heretofore available for infantile paralysis, and its efficacious use in more than fifty-seven cases, were reported to the New York County Medical society tonight.

The serum is produced in horses and was developed by Drs. M. Neustadter of the neurological hospital at Welfare island and E. J. Banzhaf, an assistant director of the New York bureau of laboratories.

Dr. Neustadter announced it had been proved definitely that horse serum has neutralizing value for infantile paralysis.

"It is as harmless as any other antitoxin," he added, "and is superior to human convalescent serum because it can be standardized, obtained in large quantities, and is always available."

Human serum is obtained from persons who have recovered from the disease.

Dr. William H. Park, head of the New York bureau of laboratories, indicated in discussion of the announcement that the serum had been used with success as an immunizing agent in children exposed to infantile paralysis. These cases were too few to give much information, he said, although none of them developed the disease.

It was further announced by Dr. Park that he now is producing in three horses serum equal in strength to the best human serum, and that Dr. Banzhaf is concentrating the product to a potency five times greater. Another worker contributing research on the subject was Dr. A. Weyer of the same laboratories.

Both Drs. Park and Banzhaf doubted the value of the serum in cases which have already developed paralysis, and it was pointed out that a difficulty in the way of successful treatment of the disease is the inability to make clinical diagnosis before paralysis occurs.

"Its value, if any," Dr. Banzhaf said, "would be in the pre-paralytic stage and as a passive prophylactic agent in exposed cases."

He said it was indicated as early as 1916 by their experiments that horse serum contained neutralizing substances.

"Now that it has been proved that a horse can be used," he continued, "it is only a question of further experiment before sera can be obtained containing many times more anti-substances than at present can be obtained."

Some of the fifty-seven cases reported by Dr. Neustadter were treated by Dr. A. Pettit in France, using the Banzhaf-Neustadter method. Dr. Neustadter also reported cases of his own in which he said cures were effected by the serum.

Current research on the disease, it was revealed, has been made possible by a grant from Jeremiah Milbank, New York banker.

NAVY TOO SMALL FOR 1930 CLASS COMING FROM NAVAL ACADEMY

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 24.—(AP)—With an unusually large class scheduled to graduate from the Naval academy in June, and an insufficient number of posts to accommodate them, a large percentage of the graduates will not receive commissions, Commander Donald Beary, aide to the superintendent, said today.

Prior to 1890, this condition was common at the academy, Commander Beary said, but has been more rare in recent years, with the average graduating class in the neighborhood of 250. The 1931 graduates will number between 435 and 440 of the present 450 enrolled, he said, and probably not more than 250 will be commissioned.

Commander Beary said the navy is entitled to line officers equal in number to four per cent of the enlisted personnel, and the present enlistment sets the number of officers at 5,499. Deaths, retirements, dismissals and resignations during the last year have not been sufficient to clear the way for commissioning all of the present class.

Those members of the graduating class who do not receive commissions receive a year's pay and are dropped from the service, Commander Beary said.

The recent disarmament conference has nothing to do with the reduction of commissions, he added, as the present naval strength is below the level permitted by previous conferences.

THE STAGE

MARGARET WYCHERLEY will join the Goodman Repertory company as a guest player during the four weeks of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever," beginning Dec. 9. She is the wife of Bayard Veiller, the dramatist, and has had a brilliant stage career. She played the title rôle in "Jane Clegg," the success of which assured the future of the Theater Guild. She had the leading rôle in her husband's "The Thirteenth Chair," a play which has become a standard for melodramas. She has also acted several of Ibsen's heroines.

"Sons o' Guns" will end its engagement at the Grand Opera house next Saturday night. Thus one of the "smash hits" of the theatrical year among the musical shows gets only four weeks in Chicago. The Grand will be closed for a week, pending the arrival of Ed Wynn in "Simple Simon" Dec. 7.

"Michael and Mary," the comedy by A. A. Milne which comes to the Harris theater next Monday night under the auspices of the Dramatic League of Chicago, was staged in New York last season by Charles L. Hopkins at his own theater, formerly called the Punch and Judy. Owning a New York theater and producing little delicacies of the drama there represents Mr. Hopkins' idea of an excellent hobby for a man of wealth.

"Michael and Mary," which has Madge Kennedy in the central rôle, was secured by the Dramatic league to replace Ivor Novello's "A Symphoney in Two Flats" on its schedule. The latter piece, for one reason or another, was found unsuitable for touring and Mr. Novello is preparing to try his luck again in New York with another play of his own writing called "The Truth Game."

Cornelia Otis Skinner will give a special matinée performance of her character sketches at the Selwyn theater next Friday. Her program will include the most popular items in her repertory, as follows: "Eve of Departure," "Spring Evening," "Picnic in Kentucky," "A Lady Explorer," "Homework," "In a Telephone Booth," "Motoring in the 90s," and "Sailing Time." Miss Skinner's gift for impersonation in self-written sketches places her close to Ruth Draper in this difficult field of entertainment.

Sophie Tucker's vogue in London continues to present amusing aspects. Recently she entertained at the Ice Carnival at Grosvenor house, and among those present were the prince of Wales, Prince George, the queen of Spain, and the Infanta Maria-Christina. The committee in charge of the carnival included the Spanish, French, and Italian ambassadors, the duchess of Norfolk, the duchess of Portland, the marchioness of Blandford, the Viscountess Castlerosse, and Lady Louise Mountbatten.

Ethel Barrymore's illness, which caused her to cancel two performances of "Scarlet Sister Mary" in Detroit last week, will not postpone her New York premiere, which is scheduled for this evening. Miss Barrymore was confident yesterday that she would be able to face the ordeal of a Broadway first night, and her physician seemed to agree with her.

Fay Bainter has returned to the cast of the New York company of "Lysistrata," replacing Dorothea Chard as Kalonika, acted here by Nydia Westman. She originated the title rôle in Philadelphia last spring, and also played it for a few performances in New York while Blanche Yurka was out of the cast. C. C.

'Give Somebody Work to Do on Thanksgiving'

Sally Joy Brown Offers Way to Celebrate.

The plea of Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE to help provide a little Thanksgiving cheer by supplying jobs to the unemployed, was answered yesterday. Miss Brown is helping the jobless by passing on offers of work to the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street.

Mrs. J., who lives in the 6900 block on Crandon avenue, called to say she would pay 50 cents an hour to some one who could serve a Thanksgiving dinner and help with the work after the dinner. She could use such a person both Thursday and Saturday.

Mrs. C., a neighbor, who lives in the 6800 block on Crandon avenue, asked that a man be sent to clean windows this morning in preparation for Thanksgiving. She said she would pay $4 for the job.

Still others responded to Sally's general suggestion to make room for as many employés as possible, in business and in homes. Two calls for upholsterers were received. Mrs. J. E., in the 1400 block on Berwyn avenue, said she would have her davenport and three chairs reupholstered. She had not thought of it before the present need of creating jobs developed, she said.

Mr. O., in the 6400 block of Lakewood avenue, asked for an upholsterer, and added that he would provide "good pay."

Over in the 600 block on Clyde avenue a mother of twin babies told Sally Joy Brown that she would like a woman to come in from 8:30 to 6 o'clock whose chief cares would be bathing the twins and taking them out for airings.

H. G., in the one hundred and eleventh block on South Michigan avenue, said that he could employ an electrician for small electrical jobs around the house.

The B. book shop on East Adams street thought of a job, the first of its kind Sally Joy Brown has received—a job for a boy, opening mail.

The M. cosmetic factory on West Ontario street asked for some one who could label bottles. An undertaker in the 3100 block on Ogden avenue said he would employ a man to tend the fire there at night. Other jobs offered were for a pressman; a man to deliver circulars at $18 a week; a presser in a cleaning and dyeing plant at $25 a week; temporary work for six typists in the 200 block on North Wells street, and a two day job for a typist at the M. construction company in the Builders' building.

A job for "an old man who has no one to care for him" was offered by Mrs. W., in the 2100 block on Jackson street. He could wash windows and help clean, she said, and perhaps she could give him room and board and a small salary throughout the winter.

Mrs. D. B. on East Delaware place invented a job which may give ideas to other women. She asked for a woman who could do plain sewing to come to her home and work—the pay to be 50 cents an hour. Women, get out all your mending and let some one else do it, Sally Joy Brown advises.

Bishop Sees Dangers to American Culture in City Dominance

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Rev. Edward D. Kohlstedt, secretary of the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, in his annual report submitted to the board today, says:

"No purely city civilization has yet survived in history. America is facing the identical problem that has taxed the ablest minds of all races in every civilization since the beginning of time.

"It is necessary to develop in America a national policy in which the trend toward urbanism will be balanced by a wholesome, secure, rural life, in which a sufficient number of our best people may be encouraged to carry on the important and primary tasks of building homes, rearing families, producing the food and raw materials, but above all, giving to our cities that quality of mankind without which no nation has yet survived.

Ishbel MacLeish Tells of Workshop in Colo. Springs

Miss Ishbel MacLeish, daughter of Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, was guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon given by the educational and philosophy department of the Chicago Woman's club. She told of Halfway house, the therapy workshop she started in Colorado Springs, and how lessons are given to invalids, and their finished work marketed. Mrs. Frederic A. Burton and Miss Henrietta McNary, director of the club's therapy workshop, also spoke.

A curative workshop recently established in the Northwestern University Medical school was discussed yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the occupational therapy committee of the Chicago Woman's club.

The workshop is the first of its kind to be established in a medical school which gives instruction in occupational therapy with university credit, according to Mrs. Frederic A. Burton, chairman of the committee.

Why Not Tell 'Em You Like 'Em? Asks the Modern Maiden

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The question of whether it is wise or unwise to let a man be aware of the full extent of your feelings for him is one that concerns a number of girls, with "A. D. F." speaking for some of them. She suggests that with all the advice freely handed out about keeping the man of one's heart guessing, one might be persuaded more did one not observe the success with which some girls claim their man on a policy dimetrically opposed.

Recently A. D. F. herself was confronted with the problem of whether or not to show jealousy when her beau paid attention to another girl. She must have looked unhappy—so why shouldn't she have told the boy she was unhappy over the incident?

"It makes me delighted to hear my young man say nice things to me. Why shouldn't I, in turn, tell him frankly that he means a lot to me?"

But A. D. F., despite her frankness, is beginning to have doubts. Maybe she should have kept him guessing a little longer. It's what the other girl is doing now. Perhaps that is why he is intrigued? Perhaps she called his hand a bit too early, etc. So figures A. D. F.

'Way back before fifty-fifty marriages were popularized, girls used to be told to keep men guessing. It probably yas just as silly advice then as it is today, and as much used. The girls who got married—and the records show that many of them did, in the old days—weren't married because they held a man off. They slipped encouragement, somehow.

It is the privilege of modern girls to be rather barefaced about their emotions. And some, indeed, enjoy the privilege to its fullest extent, even to carrying a man into marriage on the impetus of their frequently expressed emotion. I've seen men practically railroaded into marriage by the enthusiasm of a girl's feelings for them. And they lived to thank their lucky stars they drew such a prize.

On the other hand, I have seen girls who were afraid to show their feelings and who were abandoned to single blessedness.

On the whole, it is better to have loved and lost through not keeping them guessing than through silence. Anyway, in our modern day, it fits more into the picture.

When you want to serve something a little different to your luncheon or dinner guests and at the same time provide a delicious and healthful vegetable order artichokes, the globe or French variety. They will give the meal a note of added distinction.

Despite their justified reputation as vegetables for epicurean tastes, artichoke. are simple to prepare, and the youngest child can eat them in the most approved fashion. The most approved fashion, of course, is to eat them with the fingers.

Observe these simple rules if you are one of those who have held artichokes in awe and have kept away from them for fear of making a mistake in preparing them or a faux pas in eating them.

Remove the withered outer leaves and several layers as long as they feel hard. Allow one small or half a large one for each person. Quickly drop them in cold acidified water for at least five minutes [add 2 tsp. vinegar to each pint of water]. Before cooking drain and wash in fresh water. Arrange them compactly in a kettle, cover with boiling salted water [1 teaspoon salt to each quart water] and cook until the stems can be easily pierced with a fork, usually about 30 to 40 minutes. Some cooks add a tablespoon of lemon juice and a few slices of onion to the water.

They may be served either hot or cold with melted butter, tarta or Hollandaise sauce, mayonnaise, French or viniagrette dressing—whichever kind of dressing appeals to the palate. Place each artichoke on a plate with an individual serving of dressing.

As you finish with each leaf place it on a second plate provided for that purpose. After the larger leaves are removed a small cone of immature, light colored leaves is revealed. Although there is a minute portion of edible substance on these tiny leaves, it is the custom to remove with a spoon and discard this cone and the fuzzy center on which it rests. This is the choke. There is now revealed the heart of the artichoke, the most tender and delicious portion of the whole vegetable. The heart is eaten with a fork.

The artichoke is at its best in fall, winter and early spring, so its value as a fresh green food at this time of year when green foods are scarce is readily appreciated.

Artichokes are a good source of vitamins A, B, and C. They are rich in mineral salts, including iodine, and are nourising but not fattening. Artichokes are excellent in the diet of children. Partly because of the fascination of eating them, they are favorites with most children.

Hitting Is Often Merely an Escape Valve for Energy

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Your articles in THE TRIBUNE have always been such an inspiration to me and such a help in raising my baby that I am taking the liberty of writing about a problem I have which worries me a lot.

"I have an unusually bright little girl just past two and a half years. She has always been easy to manage by reasoning wth her and explaining. She has recently developed a habit of hitting other children of they cross her. Or sometimes she just looks at her best friends and then doubles her little fist and hits them on the head.

"I would certainly appreciate it if you would suggest some way to correct this. Several people have suggested using a little switch, but I cannot see that in training a child."

"My dear Mrs. M.: Your baby is going through the stage that almost all little children go through—the hitting stage. They are beginning to really feel strong at about that age, and what is the use of being able to hit hard if you have nothing to hit? They don't think of the fact that it hurts—their imagination isn't developed much in that direction.

"There are several approaches to a cure and I am glad you ignored the suggestion to use a switch. One way is to see that they have plenty of outdoor play—and also things to actually punch. We used to hold a pillow for the small children to punch—they are too young at that time for a punching bag.

"Punching the mattress is a good stunt, too. Hammering nails is a fine outlet, also. Go on this general principle of providing an escape for their newly found power. Some people, when they can't stop it by explaining try to make the child understand how it feels by giving him a little punch, telling him why they do it, but I have never tried that. Other parents and teachers, if he punches his playmates too much, make a child stay apart from the other children for a while. Of course, if one of them gives a hard punch back that helps his imagination a lot.

"You cannot stop the habit immediately. And sometimes mothers get the surprise of their lives by finding that a habit disappears of itself.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My little nephew, aged 3, was at his grandmother's home. When it was time to go home he didn't want to go so his mother asked him if he weren't her little boy any more. He said, "Yes, yours and granddad's." His uncle, sitting near by, asked, "Where do I come in?" Little Gordon answered, "Through the door."

J. W.

Little Mary, aged 4, after looking at her grandmother's wrinkled face, said, "Grandma your face is all mussed up. Why don't you iron it?"

She Gets English Accent to Help Her in Talkies

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Virginia Lee Corbin of the movies came home from London today with a nice new English accent. "When the talkies began to displace the silent films," she said, "I decided an English accent would be a great help." So she spent almost a year studying elocution and voice culture in England.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Returning Thanks.

I am a business man and my daughter answers my telephone calls when I am away on business. I happened to be gone one afternoon and my daughter, as usual, was in the office.

As soon as I was back at the office I brought about a conversation with another fellow having offices directly across the hall. He could see that I was peeved about something and asked me what the reason was. I told him that my daughter had received three calls and had got every one of them completely wrong. I also mentioned that I would have to hire a girl who could really answer calls.

Just at that moment my daughter walked toward me and said, "I have just come back from town and Mr. C—— answered the telephone while I was gone. Wasn't it nice of him?"

Mr. C—— and myself blushed, neither one of us knowing which was the most embarrassed. To this day that man has never answered another call in my office.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Will Be Grateful for Anything.

"I am expecting my fourth baby in December and I need a few things to take to the hospital with me—night gowns and a bathrobe. The children need clothing, too. The boy is 4 and the girls are 2 years and 10 months. We need blankets and baby clothes. My husband was ill for several months last year and could not work. Now he has tramped the streets for weeks trying to find something but is unable to do so. I shall be most grateful for anything you can do for me.

No work, cold weather and the prospects of a new baby have increased the worries in this family. Clothing and blankets would help to make them more comfortable, at least. Can you supply these?

Boston Society Woman Soon to Visit Chicago

BY THALIA

Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Shaw McKean of Boston are to arrive tomorrow to be the house guests of Frederic C. Bartlett of 1201 Astor street for the remainder of the week.

Professionally, Mrs. McKean is Marjorie Sargent, whose exhibition of modern paintings is to be opened at the Arts club on Friday. Their visit is timed so that they may be present at the opening tea.

A crowded program of dinners, luncheons, and teas has been planned for their visit. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter is to give a tea for them tomorrow afternoon, and in the evening Mrs. Howard Linn is giving a dinner. Mr. Bartlett is to be host at luncheon on Thanksgiving day, dinner on Friday evening, and a luncheon at the Casino on Saturday.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is to give a dinner on Saturday evening, and on Sunday there will be a luncheon for them at Onwentsia, and in the evening Mrs. C. Morse Ely is having a dinner party.

The visitors have an unusually interesting background. Both of them are painters and modernists, paradoxically, as they are descended from the finest of New England bluestocking forebears. Mr. McKean is a polo player. They have a town residence in Boston, a summer place at Pride's Crossing near Mr. Bartlett's summer pied a terre, and another retreat in Vermont whence they go by plane when so inclined, and where Mrs. McKean does much of her painting.

The annual bazaar of the Woman's exchange is to be held today in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel.

One of the liveliest of the post-football parties on Saturday afternoon after the Northwestern-Notre Dame football game was the large one that Vincent Bendix gave at the former Potter Palmer house, now known as the Bendix galleries. There were about 200 guests, among them Gov. Phillip La Follette of Wisconsin, Senator Robert La Follette, their respective wives, and Knute Rockne. There was dancing, and a buffet supper, and the guests were conducted through the mansion. The art gallery has been hung with gigantic tapestries completely covering the walls.

The Chicago Association of West Pointers is to have a dinner-dance at the Palmer house following the Army-Notre Dame football game on Saturday. Col. Horatio B. Hackett is president of the association, and special guests will include Gen. W. A. Smith, superintendent of West Point; Maj. Ralph Sasse, coach of the Army team, and the cadets comprising the football squad. Rufus W. Putnam and James C. Short are in charge of the arrangements.

The delights of a birthday party of her very own were Chouchou Browne's yesterday afternoon. Chouchou was christened Elizabeth after her mother, Mrs. Aldis J. Browne, but she is never called anything but the diminutive bestowed on her by a French nurse. Chouchou was 4 years old, and she had a group of her most cherished playmates for the party which took place at the Browne residence at 73 East Cedar street.

Lieut. Stewart Warren Towle Jr. is due to arrive today from Honolulu to join Mrs. Towle, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McNear of 1220 North State street, for the past several weeks. The McNears are to give an Hawaiian party for their son-in-law and daughter tomorrow evening in the polo room at the Ambassador East. The women guests have been requested to wear some variety of hula skirts and the men are to appear in white trousers with red sashes. There will be an Hawaiian string orchestra and other South sea atmospheric touches to the arrangements. Mrs. McNair and her daughter returned a few days ago from the east, where they had a round of shopping, parties, and going to football games.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III of 1511 North Dearborn parkway are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Dorothea Bingham Lindsay, on Saturday at St. Luke's hospital.

Mrs. Charles Counselman has returned to Chicago after a lengthy absence, and is again domiciled at the Drake hotel. She departed last spring to motor in the west with her nephew, Lodge Melcham, and more recently has been with her sister, Mrs. Meachem, at the latter's summer place in Connecticut.

To Wed Thanksgiving Day

[Matzene Photo.]

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Virginia Reeves, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Ira L. Reeves of 6802 Merrill avenue, to Rudolph Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Robinson of 1120 Lake Shore drive, will take place on Thanksgiving day at the residence of the bride's parents. The bride and groom will reside at 1100 North Dearborn street.

SOCIETY AT THE OPERA

Among the most interested listeners at last night's performance of "Lohengrin" were Princess Alexandra Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein and her husband, Capt. Arnold Ruemenn, who attended the opera as guests of Mrs. Joseph B. Long. The princess wore a white gown with a narrow black sash at the waistline. Her hostess was in white taffeta with crystal bead trimming. Also in Mrs. Long's party were Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, the latter in babana colored moiré; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Laing, in white chiffon, and Robert Mooney.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick were hosts to Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Russell Tyson, and John Cromelin. Mrs. McCormick wore pale green chiffon, Mrs. Crane, cream colored lace, and Mrs. Hasler, white chiffon. Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson's guests were Mrs. Rensselaer W. Cox, Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, Miss Jane E. Cox, John William Hutchinson, and Vincent M. Miles.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Walker, Miss Sarah Hinde, Arthur Wheeler, and Henry Channon were with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde. Mr. and Mrs. Ballard More, Mrs. Henry Luce of New York, and Thomas Seyster were guests of the Frederick T. Haskells. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull had as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell.

Miss Anita Blair was hostess to Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Andrews, Dr. Knute Reuter-Skiold, and Roman de Majewski. Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Huntly Gilbert, Ove Vett, and Edwin D. Krenn were guests of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Ryerson Jr. had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Salisbury.

Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Peck and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ettelson's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lee J. Strauss, Mrs. E. B. Woolf, and Mrs. Leon Glaser.

Paris Accepts Dental Clinic Offered by George Eastman

PARIS, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The municipal council today voted to accept the offer of George Eastman, Rochester, N. Y., camera manufacturer, to give the city $1,000,000 for the establishment of a dental clinic for children.

Bishop Stewart to Talk.

Practical application of the ten commandments to business will be emphasized tomorrow by the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, D. D., bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago and rector of St. Luke's church, Evanston, when he speaks before the Chicago association of commerce at the midweek luncheon at the Hotel La Salle.

Princess Here with Paintings; Work Praised

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

This is the first time in a number of years that we have been invited to see what royalty can do in art. The princess of Schleswig-Holstein has in the O'Brien art galleries an exhibition of paintings which opened yesterday and will continue for two weeks.

First, we may say that these pictures stand on their own feet; they do not need the title of princess to bring them into notice. If the most unimportant name in the world were attached to them they would remain—beautiful, colorful, virile, enthusiastic paintings.

There is a type of painting, the parlor painting, which sets one's teeth on edge, the tight little, frightened little, self-conscious and primly academically correct painting, which only too often is the issue of persons of consequence. These paintings are not that. Alexandra Victoria paints with a free hand and a broad stroke. She is herself in every canvas. She has a generous outlook on life and it is reflected in her work. She loves beauty and color and movement. All these are in her work. She loves new places and new faces; she loves the unsubstantial, the inconsequential, the Bohemianism of the unconventional. She abominates the stricture of lessons, of training. She has painted according to her own sweet will since her childhood.

That this is sometimes the way to become a painter, her pictures prove. They have the emphasis and the force of work derived from more formal settings. The princess, herself young, charming, debonair, has succeeded in bringing her talent to genuine fruition.

The exhibit, aside from the fact that it is royally born, is eminently worth while. It should be worth while if love for one's work and energy in getting it about mean anything. Princess Alexandra Victoria is here after a motor trip from New York in which she drove the car and carried the paintings behind in a trailer. The car and trailer are the constant traveling standbys of the princess and her husband, who, when on the road, in the evening transfer the paintings from the trailer and sleep in it themselves. When royalty goes vagabonding it goes it the whole way!

New York Show Opens.

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The National Academy of Design has departed from a tradition of a hundred years for its special winter exhibition which opened tonight to hang up a "Welcome—No Charge" sign for the public.

This Costume Takes Years Off Your Age

BY BETTINA BIDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Of course if you have a skin like a magnolia petal you can go in for the white costumes that continue to be so popular in Paris and keep on dazzling 'em; but if the years have begun to cast their shadow, however faintly, you will do well to relieve the somber hue with lighter touches.

Germaine Lecomte is one of the Paris couturières who realize that a light color next the face takes years off a woman's age. She cleverly puts yokes of pale pink, pale blue, or white next an almost all her dead black or off-black frocks, whether they are designed for sports, morning, or afternoon wear.

She does this rejuvenating trick in the costume sketched above. It's made of off-black negre wool flecked with pale pink ostrich, which makes the softest, prettiest fabric you can imagine. The skirt has two circular panels, one at each side of the front, to give it fullness.

The big length jacket is trimmed with a shaped band of off-black brown caracul, and here let me tell you that fur is the one great exception to the light next to the face rule; there is something about the depth and quality of dark fur that makes its texture particularly flattering. The roomy little scarf collar is cut in one with the band trimming at the top and one end pulled through a slot in the other fastens it in a rabbity bow.

The tunic blouse of pink and brown jersey has a little incrusted yoke collar of pale pink duvetine edged with a tiny pinked frill of the same. It slips over the head and three buttons hold the yoke snug in back. Its cut-away hem is outlined by a band of the same fabric as the costume. The brown antelope belt in worn with both skirt and jacket.

Finds Modern Girls Guarded in What They Tell to Mothers

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The modern girl tells her mother all about her ideas on dress and personal achievement, but rarely confides questions of personal failure, sex, and religion, says Dr. Eugenie A. Leonard.

Dr. Leonard, dean of women at Syracuse university, has completed a study of 450 girls from 12 to 19 years old. The results were made public at teachers college, Columbia university.

The girls almost without exception told their mothers of their activities in the Junior Red Cross but only a few disclosed their serious talks with friends or their dreams of being good mothers, or their love affairs.

Mothers who cannot reach a wholesome confidential relationship with their adolescent daughters are probably "too busy" or addicted to emotional outbreaks such as nagging, yelling, and crying, says Dr. Leonard.

Mme. Curie's Aid Urges Concentrating Radium

Concentration of radium in central service institutions was urged yesterday by Mme. Nadine Zavadskaia, who is an assistant to Mme. Curie at the Curie institute in Paris. Mme. Zavadskaia talked after a luncheon in the Marshall Feld tea room.

Widespread distribution of radium, she said, is not as beneficial as concentration. With central service hospitals or clinics more cancer sufferers could be aided, she added. Furthermore, according to her, radium could be more easily conserved. She also told of the importance of specialists in diagnosing and treating cancer cases, pointing out that in the radium field X-ray, radium, surgery, and physicist specialists aid in diagnoses.

Those who heard Mme. Zavadskaia's talk included: Dr. Petra M. Dahl, president of the Medical Women's club of Chicago.

New Industrial Day, Shorter Hours Near, Dr. Mann Says

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Louis Mann of Chicago tonight predicted a second industrial revolution, based on shortened working hours and greater use of leisure. Speaking at the last of the Women's Church union lectures here, he said:

"Our economic depression today is not like those we have had before. We have come to a new term and we are about to inaugurate a second industrial revolution. We are about to have a shorter week and a shorter day.

"Many capitalists are afraid to face the light of a new day—but it is here, and here to stay, which means that soundly minded people must grapple with the problem of leisure, because leisure will come. For this we need art, music, and drama, which is unlike that we have today."

"The racketeer rules the country only because the 'good' people are consumed by fear," he said.

OXFORD TO BESTOW HIGHEST HONOR ON J. P. MORGAN TODAY

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—J. P. Morgan Jr. will receive at Oxford tomorrow the honorary degree of doctor of civil laws, which is the highest honor the university can bestow. Public attention to the ceremony will be drawn in an editorial in the London Times, which recalls that Morgan recently laid the nation "under a special debt of gratitude" by enabling the British museum to obtain both the Bedford Book of Hours and the Luttrell Psalter.

"Other Americans have taken treasures away, but Mr. Morgan has given," the Times will say, applauding the university for honoring "a famous father's more famous son."

"Morgan has indeed long been a firm friend of Britain," it adds. "And never was the stanchness of his friendship better shown than when British reputation was put to a test in the early months of the world war and was being besmirched by those of his own country whose origin and interests made them naturally zealous to damage it. Credit meant much in those days, but help to Britain from the house of Morgan was unwavering and invaluable."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover will have in their Thanksgiving party their son, Allan Hoover, who will come from Cambridge, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Rickard of New York.

The secretary of commerce, Robert P. Lamont, and his daughter, Miss Gertrude Lamont, will spend Thanksgiving in New York with the former's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Belknap. Mrs. Lamont will sail that day on the George Washington for home after spending several months in Europe.

Mrs. B. H. Warner entertained at luncheon today in her home in honor of Mrs. Albert J. McCartney, wife of the new pastor of the Church of the Covenant here, who formerly was pastor of the Kenwood Evangelical church in Chicago, where they were prominent in church circles. Among the guests were Mrs. Charles Wood, wife of the pastor emeritus of the Church of the Covenant; Mrs. James R. Mann of Chicago, Mrs. Victor Kauffmann, Mrs. James M. Green, and Mrs. George Robbins.

Europe Royalty Gathers for Haakon's 25th Anniversary

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Representatives of the royal houses of Europe were gathering here today for the celebration tomorrow of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the ascension of King Haakon to the throne of Norway. One train this morning brought Prince George of England, King Christian and Queen Alexandrine of Denmark, and other members of the Danish royal family. The guests stepped from the train into a decorated station, to be met by King Haakon and Queen Maud. Then they drove to the palace.

FEMININE HYGIENE
Safer, Simpler

PARIOGEN TABLETS, the new feminine antiseptic, require no water or other accessories. Only the tablet is needed.

Pariogen Tablets, one of the most powerful antiseptics known to science, are non-poisonous, non-caustic, and will not harm the most delicate tissues.

Modern women no longer need dabble with dangerous poisons or suffer the inconvenience of preparing solutions. Pariogen Tablets make feminine hygiene as simple as washing one's hands. One dollar the tube of twelve at all drug stores.

You Can't Sleep Your Excessive Poundage Away

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

There is a woman in our midst whose chief topic of conversation is the time-worn one of reducing. Like most of those voluble on this subject, her reducing is confined to chatter with very little action. She does show a little energy for a day or two after some one has looked her over and suggested, "You're taking on, dear." After one of these "insults" she did sign up for a course at a reducing parlor, paid down ten dollars, took one treatment and went home and slept off the effects.

Now, oversleeping, along with her other indulgences, is piling up pounds for her. And this is a point not often spoken of. Perhaps, because so many of us are busy women with time for little more than our eight or nine regular hours a night, we forget that there may be another half that lies abed long, long hours.

It is a well known characteristic of those who overeat to want to lie around a good deal. There's a perfectly natural explanation for this weakness. With the system overcharged with starches, sugars and fats and the colonic lethargy peculiar to this type of obesity, the impetus to be up and doing is killed in such a one. Consequently we find her draped on the divan or shamelessly stretched out on or in the bed at the most surprising hours of the day.

Now, if one is a fat victim, too much sleep is exactly what is not wanted. Eight, or nine hours at the most, is sufficient for any healthy person. The woman in mind as the champion sleeper and rester retires about ten every evening. She's all tired out by that time.

At nine thirty in the a. m. her maid is just removing the breakfast tray from her bed. She waddles around all morning inactively and after lunch feels the urge to stretch out again for a nap.

It isn't tiredness. It's simply the homely fact that a mental and physical lethargy possesses the person who gives herself over to too protracted hours of ease. An intestinal toxemia, of course, is present in the lazy bodies. If weight is to be taken off there should be no daytime napping. That period should be given over to a good stiff walk. Early morning rising is required, with the pedal extremities put into action of a snappy order. You can't sleep fat off. You have to work it off.

sniffle / snuffle / sneeze/ (watch out)

Don't trifle with colds. At the first sniffle put Mistol up your nose and gargle a little—and you'll get immediate relief. Like a tender massage Mistol enfolds the sore membranes and the raw surface relaxes in comfort. Soon the painful scratchy feeling is gone, and you get a cool, velvety sensation as Mistol penetrates the sorest recesses. Get a bottle at your druggist's.
